Day In The Life
of a Cherry Hill East Agent: Seth Breggar

7:00 AM - Wake up call from the top agent. Mom
7:30 AM - Quick bowl of cereal before darting out for the secret mission
8:00 AM - Stealthily enter into homeroom for some intense paperwork
9:45 AM - Quick snooze for rejuvenation
12:00 PM - A delicious, gourmet cafeteria lunch
2:30 PM - Schools out but the missions continue
4:00 PM - Yearning to leave AO22, the secret headquarters
... until 10:00 PM - Nap, dinner, nap, procrastination
12:00 AM - Printing the homework and hitting the sheets... maybe?

Where students lurk...
When 2:30 strikes

If you listen closely, you can hear it... the clacking of typing keys, the whispering of advice, the recitation of a poem. Amidst the clamor of the echoing hallways, it can be heard long after the crowds are gone, and the dust has resettled onto the floor. In the most remote areas of the school, diligent students, with a passion for their hobbies, can be heard working hard on improving their club, society, or organization.

While a majority of clubs gather in the hallways, many are hidden within the many niches of the school. A cursory walk-through of the halls doesn't always accurately portray the school's dedicated members hidden within East's many "Secret Headquarters." Only a true investigation encompasses the range of diversity and individuality fostered by the clubs that are hidden within the building.

Take, for example, EASTSIDE, which has approximately 25 members on the editorial and managing board. Their work in producing a quality monthly paper is reflected in the secret hideout of F087 which is bustling nonstop after and before school five days a week, as well as on the weekends. Across campus, within the academic ambience of the library, the qualified mentors of Cum Laude help to change the lives of students in need of help. In the corners of the library, knowledge is passed by word of mouth, as calculus is debunked and world history conquered.

And even in the lower bowels of the building in the auxiliary gym, tenacious track and field athletes can be heard, thumping shot-puts and javelins at the wall, continuing practice, despite inhospitable weather. The pulse of the athletic world is felt within the hideouts of Dave Callan's training room and the school-spirited locker rooms.

"The students at East really care about the activities they are involved in. As Editor-in-Chief of EASTSIDE, I see how students will come in on weekends and sacrifice personal time just because they are passionate about what they do." -- Emily Coben ('07)

But the commitment doesn't stop there. Even as late as 11 o'clock at night can stage crew be heard, creeping across the blackness of the stage to set a scene for the upcoming play or musical. Their tireless efforts endure past the after-school hours and into the night; as the curtain rises for the first performance, the beauty of their work is displayed.

East's "Secret Hideouts" are more than refuges for enthusiasts but are the underground layers that yield success and creativity. The Mission: Individuality. The Result: Creativity shaken not stirred.

COUGARS! Each school year, one week is set aside to celebrate the school, demonstrate school pride, and have different grades participate in eventful festivities. This week, formally known as Spirit Week, allows students to engage in healthy competition and come up with strategies in order to secure the big win.

The 2006 Spirit Week, which took place in late November, was no disappointment. Each grade represented a different grocery store aisle, making each grade clearly stand out. The seniors chose the Beauty and Cosmetic Aisle, the juniors chose the Pharmacy and Health Food Aisle, the sophomores chose the Check-out Aisle, and the freshmen chose the Candy Aisle. First, the school days were filled with creatively dressed students involved in heated lunchroom activities. An intense milk drinking competition always helped make the average cafeteria setting a tad more exciting. Out of school, students from each grade came to compete in activities such as volleyball, a tough sport to master. In addition, the Spirit Week Pep Rally and the Spirit Week Dance helped contribute to the overall excitement in the air. In particular, many students joined to gather and watch the freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors showcase their own dance and ski. The students loved to watch their peers perform and hoped that their grade would be victorious. Overall, Spirit Week was less about the activities and events and was more about grades coming together to bond and appreciate the precious moments made at Cherry Hill East.

In the end, the seniors were the overall winners of Spirit Week earning the most cumulative points. The 2007 graduating class can feel proud since when they leave the school, they leave as champions. Go East!

As a 007 Agent, your mission this year has been to discover yourself and redefine individuality. It has not been easy, but you have made it all four years and with many changes along the way. And for any great secret agent, there have been many gadgets useful to you, brand new, right off the market. Although there were many developments over the past year, here are a few which are indispensable:

TI-84 Four Your Eyes Only
Texas Instruments 84 Calculator

Let's get real. It's a calculator, but it does more than just that. Most have chemistry, physics, and general science tools which can take you from 001 to 007, just like that. Without these tools, you'd be lost in a world of math, without an addition sign or pie to help you out. This high-tech gadget, small enough to fit in your pocket, has a bigger impact than you would suspect. Just take a look around your math room, and see how many other secret agents own one, as an essential part of their utility tool belt.

Music: Shuffled not Stirred
New Remastered iPod Nano

Even James Bond needs a little inspirational music sometimes. The iPod Nano took storm at East for that very reason; however, this year, the new remastered version contains five new colors, can hold up to 2,000 songs, and even has 24 hours battery life. If only we could go 24 hours without recharging! This top-secret product can rarely be seen; the ear buds are the only evidence.
Mac Daddy: Great with the Ladies Apple MacBook

Move over PC, Mac is taking the lead with its sleek design and amazing multimedia capabilities. Many top agents at East have invested in the hottest computer on the market for on-the-go work or as a virtual storage cabinet for their favorite movies and music. Fully equipped, no agent can go wrong with a Mac for a side-kick.

Hands On Your Life Palm TX Handheld

For all of you who don’t have enough time to go to the time-management meeting, the PDA is a life saver or, in fact, your life. Many students have made the conversion, in this technological day and age, to switch from the lo-tech red planner to the high-tech palm pilot. With wireless internet, camera, planner, and video player all in one, the benefits are clear. Basically, it gives students a way to take a hold of their lives.

