Cherry Hill East is more than just a high school. It symbolizes a melting pot, a conglomeration of gifted and talented students and staff working together to achieve a common goal - success, strengthened by a strong common denominator called pride.

Our achievements in academics, athletics, the arts and a diversity of activities demonstrate this inner goal to succeed. No one at East feels like a number, no one simply takes up space. Cherry Hill East is a warm, trusting, caring family - so much more than long hallways, spacious classrooms and sprawling campus.

It has been said that in a very large school one can get lost in the system, become insignificant. We do not believe that for an instant. We glory in what East has to offer us and what we, in turn have created for East's image. East's size and scope do more than merely educate us. Because of our size we are offered more courses, more activities, more opportunities, which, in turn nurture us. We are well-rounded, better equipped, self-sufficient individuals. The bigger we are, the more we have to attain and the more we can offer. Our philosophy is "bigger is better!" However, we are not merely "takers." East has also taught us how to care about others. Our philanthropic endeavors speak highly of us and our heritage.

In the same vein, this yearbook means more than the print and paper with which it has been constructed. Instead, it is every smile each of us shared and every tear we cried, every triumph we celebrated and every defeat from which we learned.

This collection will remind each of us of our experiences at East, our very life and the joy derived from these hallowed halls. If, perhaps one day in the future, we look back upon these words and pictures and smile, or shed a single tear for the memories hidden in these pages, then the 1987 EIDOLON has rightfully followed in the East tradition of success. This book, like our school, gives each one of us a library of memories to be remembered and cherished forever.

With this volume we endeavor to honor East, to showcase her splendor. The award-winning people, groups, organizations and teams that have passed through these halls are mirrors of what we dream to become. Thus, while the primary purpose of EIDOLON 1987 is to report the annual happenings, this volume is also intended to be a reference work of lasting values, for that is what East has given us.
Freshmen: Small creatures worried about entering East... We were the first freshman class to be on early session with the upperclassman in many years, would we be O.K.? How many would be sent to the pool or third floor B-wing? Would we learn to by-pass C-wing intersection? Adjustment to our new surroundings was quick — East no longer seemed outrageously large. Spirit Week unified groups and believe it or not, we were no longer Beck or Heritage — now there was the Class of '87, competing together under the Olympic Theme. With Spirit Week behind us, our high school experience could continue. We learned to do Geometric proofs or Algebraic equations. To Kill a Mockingbird and Romeo and Juliet, along with
Are you guys sure we're going the right way?

That was Then, This is Now, became familiar. Mr. Kim taught us about "Kim-Wipes" as we struggled through Q.P.S., Environmental Geology and Management, and Earth Science. The choice of clubs and activities was overwhelming, but each of us found a personal niche. The Drama department saw the opening and closing nights of "American Jubilee" and the overworked cast and crew finally got some sleep. December heralded Candy Cane time. After collecting our messages, we headed for Winter Vacation. Valentine's Day appeared with hearts and flowers, as we sent carnations and plastered hearts on the walls.

Spring was ushered in by the show — Barnum, live on our stage. In a flash, Spring Break had come and gone and we faced finals. Would we survive? Finals only count 1/9 of the grade, but — HELP! Freshman year was over, and with awe and relief, we took our places among the upperclassmen.

Feeling more secure and much more confident, Sophomore year started with a boom! The 50's look invaded as we used the Grease decade as our theme. The spirit continued with participation in the WMMR sponsored "Hooters Contest." Countless nights were spent writing "Hooters-93.3 WMMR CHHSE", instead of studying Moby Dick and Of Mice and Men. When hopes of a Hooters' concert didn't pan-out, many consoled themselves with the memory of seeing Bruce Springsteen, LIVE, IN

