Adaptive Seeds
Pacific Northwest grown, open pollinated, and organic seed.

CAULIFLOWER

Brassica oleracea. 200 days. Overwintering cauliflower is one of the best kept secrets of the plant world. So tasty & productive, to comes on right when it’s needed during the hunger gap. Light-white heads with sweet nutty flavor. Sow in summer for spring harvest from April through May.

Lot: 01 Germ: 95% Packed for 2019

www.adaptiveseeds.com

Code: Caul3

Adaptive Seeds
Pacific Northwest grown, open pollinated, and organic seed.

CAULIFLOWER

Brassica oleracea. 200 days. Overwintering purple cauliflower is another great crop for the hunger gap of late spring. Sown in July, it produces heads the following Feb-March. Delicious & beautiful. Hardy to zone 7, this extreme selection (5% survivors) made it through lows of 2°F in December of 2013.

Lot: 01 Germ: 92% Packed for 2019

www.adaptiveseeds.com

Code: Caul4