Caution: Sharp Objects Motorola Razr Cell Phone

Whether you are calling for backup or just a ride home, the Razr, by far, has been the most popular cell phone at East. In a multitude of different colors, including pink, black, silver, and even now gold, the Razr’s fashion surely does not surpass its features. From the newest multimedia capabilities, including videos and music, to its optional GPS feature, this phone is not one to mess with. Not to mention that it weighs a mere 3.49 oz. and is less than two inches thin.

Play Another Day PlayStation 3

Whether you are a gaming pro, or you have played only once, Sony has revolutionized the video game industry. From the Playstation 1, created in 1995, comes the evolved PS3 with life-like game play and more capabilities than a normal DVD Player and game system combined. For many at East, the PS3 has been a great point of anticipation with students waiting on 12 hour lines over night, just to get their name on a waiting list for the system. Without a doubt, they live to play another day.
"At times, senior year can be very stressful, but despite all the schoolwork and pressure, senior year is the culmination of our career at East—we've worked hard so we can enjoy ourselves."

1. Coffee – Ever find yourself staring at the clock at 1 AM wondering why you had not started your homework sooner? So have we. Any Cherry Hill East student knows a quick Wawa or Starbucks coffee can do the trick. Coffee helps every student stay alert and ensures that no student wakes up in the morning wondering how they fell asleep at the computer desk.

2. Sparknotes – Every good student knows that it is vital to read the original text. But when the essays, projects, and miscellaneous worksheets are piling up, Sparknotes is always there to lend a hand. Whether you need a quick plot summary or a complete review, Sparknotes always gives you the most concise, clear writing.

3. Google – It has been twenty minutes and you just cannot figure out how to answer #3 on the biology worksheet. The books do not help, the notes do not help, and the worksheets do not help. Where do you turn? Google, the most used search engine today, can provide you with the answer. One quick keyword and the information is at your fingertips.

4. Alarm Clock – Many Cherry Hill East students find themselves going to bed just about the same time the sun begins to rise. They finally enter their deep sleep and waking up seems nearly impossible. Only with the help of the loud ringing noise from the alarm clock do these students rise from their zombie state and enter the doors of high school.

5. Food – You have been sitting through classes all morning and the stomach growls do not seem to disappear. You think about the cafeteria food, the delicious options, and of course, satisfying those hunger pangs. Whether you choose a scrumptious wrap or a nice salad, Cherry Hill East always provides great options for even the pickiest appetites.

6. Friends – The hours of homework always seem to provide even the most carefree student with a little bit of stress. Students need time to relax and need people who can help them forget about grades and classes for just a brief moment. Every Cherry Hill East student knows that a good friend can make even the worst situation better and can make even the most seemingly mundane situation fun.

HARD AT WORK
No,
This is not a name some yearbook editor came up with.
Our academic home really is titled “Elite”. In the September issue of “Philadelphia Magazine,” Cherry Hill East was ranked #25 on “The Elite 40 Top High Schools”. East competed and beat some of the top private schools in the whole 8 county Philadelphia. So what does this say about our school and about us?

Um... that we ROCK.

As students, we know what it takes to succeed at East: hard work, perseverance and a cup of coffee.

“Scary” East
We know how to play dress-up.

Halloween is not just another silly holiday for 12 year olds. It’s proof that America is the insane country we believe it to be. One would be even more convinced after one walked through Cherry Hill East on Halloween Day. Not only do we have ghosts, monsters, and dead people visiting us, we also sponsor the visits of the Sesame Street crew, Bart Simpson, Domino’s Fudge-ums! People give out “FREE HUGS” and Clark Kent suddenly changes into SuperMan during Mr. Berryann’s Physics 1H class.

No, East is not a public asylum for the Identity Confused.

Books, Pens, and Notes...OH, MY!

Students preview notes for a class together in the cafeteria before school even begins.

Those are the ingredients to a successful student life at Cherry Hill East, one of the most challenging public schools in the state. However, no matter how great the textbooks are and how many pencils are present, absolutely no work could be accomplished without the main component of the recipe: the students' hard work. Even with our busy schedules with rehearsals, meetings, volunteer activities, and just having fun, we understand what it takes to manage our time effectively.

As children of the ipod generation, we're constantly exposed to entertainment at the palm of our hands. Students at East work diligently to make the most of their education. However, there are those tempting times when one just wants to put one's head on the desk and take a 6th period nap. Or when one just wants to daze during class and think about how peanut butter and salsa would taste together. Whatever it may be, all students have the uncontrollable tendency to... well... slack off.

All we can do is relax, throw our head back, and embrace our undeveloped cerebral cortices in our sweet study hall dreams.

Lucky for us at East, we have classes where you learn with hands-on experience. From cooking class, woodshop, drafting, to 3D Art class, East offers a wide range of electives to accommodate everybody's interests.

8:00 A.M. to 8:10 A.M. = Homeroom

Most of us do our last minute homework or catch a little nap before we head off to our rigorous classes.

However, for some students, homeroom is the busiest 10 minutes of their day. "Special Homerooms" are where various clubs at Cherry Hill East meet in the morning. Groups such as: Eastside, Jazz Band, Belles of East, Casual Harmony, Student Government, and Eldolon, East's Yearbook Committee.

Whether these students are discussing the details of an upcoming dance, rehearsing a song for a concert, or diligently working to beat a deadline, they are all trying their best to make East a little bit more interesting.

The library was the original search engine for students and their research projects. Although Google stole one aspect of the Cherry Hill East Library, the beloved room is still more than dusty books and remains a haven for those bibliophiles. With the excellent computer system in place, our library is perfect to surf the Internet safely. The book club sometimes holds meetings in the library after school along with faculty meetings. It is also the place where the Cum Laude Society holds tutoring for those students who need them. Those who believe our library is outdated is extremely wrong. Go see for yourself!

Two students read a magazine together during their free period. The comfy chairs and quiet atmosphere in the library is a good way to relax during their busy day.