The Class of '77 would dazzle with brilliance at least once during their Back Seat to the Park more or less memory from Sophomores. The after party was a large audience for his film debut before we saw Prince made his film debut upon us. We were captivated by an exciting East and West. Overall, it was a part of being "Red" in the USA to the girls while the girls would "Never Surrender" their "Jesus" and East listened to a local radio station. However, Madama to us each night. "Who was the First ever vice-presidential candidate and when did she run?"
production of the Broadway show Pippin. Sadly, life wasn’t all fun and games. The Move disaster in Philadelphia was not only local news, it was an international topic. To add to our misery we were bombarded with term papers, but we got through and anxiously awaited the Sophomore Cotillion. On May 18th the exuberant class arrived to find Cafeteria II looking like “Heaven”. With the help of Josten’s, Cotillion night would never be forgotten as long as our class rings remained on our fingers. So as sophomore year ended we said farewell to the Class of ‘85 and set our sights on returning in September, as Juniors!
Junior year began with unmatched optimism. With two years behind us, we were sure that we could make the second half of our time at East even better. Spirit week arrived before we knew it. Who can forget our theme: Greek Toga! We decorated Cafeteria I, and awaited the culminating event, Pep Rally, but this Spirit Week was different as the festivities were interrupted by Hurricane Gloria. When she rolled into the area, we taped windows, found flashlights, and feared the worst. We were given a day off because of the predicted intensity of the storm. When Gloria turned out to be nothing more than an overgrown rainstorm, we gladly took the opportunity to spend some extra time with friends. When school resumed, we completed Spirit Week with the delayed Pep Rally. Once again the school year was off to a big start. We listened to the Morning Zoo on WMMR on the way to school, and Springsteen and the Grateful Dead on the way home. We saw a rejuvenation of the Psychedelic Age and the birth of pastel age with "Miami Vice". In the fall we laughed over "Charley's Aunt" . . . imagine a man dressing up in a woman's clothing! O.K. if this were San Francisco, but it's Cherry Hill. On the serious side of life there were P.S.A.T.s, regarded by some as practice S.A.T.s, to others the test meant reaching for the title of Merit Scholarship Finalist.

Thirteen from our class would make Finalist and 64 would receive Letters of Commendation. Yet we didn’t stop there, we went on to take S.A.T.s and Achievements, sacrificing beauty to arrive at school in sweats, with undone hair, and unmade faces. We struggled through Macbeth and A Tale of Two Cities, wondering if our French, German, and Spanish exchange students understood our classes, or were simply smiling politely. We’d be sure to ask them over dinner at one of the new Food Courts which were blossoming all over the area. Junior year was not without its tragedies. We watched tearfully as the television showed and reshowed the Space Shuttle disaster, and we mourned with the families of the seven lost astronauts. These men and women had truly given their lives to science and to space. Closer to home we all learned a lesson about drinking and driving when Flyer’s goalie Pelle Lindbergh lost his life in a fatal alcohol related accident. As the terror of the horrifying events passed, we looked towards the Spring hoping it would be a little more cheerful. We were shocked when our school made national news in Newsweek and USA Today as America praised schools for standing up to drugs. One by one driver’s licenses became ours, giving extra joy when after attending Funny Girl, we had the freedom to drive ourselves to cast parties. The year’s activities finished with the Junior Prom. Months of tux and gown shopping ended at the Hyatt in May, with Billy Joel’s “The Night is Still Young” as the theme. With memories of the elegant evening in our hearts we said goodbye to junior year, the Seniors of ’86, and anxiously awaited the prospect of being SENIORS . . . at last!
September 3, 1986! We drove to school, in our cars, at 7:55 — at last we were Seniors! First choice at parking stickers. We were respected by the freshmen. The hall of fame board boasted our pictures. This was it and we were going to make senior year count. Gathering in the auditorium, we listened to Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Cost speak about senior spirit and pride. We, however, didn’t need this pep talk, we knew what we had to do. For starters there was Spirit Week. This year would prove our supremacy! We found the cougars, jumped rope, and transformed Cafeteria II into Gilligan’s Island. Four years of practice paid off as we completed our last Spirit Week with victory and joy at the concluding pep rally.