Mr. Haines and his students get together for extra review on a history assignment. Teachers and students often arrange meetings in the library during the day or after school.
Some classes are often held in the library annex. The desks are set up on a blocked off side of the room so the students can learn in a quiet area.

David Goldberg and his can of Brisk is tutoring a student after school in the library. The Cum Laude Society offer tutoring every day after school.

Art students at Cherry Hill East redecorated the bookshelves in the library. The beautiful student painted murals are a sight to see. These paintings make up another reason of why our library is unique.
Ethan Goldstein ('08) and Christopher Walton ('07) are playing the xylophone together in the band room.

Cougars are swift and are used to chasing after their prey. Like the mascot, the students lead adventurous lives at Cherry Hill East. The classes have exciting spontaneous lessons that keep us guessing. The teachers help them solve crimes and fight the evil Collegeboarders. No day is dull, and every day brings a new adventure! ... Right?

Too much excitement is not good for the blood pressure, so in order to keep themselves healthy, the students at East try to have a routine that is practiced daily. From first period to eigth period, we feed our brains, take our tests, and do our labs. It's just what we do everyday.

Karen G. ('07), Hayley C. ('08), Jonathan B. ('07), Shanny S. ('08), and Nicole K. ('08) are looking at the daily announcements that are placed on top of the piano.

In this computer graphics class, every student uses the computers to complete their assignments everyday.

These senior girls are in the front of the room with a presentation on the feminist approach to Hamlet in 2nd period English 4AP. Teachers often allow students to take charge of the classroom discussions.
The four years you spend in highschool will be embedded in your memory forever. Every class that you take at East will have its own unique story. Even some of the projects and the assignments you did in those classes will be remembered. You and your friends will never forget the concerts, charity events, and special activities that you helped organize at East. Whatever it may be, you will always have the name of your Alma Mater wherever you go later in life. You will always be a highschooler at heart.

There's no "I" in team.
JUST KIDDING!

There is an "E" in East though! Knowing how to work in groups is a skill that is necessary to succeed at East. With the wide ranging diversity at Cherry Hill East, one must know how to interact and cooperate with others during labs, projects, and class presentations. East teaches us how to survive in a dog-eat-dog world by making us learn good sportsmanship. The truth is, we're not going to remember anything we learned. All we'll remember are the people we worked with and the teachers that taught us.

The Principles of Learning

The students at Cherry Hill East probably never even glanced at "The Principles of Learning" poster hanging in the C-wing stairwell. Even though we hardly recognize these principles, we use them in our daily lives every single day in our classes. Organizing our notebooks, Believing in our opinions during class discussion, and even managing our time between homework and extracurricular activities are all part of the Principles of Learning at East.

East students go over and beyond to be a happy and successful high school students. One can safely say that they will continue to do so for the rest of their lives.

JEFF ADLER
A short phrase that sums up your essence?
"Why do now what you can do Sunday night..."

Your favorite high school memory?
Working with my US History class to force Mr. Rosenberg to take us to Washington DC after the AP test.

Your favorite midnight snack?
Oreos, chewy chips-ahoy, and Dr. Pepper. Keeps me up way past when I'm done working.

One thing you cannot be without?
Facebook. I'm addicted.

ZHAO (JOE) CHEN
One thing you can't live without?
Definitely my calculator. It's been in my pocket at school for four years, and I don't plan on changing that. You never know when you have to do an emergency integral.

A cartoon character you think you are most like?
Dilbert. He's wacky and smart in his own right, slightly neurotic, and pleasantly cynical. I've been a dedicated Dilbert reader for a long time.

Your favorite high school memory?
Listening to Mr. Semus and his wild and crazy stories. WE LOVE YOU MR. SEMUS!

JESSE COHEN
The best gift you've ever gotten?
Bunny, my stuffed animal that I've had since I was in the crib. I don't remember receiving it, but it has definitely been the longest lasting gift that I've gotten.

One thing you can't live without? My jeans. It's a little known fact, but I only have one pair and I wear them all the time.

Your favorite high school memory?
Probably performing in the Spirit Week dance junior year. I came out in the beginning dressed in tights and I danced around with a gymnastics ribbon in a reenactment from the movie "Old School."
SANDRA LEVY
A short phrase that sums up your essence?
"Oxygen, Carbon, Hydrogen, Nitrogen, Calcium, Phosphorus..."
The best gift you've ever received?
A hug. I mean, really, what is better than a hug?
Who is your role model?
My sister.
Your favorite midnight snack?
Chocolate milk and oatmeal chocolate-chip cookies from Great Harvest. They're delicious!

CATHY LIN
One thing you cannot be without?
I cannot be without my TV. I watch more TV than anyone I know, and probably more than anyone I will ever know.

Who is your role model?
I don't really have a role model because I have always wanted to create my own path and try something that no one has ever done before.

The best gift you've ever received?
The best gift I've ever received is my electric guitar because it let me have so much more fun with my music. I love its distinct twang and metallic red color.

MENGHAN FU
A goal you hope to accomplish for the future?
I'd like to get my master's belt in Tang Soo Do karate, and remember to stop and smell the flowers.

A cartoon character you think you are most like?
Snoopy. Like Snoopy, I like to dance, daydream, and begin to write many books which I'll never finish.

Your favorite high school memory?
Eating cookies in the band room while the entire band mobbed the poor boy holding the cookies.

The best gift you've ever received?
A smoothie maker- all the smoothies whenever I want!
So, How has Cherry Hill grown in the last 10 years?

We've become more focused on student achievement and building a sense of community. I think all of that is based upon the notion that we have a more diverse community, and unlike former times, we need to remind people in the present that community is important, and we need to establish connections between students and teachers.

What motivates you to be a principal?

My motivation is to lead a school in which there are lots of opportunities and a substantial academic program for all students. I welcome the challenge of facing the day. It is a great opportunity, but at heart, I am a teacher, and all teachers should have some opportunity like this in their career. The focus of this job is the classroom, and there are great deals of opportunity you have to help people to make things happen, to intervene when necessary, and to present the school well.

What do you think are Cherry Hill East's greatest accomplishments so far?

We've crafted a school that recognizes diversity, which is a great accomplishment. Also, there have been a number of community service efforts, such as the Habitat For Humanity volunteers, and our work in the nursing homes. East has always had a reputation for being a competitive high school, but we've opened up and celebrated activities that are beyond academics, and I think that makes us a more comprehensive high school.

Lastly, How do you think Cherry Hill East will grow in the next 10 years?

Well, if history is to inform us, I think our challenge is going to be maintaining an already well-established tradition of excellence. If you go back to 1968 and look at the first graduating classes and the tradition of excellence and service they have provided, our challenge is to maintain already what we have. That may sound like an easy thing but actually trying to go even beyond of where we are will be difficult. In the next 10 years, I hope that the sense of community service would grow and that we continue to maintain a sense of tolerance and understanding for all those who come here. Although East is a large place, I hope students will feel comfortable here and that we've made it small in the sense of community, purpose, and pride.

Fresh Times for the Freshmen

The word "fresh" certainly applies to most things that freshmen encounter—except for their attitudes, we hope. Starting at a "fresh," new school, freshmen take "fresh" classes, form "fresh" friendships with "fresh" faces, and develop a "fresh," new perspectives. With all of these "fresh" additions to their lives, ninth-graders undergo an experience that is notoriously both stressful and rewarding. For one, the Class of 2010 faced the challenge of learning to adapt to the rigors of high school. But freshman year doesn’t go without its benefits. Many freshmen appreciate the increased freedom that they earn with the passage from eighth to ninth grade. "We’re given a lot more privileges in high school," said Jonathan Swirsky (10). "I like that teachers don’t ‘baby’ us as much as they did in middle school." With newfound freedom and increased workload, freshman year is a time of change and development.

The Wise Fools

If you’ve been brushing up on your Greek word derivatives (and if you haven’t, Orgel would be disappointed!), you know that “sophos” means “wise” and “moros” means “fool” in Greek. Put it together and you’ve got “sophomore.” That’s you, Class of 2009, class of the “wise fools.” Yes, it’s an oxymoron, but it accurately describes the group of ex-freshmen. Many sophomores think that with a year of high school under their belts, they are ready to handle whatever curveballs that their second year of high school may throw them. But with more tests, more homework, less forgiving teachers and imminent threat of SAT’s the following year, sophomore year can be a bit more of a challenge than many sophomores anticipate. That’s not to say that sophomore year does not come without its rewards. Cotillion, a wider choice of courses, and the satisfaction of moving up a tier on the high school food chain make this second year of high school a memorable one. Though sophomores may start out in September as “wise fools,” they end up in June slightly humbled and with a wealth of valuable memories and experiences.

CLASS OF 2009
JUNIOR MINTS :-)

INTRODUCING THE
CLASS OF 2008...
The term “junior” just doesn’t seem to make sense. “Freshmen” is an accurately coined term for the group of “fresh” new students. With a year behind them and a chance to develop slightly smug attitudes, sophomores are appropriately characterized as the “wise fools.” The term “seniors” is also logical, as they are the oldest, most senior class on campus. But “juniors”? Sure, they’re not quite seniors. But having completed half of their high school careers, they don’t exactly qualify as “junior” anymore. The name doesn’t seem to recognize the challenges and rewards unique to this third year of high school. Juniors must start contemplating their college plans - a notoriously exciting and stressful process. The letters “S,” “A,” and “T,” elicit pangs of anxiety when arranged together in that sequence. Also, having discovered their individual talents and passions, many juniors find themselves devoting more time than ever before to extra-curricular and outside school activities. While juniors work away, anticipation of their soon-to-be-acquired drivers’ licenses remains forefront on their minds. Junior year is definitely a pivotal ten months. And the term, “Junior” doesn’t do it justice.

To the Class of 2007

As I look at the freshmen, crowding our halls, eating our cafeteria food, and imitating our style this year, it is odd to think that just four years ago, we were there. We were the ones in the way, trying to adjust to a new school and a new lifestyle. It is strange to think that in just four years, the teams, clubs, classes, and school that were the domain of the seniors have become our own. We have transformed over the past four years, and we have transformed our school. We have become bigger, smarter, and more mature, and we have left a very positive impact on East.

As we prepare to leave the life of the high school student behind, I think it is important to reflect on what you will miss the most. While it may seem like a sad way to look at graduation, it is the best way to realize what you appreciated during your time here. Take a few moments to identify a teacher, class, or activity that left a mark on you. Make yourself a promise not to lose your connection with this part of East. Commit yourself to supporting a part of your high school long after you have left it.

Also, as we look toward a future of opportunities, independence, and challenges, I hope that all my classmates keep their aspirations in mind without losing a sense of perspective. Cherish your relationships and always think before you sacrifice something or someone for personal gain. Never give up on the youthful optimism that you possess as it has infinite potential to improve our community and country. And always remember where you came from.

When you look in the mirror fifteen or twenty years from now, you may see a well-dressed businessman, a seventh-grade teacher, or an orthopedic surgeon. But no matter who you see looking back at you, never forget that the man or woman in the mirror is, and always will be, a proud member of the graduating Class of 2007 of Cherry Hill High School East. No one can ever change that!

Best of Luck,

Jesse Cohen

Senior Class President
Dear Class of 2007,

At your eighth grade orientation, I remember telling you to make the most of your high school career because it would go so quickly. As I congratulate you on your successful completion of high school, I remember your anxious, excited freshman faces, eager to begin life at East. Then, as now, your faces were full of anticipation about the future.

Time passes so quickly. It seems like just yesterday that we laughed together at the C-wing intersection as you tried to navigate the hallways of East, make sense of your class schedules, find the elusive 3rd floor of B wing and locate the East swimming pool.