As we settled back to work, however, we all knew that senioritis could not set in yet. We still had college applications to send, acceptance letters to wait for, and the state monitoring session to prove that East was #1! As we watched the preparations end and the monitoring begin, we were all proud to show off our school. East was described as a quality school with varied course offerings and enthusiastic, proud, and well prepared students and staff. Also praised was the newly implemented Breakfast Club-like system for Saturday school, a program instituted to cut down absences. Rave reviews were followed by a visit from Japanese educators, whom we also treated to the special qualities of our Super-school. Before long the fall show chilled our blood as we watched Dracula materialize on East’s stage. Suddenly it was Thanksgiving and we all cheered as we won the annual East-West homecoming football game. Anxiously we awaited the FOP Christmas party, the food drive, candy canes, early decision acceptance letters, and winter vacation. As vacation arrived some of us knew that yes, we were definitely going to college and senioritis began to bite. Sadly, we were faced with tragedy as well as triumph. New Year’s Eve was marred by the deadly San Juan hotel explosion and we returned from vacation to learn that our beloved guidance counselor, Mr. Gibson, had passed away. Our feelings of helplessness, however, were diminished when our blood drive sent over 200 pints of blood to the tle of the Bands. We listened to either the Morning Zoo on WMMR or Howard Stern on WYSP on the way to school and the newly released Springsteen Live: ’75-’85 on the way home. We claimed to be at guidance, “Yeah, yeah that’s the ticket,” as we finally experienced senior cut day for ourselves and counted the days until senior trip. Finally we collected our Valentine’s, carnations, and suitcases and made sure that Florida would never be the same. We came home with tans, memories of Mickey and Epcot, and full fledged senioritis as we basked in the envy of the underclassmen. We cheered for our friends in Man of LaMancha, knowing that this would be our last major East performance. We cried as one by one our acceptance letters arrived and the realization that soon East would be a memory hit home. Senior prom arrived and we danced the night away in our gowns and tuxes. Were we really approaching graduation? The last weeks flew by as we received “Kiss a Senior Goodbye” messages, attending the yearbook signing party, and said a last goodbye to friends and teachers. Bursting with pride, we finally reached graduation day, wiping away tears of joy, as well as tears for what we were leaving. That day we crossed the bridge to the future and although we promised to keep in touch, nothing could ever be the same.

To The Class of 1987

For the past four years Cherry Hill East has been an important part of your life. The familiar surroundings, the teachers, and the many friends that you saw there each day provided a feeling of security. Each year you became more confident as the experiences provided for you enabled you to grow and mature.

As you look back and recall the memories of the last four years, you probably realize how some experiences which were once very meaningful are now insignificant. However, each new experience has contributed to your growth and development.

And now, straddling two worlds, the past and the future, you must venture out into new surroundings and once again establish yourself. Armed with the knowledge of the past four years, you will be well prepared to deal with the new challenges you encounter. As you face each new challenge, use your talents and abilities to create a future that is better than the present. Continue to leave behind you the same tradition of excellence and pride that you demonstrated during your four years at East.

Memories of East are yours to enjoy for a lifetime. May your future be a time when the happy memories continue to grow. On behalf of the staff I congratulate you upon your graduation from Cherry Hill High School East. I wish for you good health, happiness, prosperity and the fulfillment of all your hopes and dreams.

Sincerely,

Anthony R. Cost

Dear Seniors,

The past four years have been exciting and rewarding years for all of us. Academically, the Class of '87 includes thirteen National Merit Scholars, in addition to sixty-seven students receiving letters of Commendation. Our athletic teams have been consistent contenders for conference and state championships, and many Seniors have been recognized for exceptional individual contributions. All-State Chorus, Band and Orchestra have had a large contingent of East Seniors within their ranks. Members of the class of '87 have enhanced drama productions and Student Congress activities with their spirit and dedication.

The true history of the Class of '87 is told not only in these recognitions of individual and team achievements; it is in the tapestry of every day moments from the past four years. The student who decorates a friend's locker on her birthday, who helps put together a float for Homecoming, who helps deliver candy canes or participates in the FOP Christmas Party - all these are part of your Class. Selling frankfurters at the Football games, trying to get the Gilligan's Island song right at Spirit Week, rejoicing after getting an A on the math test - all these are part of your Class. You have juggled the demands of school, parents, friends, and employers, and have done very well.