How quickly you transformed yourselves from naive Freshmen to leaders of the school. It's been my pleasure to watch you grow both as individuals and as a Class. You have made a significant impact. Your leadership created a stronger commitment for community service and care for others. I am sincerely proud of your efforts: Katrina relief, Habitat for Humanity, Ronald McDonald House Meals, American Red Cross Blood Drives, Cum Laude tutoring, support for our Troops in Iraq and so many others.

The Class of 2007 has been the driving force of the East community. Your academic achievements are most impressive. Your leadership has injected new life into East's school spirit. I will never forget your voices at the Cherokee football game coupled with the sound of our Marching Band. I had the privilege of seeing many of you at sporting events, concerts, theatre programs, SGA and club activities. At each event I smiled with pride at the number of seniors involved. Your support for our athletic teams and SGA events has set a new standard that will challenge the classes that follow you. That challenge will make East a better place.

This year during our annual face-to-face interview I found that my anxious freshmen of 2003 had grown into mature, insightful, reflective young adults. The advice you gave me to pass along to the incoming Class of 2011 deepened my respect for all of you and for how far you've come in the past four years.

It's difficult to let you go, but it's time for you to move on. As you do, remember to care for and respect yourself and others. Remember to persevere and to work hard. Remember to take time to enjoy the simple beauty of life, like a snowflake falling gently. Remember to laugh.

My heartfelt hope is success and happiness for each of you. Working with young people is my greatest joy. I hope that each of you finds your own joy as you transition to the next stage in your life. It has been an honor to be your Grade Level Principal.

I will miss you.

Love,
Mrs. McLeester

GETTING TOGETHER & ACTIVITIES
STAYING INVOLVED
When you take a look around you – whether you’re in a classroom, cafeteria or hallway – you see diversity. Diversity in styles, diversity in personalities and diversity in cultures. Here at Cherry Hill East, cultural diversity is plentiful. Our school is overflowing with cultures from all around the world, encompassing countries from Asia all the way to Hispanic America. To acknowledge such diversity, we have a multiplicity of clubs that are devoted to celebrating each culture. For example, there are clubs dedicated to the Asian, Chinese, French, Filipino, Hispanic, Indian, Islamic, Jewish, Korean, Vietnamese cultures and more.

Chinese Culture Club officers Helen Mac (’07), Chin Fong (’07) and Tiffany Chan (’07) sell pretzels after to fundraise money for their club.

The purpose of these clubs is to share the different heritages with our high school. During the meetings of a cultural club, information regarding a holiday or custom of that culture would be shared. For example, in December, the Jewish Culture Club would hold a meeting to gather to celebrate the upcoming holiday of Hanukkah. Students would partake in traditional holiday festivities while munching on cultural goodies. Also, some of the Asian clubs would hold meetings around the Lunar New Year, which occurs in between January and February, to celebrate with festive games and food.

Additionally, some of the cultural clubs organize events in order to raise money for specific causes. Many of the Asian cultural clubs, such as the Asian Culture Society, the Chinese Culture Club and others, have extended their hand to aid the community. Clubs hold pretzel sales, bake sales and food sales to raise funds to sponsor community projects, such as the beautification of our school. These clubs work to instill a general sense of heritage, spirit, and generosity in East’s students.

International Networking

Each year, all of the cultural clubs gather to display their heritage for the teachers and the student body. The culmination of such performances are featured in two main events, Lunar Banquet and Multicultural Day.

Lunar Banquet is a luncheon that is held on the behalf of the teachers, in order to share an array of cultural foods and cultural performances. Student officers of the cultural clubs, such as the Asian Cultural Society, Chinese Cultural Club, and Korean Cultural Club, organize the Lunar Banquet to take place on the Lunar New Year. The students themselves take pleasure in preparing homemade ethnic dishes. After the teachers get their food, they are ushered into a room in which they experience cultural performances, such as the Chinese yo-yo, origami, and traditional dances and songs.

Lunar Banquet is a chance for students to share their heritages with their teachers and allow them to experience different cultures for a day. Korean Culture Club officer Grace Min ('07) says, "It's a really fun day because we get to show teachers the different aspects of our culture and give them an insight on how we live our lives."

The Lunar New Year follows a zodiac calendar, which made this year the year of the pig.

While Lunar Banquet is an event held for the teachers, Multicultural Day is held for the student population. All year, students from the different cultural clubs prepare ethnic performances to share their diverse cultures with their peers. On Multicultural Day, four separate assemblies are held, split according to grade level. During each assembly, a medley of performances is displayed for the enjoyment of the student population, in order to share the diversity within our school. These performances range from songs in different languages to traditional dances to even modern dances. The students are able to view a blend of the traditional and modern aspects of the cultures. Multicultural Day is always a great success and highly popular among the student body.

Many of East's clubs are producing many future world leaders. Students who participate in Blood Drive help organize a drive at East where many students, as well as others, donate their blood. Character Education helps the students at East build their character as the members post a different character-building word every week. The members of Future Doctors of America follow their ambitions to become doctors. They attend meetings during which guest speakers, such as doctors and medical students, inform them.

of the medical world and everyday aspects of their lives. These students also go on various field trips to hospitals and rehabilitation centers to get a better understanding of the medical field. FOP, or the Fraternal Order of Police, is a club that organizes a Holiday Party for disabled children. The members use their artistic abilities to decorate the hall where the holiday party takes place. Student Government organizes various activities and dances for the students here at East in order to make the year as fun and exciting as possible. One of their many successes this year is the Wing Bowl. These clubs prepare students for the real world as they allow them to grow to become leaders that lead the way.

Learning Never Stops

In many ways, DECA is a source of inspiration for those who wish to achieve greater goals. Although it is related to the field of marketing, and on a more general sense, business, it helps train students for the future by polishing their interpersonal skills, cooperation in a team, and ability to master subjects. DECA is a unique learning experience because it takes business to the next level—a place far from the classroom.