The faculty and administration look to your graduation with mixed feelings. Although we are sorry to be losing your talent and enthusiasm, we are confident that you will succeed in whatever you attempt. We hope that your memories of your days here at East are as happy as are our memories of the Class of '87. Best wishes for a healthy and fulfilled career.

Sincerely,
James Gallagher

Celebrating of East 20
East is 20. It is hard to imagine a time when East did not exist. But before August 7, 1965, the date that the ground-breaking ceremony took place, the land on which East is now situated was merely acres of farmland. In January of 1967, the partially completed building of Cherry Hill High School East opened its doors for the first time to the students of the Class of 1970. Previously, these students were attending Delaware Township High School, now known as Cherry Hill High School West. At this time, the mayor of Cherry Hill was John C. Gilmour. The first principal of East was Thomas N. Cannavo with assistant principal Alexander DiBartolomeo. The official dedication of the building took place on Sunday, May 21, 1967.

In the years that followed, East grew. The building was enlarged with the addition of B-wing (which incidentally was originally designed to have three floors), the boys’ gymnasium and the annex to the library. After B-wing was completed, it was first used to house an elementary school which never interacted with the rest of the high school.

Every year, the size of the student body increased. From 1974 through 1983, East had an extended day, with freshmen reporting from 3rd to 10th period to make the best use of classroom space. The size of the faculty and staff had to be increased to meet the growing needs of the school. Many new classes and programs were offered with innovative ideas such as the English labs first being started here.

The students and staff soon earned a reputation for excellence, both academically and with the expanded extra-curricular programs. When the time came to publish the first yearbook, many names were presented and voted by ballot of the student body. Finally, the very fitting name of Eidolon, meaning ideal, was chosen. Mrs. Marguerite Smaldore and Mrs. Louise McDonnell were the first Eidolon advisers, only then they were known as the Marino sisters.

Over the years, East’s faculty has grown and changed. From the original staff in 1967 we still have with us: John W. Clowar, Julia Y. Hayes, Elaine D. Kooperstein, Ernest B. Mayo, P. Richard Oliver, James E. Sabin and Donald Savitz. Mr. Anthony R. Cost, our current principal started at East in September of 1967 as a biology teacher. During the past twenty years East’s students and faculty have steadfastly worked to be the best that they can be. This volume of Eidolon is a celebration of the excellence that Cherry Hill High School East has represented for so long.
No one will ever forget the grief and horror our country experienced in the wake of the Challenger disaster last January 28th. The sadness felt by this nation for the families of the seven astronauts whose lives were taken that day was shared all over the world.

In an effort to show our respect and sympathy for those courageous seven, our school has planted seven trees, one representing each of the fallen astronauts. The trees, graciously donated by the Lipinski Landscaping Contractors, were planted in early November of 1986 and are currently situated outside of the Boys Gym. When Mr. Cost issued the bid to all local garden centers, the Lipinski Contractors felt compelled to be a part of the dedication since four of the Lipinski family graduated from East.

A dedication ceremony took place on January 28th of 1987 to mark the one year anniversary of the Challenger tragedy. Mr. Cost and a representative from Lipinski conducted the dedication. Others present included Mr. Belchikoff and the Student Government Officers. Pat Kurie, a senior and a member of Student Government, first suggested the tree dedication and aided Mr. Cost with arrangements and with the actual ceremony.

Though the Challenger mishap will linger in all our minds, a new hope for the future is symbolized by the flourishing trees we have planted. Their beauty and strength will stand as a constant reminder of the seven dedicated and heroic souls who gave their lives for the advancement of our country. Through the trees, their sacrifice and heroic efforts will never be forgotten.

REMEMBERING . . .

William R. "Bill" Gibson II, guidance counselor, teacher, athletic coach, and friend to the Cherry Hill East community since 1969. We will miss this unique man for a rich variety of reasons: the unusual decor of his office; his sense of humor; his concern for human rights; his interest in environmental protection; his strong interest in the visual and performing arts; his emphasis on good sportsmanship, as well as the perfection of athletic talents; his special ability for effective work with students who were experiencing a variety of problems; his creative and intellectual talents.

We are proud to have had the opportunity to work with Bill as a colleague and a friend.

Remember When —

Literary Cocktail Party

A cocktail party fifth period on second floor B-wing? Were they really drinking champagne? No, it was sparkling cider. Those people were not dressed early for Halloween, they were Miss Beck’s junior honors English students. They all had a lot of fun and laughs dressing up as literary characters last June thirteenth. Miss Beck, playing Madame Defarge, acted as hostess. Grendel, the Wife of Bath, and Othello attended just to name a few, and Mr. Carr made a surprise appearance as Huckleberry Finn. Exotic dishes representing the characters and their time period were prepared with much thought and creativity. It was all captured on video tape showing that literature is alive, well, and living at Cherry Hill East.
Remember When-Courtyard Hackie

It was almost as popular as the Hula-Hoop, about as world-renowned as the Trivial Pursuit game and was up to the caliber of Frisbee. This entity is known as HACKIE-SAC. The actual sac is an amazing invention, being both solid and soft. It resembles a beanbag, flies with the ease of a tennis-ball. HACKIE has become a major recreational past-time and is indulged in quite frequently at East. Any warm day finds a group of dedicated HACKIE-ers clustered together for an enjoyable game. Keeping the HACKIE-SAC in the air is the object of the game and if the past year is any indication, the new sport of the 80's' popularity should continue to soar.
Remember When -
Suits, Shorts & Sneakers

The afternoon was stifling and senior portraits were being taken that day. The halls were cluttered with girls in blouses and pearls, and the guys looking mighty sharp in shirts and ties. Yes, at first glance the seniors looked quite spiffy, but closer examination revealed slight imperfections. Beneath those dashing blazers were Hawaiian jams, knobby knees, and hairy legs. Although the ensemble was slightly off-key and many a tie was tossed with relief into a locker, the pictures were completed successfully and the students returned to their normal attire with pleasure.
Recognizing, encouraging, and rewarding excellence in high school, the Junior Miss Competition is open to all senior girls who are United States citizens. Finalists are chosen from the applicants in a schoolwide competition. The five categories judged were: creative and performing arts, scholastic achievement, a personal interview, physical fitness, and poise and appearance. This is not a beauty contest and there is no category such as “bathing suit competition.” Each school advances to the county competition. Places among the state finalists are earned by those who are victorious at this level. Congratulations are in order for all of those who competed, you’re all winners!
Boys And Girls State

Cherry Hill East gives a select group of students the unique opportunity to experience the actual workings of government each year. This chance is obtained through participation in Boys and Girls State. The "states" are sponsored by The American Legion with only six students chosen to attend the activities of a mock government. They hold a gubernatorial election to select the Governor of Boys and Girls State. Selections took place at Rider College and all participants were enriched with the experience of learning firsthand about government and leadership roles.

Governor's School

Four of East's top mathematics students were chosen from hundreds of New Jersey applicants to attend the 1986 New Jersey Governor's School of the Sciences. These four bright East people were awarded full scholarships to study science, computers and mathematics last August at Drew University.

Cum Laude Society

The Cum Laude Society is a nationally recognized Academic Honor Society consisting of the top 15% of the senior class. On February 25, 1987, its members were formally inducted. The guest speaker was Mayor Maria Barnaby Greenwald and the program ended with the traditional candle lighting ceremony.

However, this society does more than recognize outstanding academic achievement. It provides a special service for the rest of the school. When a student has difficulty with a course, he has the opportunity to request a tutor from the society without any charge. Members who specialize in the specific course are then appointed to help the student. The Cum Laude Society is an exceptional group in the way that it unselfishly aids other students to excel in school.

A quick quiz for all students:
1) Who can graduate in the top one percent of their class?
2) Who have grade-point averages ranging from 3.7 to 4.0?
3) Who stays up half the night studying and still manages to arrive in class on time?

If you answered a ranking scholar, you were correct. These special students are the highest achievers in the class and constitute the top one percent of the seniors. Their academic merits enable them to graduate with honors and only seven students receive the privilege of being a ranking scholar. They are honored at graduation and represent all the talent that the senior class contains. Ranking scholars are a mixture of intelligence and hard work, a combination from which the entire school benefits and the parents, peers and teachers of these students take great pride in their accomplishments.