It allows students to express their creativity in their business plans, and campaigns they propose, and allow them to pursue their passions in a number of different topics such as fashion, sports and entertainment management, vehicle marketing, business law and ethics, and many others.

Here, Advanced Marketing student Andrew Paik ('07) leans over to help fellow classmate Deepak Kumar ('07) with his extensive 30 page research paper.

It originated as a small organization but has now branched out to the entire United States and even some of its territories, including Guam, Puerto Rico, and other countries. Each level of competition tests the students even further, defining their strengths and helping to improve upon their weaknesses. The enormity of the organization can be seen in its yearly International Career Development Conference which is hosted in a major city, changed each year. It allows the students to meet with equally bright business students from around the country, experiencing the differences in practices, ideologies, and more. This year, it will be held in Orlando.

DECA stands not only for the passion of business students but their want to reach out to the world and help improve it. The conferences on the regional, state, and international level alike foster an environment of friendly competition coupled with innovative learning. It is an unforgettable experience.

Many of the students in East spend their time, giving back to their community. The well-known Habitat for Humanity provides less fortunate individuals with housing. The members of this club travel to various parts of the country to build houses. This year over spring break, students went to New Orleans, which was hit by Hurricane Katrina years ago. The Key Club also performs various voluntary services around the community, such as volunteering at the local nursing home and raising money for charities. Make-a-Difference, East in Action, and Operation Smile all provide for the greater good of society in any possible way.

A source of pride and joy here at Cherry Hill East is our critically acclaimed newspaper, Eastside. The release of Eastside each month is always highly anticipated by all students. When the day comes for Eastside to be issued, it is always evident. Students wearing Eastside shirts, with creative slogans, swarm the entrances to distribute a newspaper to each entering student. And throughout the day, classrooms and hallways are filled with students, diligently reading the fascinating pieces featured in the renowned periodical.

The editors of Eastside work hard both in Journalism II class and outside of school to produce the newspaper that the East community can enjoy. Eastside editors often stay the extra hour to perfect their layouts to the pica, debate the merits of upcoming editorial ideas, or put a spotlight on unrecognized students by featuring their personality profiles.

Eastside editors Chloe Swirsky ('07) and Craig Malamut ('08) are hard at work, creating stories and illustrations for the renowned Eastside. They often stay after school, diligently working to perfect each issue.
As you can see, Eastside is no fun and games. Eastside editors Chloe Swirsky ('07) and Craig Malamut ('08) are meticulously working alongside their co-editors (i.e. giant monkey) while advisor Mr. Gagliardi tidies up the room.

Another amazing feature of Eastside is its high availability. Students do not even have to wait a month for the next issue. On the newly re-designed Eastside Online (http://eastside-online.org/), frequent updates on stories and headlines allow students to get their share of East news any time at any place.
Students wait around for the bus or a ride after their after school activities.

Not only do the students in East advance in learning various skills, but they also have fun in doing so. Another addition to East’s extensive list of clubs is the new ping-pong club. The members of this club teach new members valuable ping-pong skills, as they themselves improve their own. The members of the Rock-on club “rock on” as they listen to various types of music. The Art Club adds color to our lives as it embellishes the ordinary walls of our school. Without the Art Club, our walls would be without life. Many students spend their time after-school taking pictures as they improve their eye in Photo Club. All of these students display their expertise through their various forms of art and their assorted abilities.

On any given Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday, one can find at least two members of the Cum Laude Society stationed in the library to offer help to any students who need it. Comprising of the top 15% of the senior class, Cum Laude offers two primary services to the East student body: after-school tutoring and the Smaller Learning Community program. After school, on three days of the week, Cum Laude tutors sit in the library, available to give help in all different academic subjects. In addition to this, tutors often set up personal tutoring sessions with students who request it. Also, Cum Laude runs the Smaller Learning Community program, which allows Cum Laude Tutors to work more closely with particular students. Cum Laude members are paired with one student to provide specialized attention to the student’s particular needs. The benefits of tutoring are symbiotic. Students get the help they need to master material, while tutors refresh and reinforce subjects that they may have learned one or two years before.

Performing Arts Organizations

For those who always wish to participate more in performing art activities, there are additional clubs: Performing and Visual Arts Society (PAVAS), Mime Company, and Thespian Society. PAVAS is a group for those very talented in performing or visual arts. In Mime Company, students act out many scenes with only body motions. The Thespian Society is made up of a group of students who help out planning the Coffee House.

Orchestra

When roaming the halls of D-wing, past the sound of students singing is the soft music of the orchestra, which practices tirelessly at the end of the hallway. The members of the chamber and string orchestras can be heard using their various violins, violas, cellos, bases, and other instruments during the schoolday.

They perform at East's four concerts every year, typically reflecting in their song selection, the season in which they perform.

Many also extend their talents to East's drama department as members of the pit orchestra. Several players have received recognition on the county and state levels. Many continue to play in college as well.

The members of Chamber Orchestra perform at the Fall Preview Concert each year. It is the first opportunity they have each year to show off their talents.
Together
Bands

The conductor raises his baton and the students begin to play to the smooth motion of their leader’s hands. The drums and various horns come together, fusing into one sound the various wind, brass, and percussion instruments. To the many students who participate in one of East’s four primary bands, this activity is rehearsed each day at school and sometimes even hours after the school day has concluded. And that is just the beginning of what these students must do.

In addition to accomplishing the difficult task of expressing unison from dozens of students playing dozens of different instruments, they must devote many hours to learning and perfecting the songs they will perform in concert before hundreds of people.

Max Korach ('09), Seth Breggar ('07), Jeff Huber ('08) and David Shi ('08), members of the Jazz Band perform at the Fall Preview Concert at Cherry Hill West.