Ranking Scholars
A Ranking Scholar approaches her hard-earned position with dignity
Throughout high school, dating varies in importance to each individual, but no matter how nonchalant a person is about 179 nights a year, there is one night that stands as a monumental achievement in the minds of high school students everywhere. This night is ... PROM NIGHT.

Preparations for this event include searching for the perfect theme, searching for the perfect date, and hardest of all ... searching for the perfect prom costume. On this night fairy god parents have their jobs cut out for them. Every raggedy Cinderella must be turned into a Fairy Princess and every guy, who has lived in torn Levi's and a concert T-shirt, must be turned into a handsome prince. Just seeing everybody in their finery is worth the torment of the search, as each person assures himself that he looks the best.

Another important aspect of the Prom is transportation. The parking lot overflows with limousines and cute little sportscars. The limousines appear to be a tempting ride home to any girl who squeezed herself, gown and all, into the cute little sportscar on the way to the Prom.

Most important is the Prom itself. For one night there is heaven on earth. As dates stare dreamingly into each others' eyes, it seems as if the night will never end. They dance the night away, aware only of each other.

The night itself does not simply end there ... there are post-Prom parties, the shore, and the memories that, like fairy magic, will undoubtedly last forever.

A Night Of Glitter
Mickey Meets East

No one who participated in the class of '87's Senior trip to Florida will forget the wonder and magic of the four days spent in the Magic Kingdom. “Fun in the Sun” was their motto and this image was played to perfection. Each day held memories to last a lifetime.

Memories that include Mickey Mouse ears, thrilling rides, and all the sparkle of the Magic Kingdom.

Even though tans faded and the seniors returned to the real world of pressure and academics, the enchantment of Disney World remains with them through pictures, Micky Mouse dolls and a lot of wonderful memories. Awakening early to catch the plane only added to the excitement and the visit to the extraordinary Epcot center completed the weekend.
This is the time to remember
Cause it will not last forever
These are the days
To hold on to Cause we won't
Although we'll want to

Sometimes it's so easy
To let a day
Slip on by
Without even seeing each other at all
But this is time you'll turn back to and so will I
And those will be days you can never recall

Billy Joel
Six and one-half hours a day — five days a week — one-hundred and eighty days a year — these are the hours of a student. But what about the teachers? — the intellectual advisors who guide us through four seemingly endless and confusing years of high school. Who are these leaders?

Education without representation is tyranny. So you may ask, “Who are the representatives?” The faculty. Often understated but highly motivated, these teachers and advisors dedicate their daily hours instructing, guiding, and often befriending their students. In return their charges treat them with the utmost respect or condescendingly ignore them, (depending on whether it is 8:01 in the morning or 2:24 in the afternoon). The faculty has the responsibility of listening to their proteges, frequently helping them to cope with the pains and struggles of adolescence. As a result, the social lives of faculty members are often hampered by their dedication to their students. With this in mind, one question recurs: How does the member manage his own private life? The fact is that to many of the faculty members, the students represent a main portion of their lives, and they willingly share their time.

The educators of East play a major role in the life of each student. Their influence steadily affects the student’s behavior, values, and judgments throughout his high school career and his future endeavors. Thus, the faculty of East is greatly worthy of commendation.

The majority of East's student body knows Mr. Cost as a dedicated principal, a hard working administrator and sometimes as a firm disciplinarian. The truth exists that Mr. Cost is a lot more complex and fun-loving than most students think. During his eight years as a principal, Mr. Cost has no doubt had his share of aggravation, but he has persevered to obtain his goal of working together with students and teachers in an effort to make Cherry Hill East a better school.

Come Saturday though, our principal's first concern is not with school. Mr. Cost can be found bowling, walking or enjoying football, baseball and basketball games on T.V. He relaxes to 50's tunes, the "big bands", and classical music, and prefers to dine on Italian food, steak or lobster. Chocolate-chip cookies and red Jello also rank high on his list of favorites. Above all, Mr. Cost enjoys traveling and has spent many vacations in exotic lands. The senior trip to Disney World is a treat for him as well as for the class.