Singing

Choirs

From Renaissance music to selections from Mozart’s operas to the latest Broadway hit, every type of song is fair game for the Cherry Hill East Vocal Department. Each choir works to perfect singing scales and sight-reading. Lead expertly by Ms. Ferguson and Mrs. Lausi, these groups of individuals create splendid songs as cohesive groups. Vocal Workshop is a choir for those newer to singing at East. Concert Choir, a co-ed group, and Chansons, an all-female group, are for more advanced singers who have completed already Vocal Workshop. Meanwhile, East Singers is East’s most prestigious choir. All groups perform in numerous concerts both at East and outside of the school throughout the school year.

At the Fall Preview Concert, these singers show their vocal talents before a crowd of hundreds of proud parents and friends.

Jasmine Singson (’08), of Chansons sing expressively using hand motions to enhance their performance.

Small Groups

Singers interested in participating in East’s accredited vocal department receive an outlet through which they can let their voices be heard - literally. Among the small groups students can audition for (after completing Vocal Workshop) are Belles of East, Celebrations, Madrigals, and Casual Harmony. Each group possesses its own distinct persona that defines its members and its song selections. While the Madrigals illustrate a fondness for the Renaissance in their songs and style of dress, the Belles of East reflect traditionalism in their incorporation of soft, soothing tunes to the rhythm of the bells they use on stage.

The Belles of East prove that multi-tasking also extends into the realm of music. The girls must simultaneously maintain a peaceful, harmonious pitch while playing their bells.

The Madrigals transport you to the Renaissance. Through their costumes, their conventions, and their songs.

The melodies and rhythms of Casual Harmony bring back a bygone era of “doo-wop.”

Above: Jesse Cohen (‘07) focuses on his opponent's motion in order to pick an appropriate spot to attack. After making his move, he will pin his opponent to the ground with all his strength of his body. Cohen, along with the rest of the team, works long and strenuous hours training in order to perfect their technique and make weight.

Above: Frank Dolan (‘07) begins to lock up his opponent before doing his signature double-leg takedown. Dolan is like an artist in manipulating his opponent's body figures.
Jason Naftulin '07 uses his height to quickly propel himself into the air in order to make a kill. In this game against Pennsauken Tech High School, Naftulin lead the Cougars in kills (the volleyball term for winning a point by a spike) with nine.

Senior starting setter, Hormatullah Abdali utilizes his soft hands and superior technique to push the ball high into the air, in the path of his outside hitter. The setter is the most important position on the volleyball court, and in many cases is considered the the quarterback of the squad.

Outside hitter, James Pursell '07, spikes the ball across the court for a dominating kill. His near fifty inch vertical leap gives him an advantage over most volleyball players, but it is his perfect technique that really breaks down the opposing team.

Top: Michael Di Medio, Andrew Mitchell, Andrew Esler, James Pursell, Andrew Pursell, Coach Moehlimann.
Bottom: Steven Lubkin, Jason Naftulin, Hormatullah Abdali, David Goldberg.

Michael Di Medio '07 plays tough defense, as he swiftly digs up a kill in the central backcourt.

Below: Devin Walford ‘07 carefully cradles the ball, but focuses her vision on an open running path.

Samantha Stern ‘08 looks down field for an open teammate to pass the ball to, while she shifts herself away from the aggressive defender.

Diana Shalkowski ‘07 makes a hard backwards cut to throw off her defender in the midfield. Fancy footwork, speed, and determination allows her to maintain possession while charging at the goal.

The game starts with a faceoff between Cherry Hill East Junior, Samantha Stern, and her Cherokee opponent. The two girls take their positions, body-up, and utilize their maximum strength to muscle the ball in the direction of their team.

In order to ward off defenders, Alexa Ginsberg ‘08 shifts her body and utilizes the head fake.

Shifty. Sharpe. Speedy. The three S's that define Hammerquist's play this season. Despite his height, he is a dominant force even against the most massive of opponents.

Anthony Hammerquist '08

As East's leading scorer and one of South Jersey's top offensive threats, Longo is a key component to the Cougars success. His hard work in the off-season grants him an advantage over his opponents.

Francis Longo '07

The Cougars defense flexes its muscle on the Eastern Viking's offensive attack. Physicality, quickness, and aggressiveness plays an enormous role in team defense.

Team Captain, Stefan Knecht '07, cradles the ball through the midfield, absorbing hits and swiftly distributes the ball to the forwards.

Above: Look at the catcher’s concentration as she veers her vision through the batter and the glaring sun, maintaining her focus on the in-coming pitch.

Below: Nicolette Genzane '09 shuffles her feet to intercept the path of the ball in the infield.

Top Left: In the outfield, Stephanie Miller '09 graciously fields the ball, allowing herself ample time to utilize her footwork and strength to throw the ball to home plate.

Top Right: The first baseman stretches herself like a cat to receive a whipped-in ball from third base.

Above: After going through her wind-up, Ali Wu '08 underhand throws the softball perfectly across the plate for a menacing strike.

Right: Carolyn Derosiers '07 focuses on the pitcher’s mind games, as she prepares herself for a pivotal at-bat.

Coach Musumeci badgers the umpire for making an unfair call. His enthusiasm brightens the team’s spirit, pushing the players towards victory.
Above: Jimmy Hagedorn '07 is one two senior pitchers on the varsity team along with Andrew Newfield '07. Together, this dynamic duo will carry the Cougar's through the heat of their season.

Below: Mike McNulty '07 acts as East's power hitter while he concentrates at the plate.

Above: Jeff Bohus '09 kneels at second base, preparing to receive a pass from the third baseman, hoping to complete a double play.

Below: Joe DiBello '07 zings a pass into first base to complete an easy 1-2-3 inning.

Graham Edwards '07 concentrates his hand-eye coordination on the bouncing ball. He fields the ball and then distributes it for an out at first base.

Track and Field

Dan Kim ('07') stretches out his arm and takes a deep breath before he releases the ball. Shot put is a difficult throwing event which involves total concentration on distance.

Above: Pete Tzeng ('07') focuses on nothing but to complete the race in the least amount of time possible. The long distance does not distract him nor persuade his to run slower.

Right: Joel Burt ('08') and his fellow track teammate Peter Tzeng ('07') specially coordinate their movement in unison.

"Pressure is nothing more than the shadow of great opportunity."

Chantz Powell ('08') swiftly jumps across the hurdle using his legs carefully in order to prevent any injury.
Top Left: Laura Green (07') stretches her legs far as possible in order to obtain the greatest distance.

Bottom Left: Pelar Dunmore (07') is getting ready to throw the ball farther than her opponent's. She releases any tension from her body so she can use all the muscles in her arm and legs to force the ball forward.

Ashley Showers (07') keeps her heart beat steady in order to continue her stamina level. She focuses on the finish line while keeping her pace constant.

Victoria Rossi (08') prepares his steps for pole vaulting. Exact timing is very crucial in making it a successful leap.

Boys' Tennis

Top Ravi Yegia-Raman (08) uses his backhand stroke to send the ball onto the other side of the net. He is ready to step into the court making it a more powerful swing.

Top Right: Jake Stark (08) carefully follows through his backhand aiming it towards the opposite side where his opponent gets ready.

Bottom: Ross Silverberg (04) focuses on the ball as he returns his opponent's serve in the appropriate direction making it impossible for the other player to return.

Mike:
There's been many great memories. It seems like we just met in health class freshman year. I could not imagine high school without you. We had our fights but we always got through them. You have always been there for me, and I'll always be there for you. Your always making me laugh especially when you sing. I will never forget Saw 1 2 and 3. We always saw that movie together. Next year will be different but we will have a blast! Love you!

Denni:
Over these past two years I have spent some of the best times of my life with you. Not only are you my girlfriend, but you have become my best friend. You are always there for me through all of the ups and downs and I can talk to you about anything. Even though we sometimes fight and get at each others throats, I would not trade the times we have for anything. This was only the beginning, and I can't wait to see what we grow into in college. It's been great so far.
Stefanie & Natalie

If you have one true friend, you have more than your share.

- Thomas Fuller
I've heard it said...that people come into our lives for a reason...bringing something we must learn, and we are led to those who help us most to grow. If we let them, and we will help them in return. Well, I don't know if-believe that's true. But I know I'm who I am today because I knew you. Like a comet pulled from orbit, as it passes a sun. Who can say if I've been changed for the better? Because I knew you. I have been changed for good.

Looking back through the years
I can't believe how long
we have been best friends
through good times and bad

When I needed someone to cry with me and laugh together give me a shoulder to lean on and a hug to make me feel better

You know how true it is when you know that no matter what happens or goes on down the road that there will always be best friends

So as time passes and days go by just remember that when you need me that no matter what time or place
I will always be there by your side

We don't know where the years have gone, but we do know that we are VERY PROUD of you...the little boy you were growing up and the teenager you have become. The day we bring you to college will be both exciting and sad. Exciting in the fact that you will be starting a new chapter in your life, with new experiences, and sad for us that our "baby" is going off to school. Follow your heart, and you will succeed no matter what. CONGRATULATIONS - WE LOVE YOU!! WE MISS YOU ALREADY!! LOVE - HUGS and KISSES ALWAYS - Mom. Dad, Jason and Matthew

Shir

Friends since we were four
I find myself wishing for one year more
The time we spent together
Will remain in our memories forever
For you there is a special place in my heart
But you knew that, because you're so smart!
Air fresheners, egg salads, and Rubber boots
There were never any disputes
Lucky Kentucky horse shampoo
Who will I be without you?
What will I do when your not there?
I have no idea how I will fare!
Don't know what I'll do with out you
Just thinking about it makes me blue
Laugh, cry, hug and kiss
Out of everyone it's you I'm going to miss
Best friends for fourteen years
I depart from you with all my tears
I know this poem was a crime
It's because I need you in order to rhyme
On good days and bad days
I'll love you for ever and always
<3 Rach

As we go on we remember all the times we had together,
And as our lives change come whatever we will still be Friends Forever.

Rach

For 14 years you've been my best
The one I love the most
You're the one I trust above the rest
Cause you and I are so close
We've had our share of funny days
And a handful of the bad
But through it all, in every way
I'm thankful for the times we've had
I remember when we were small
We were rather stupid then
From air fresheners to popsicles in the hall
With you, I'd do it all again
And then came years at different places
We met many people new
Yet yours was always the friendliest of faces
We stayed friends, as I knew we could do
Who would have thought the past 4 years
Would fly as fast as they did
And soon I'll have to face my fears
For we are no longer kids
But no matter how far
There's no distance too big
I'll know where you are
And here is the thing
Forever and always you'll be my best friend
Since 14 years ago and until the very end
Shira

My favorite celebrities:

- Fans mourn Steve Irwin, the Crocodile Hunter, who is killed by a stingray while snorkeling at Australia’s Great Barrier Reef.

- Due to the popularity of user-generated websites like MySpace and YouTube, TIME magazine’s annual person of the year is “You.”

- Jessica Simpson’s divorce from Nick Lachey is finalized. Romantic rumors link her to skateboarder Bam Margera, NFL quarterback Tony Romo, singer John Mayer and comedian Dane Cook.

- Kate Couric is the anchor of the CBS Evening News, becoming the nation’s first female solo anchor of a major television network’s weekday evening newscast.

- Shortly after the birth of their second son makes headlines around the world, Britney Spears and Kevin Federline announce the end of their marriage.

- Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie, also known as “Brangelina,” make headlines when Angelina gives birth to daughter Shiloh in the African nation of Namibia.

- Dynamic music legend James Brown, aka the Godfather of Soul, dies at the age of 73. He is remembered as one of the major musical influences of the past 50 years.