The question students ponder most is how Mr. Cost feels about his position. He enjoys contact with the students more than any other aspect and always appreciates a friendly "hello". Unfortunately, one drawback to being a principal is that Mr. Cost often finds himself spread too thin. No matter what, students will find that Mr. Cost is not only a qualified and dedicated principal but also an interesting and outstanding individual.
JAMES J. GALLAGHER
Advisor to the Class of 1987, Mr. Gallagher has been a grade level principal for 7 years. His duties include student scheduling and handling student parking. However, when weekends and free time are his, Mr. Gallagher enjoys football and baseball on TV, and pizza with the works! With his wife and young daughter, the Gallaghers ride in horse shows and compete in horse jumping competitions.

The junior class advisor is a twenty year veteran principal, his work involves bus scheduling and transportation. At the end of each semester, Mr. Terranova plans the final exam schedule. While he does paperwork (his least favorite item) strains of music from Bach to Springsteen can be heard. Mr. Terranova is a weekend sports fan. He enjoys all kinds of foods as long as they can be served with a pasta.

RICHARD N. LACOVARA
In charge of East's budgets and purchases as well as the general well-being of the building and grounds, Mr. Lacovara is one of our busiest people. A twenty year veteran, who loves administrative education, except the discipline end of the job. A armchair coach, Mr. Lacovara enjoys college basketball and pro football. His favorite restaurants serve Italian or Mexican food and chocolate chip cookies are vastly improved with the addition of peanut butter.

EDWARD H. COLLINS
Freshman class advisor administrative supervisor of English, Foreign Languages, Basic Skills and the visual Art areas, Mr. Collins puts in a busy week. He enjoys his direct involvement with the student body. Mr. Collins is also the person who is responsible for interim progress reports and grade reporting sheets. Weekends finds him relaxing watching TV sports or a movie with a super sandwich.

EDWARD H. BRANIN
This twenty-eight year veteran of administrative education is the advisor to the Class of 1989, supervises East's student activities and all of our athletic programs and scheduling. He is high on all forms of East sports activities and enjoys his Sunday afternoon armchair coaching of Pro and college football. Mr. Branin is a seafood enthusiast and loves any combination with Italian food. His joy is in his student involvement and we think our personalbe Mr. Branin knows everybody in the entire school!
Grade Level Offices

Grade Level offices are an integral part of East’s administration. They are not only places where discipline occurs, but they serve a much needed purpose. The secretaries and aides who work in the grade level offices help keep accurate attendance records for the twenty-eight hundred students that attend East. They are responsible for keeping up to date records, taking messages, and scores of other tasks that keep East functioning well.

East has two grade level offices to help accommodate each and every student. It is rare that a person graduates without seeking the help of one of these ladies during his four years. These helpful, dedicated secretaries are needed members of the East staff.
Main Office Personnel

The main office personnel are vital to each and every one of us. These secretaries and aides are responsible for accurate attendance records, distribution of mail, processing records, issuing lockers, keeping track of money and disbursement of funds, distribution of keys and a variety of tasks that keep East functioning on an even keel. Through them, East maintains updated records and a proper filing system. The talents of each one keep us well-informed and current with all information needed.

Communications

The two ladies who oversee our communications center are much more than telephone operators. Of course they do channel all incoming calls to their proper destination and they do keep the internal telephone network from getting snarled and overloaded. They also keep us abreast of important information through announcements, but they provide the place where keys, pocketbooks, lost jewelry, lunches and messages are retrieved. And they do it all with a smile in their voice.
Child Study Team

The Child Study team, a branch of Pupil Personnel Services, consults with students, parents, teachers, and other staff members in order to provide information. By analyzing a student's needs they are able to create an individual educational plan that can alleviate social pressures and academic frustration. Through social and psychological evaluations they help students to perform successfully in a happy productive atmosphere.

Special Education

For a variety of reasons, some students need special attention to maintain their academic achievements. Luckily, they have the Special Education team to work with them to evaluate and monitor their progress. Because of the individualized attention these students are assisted in reaching their maximum potential.

Resource

Mrs. Rosa Mc Call, a Special Education Resource instructor, works with Remedial Needs students. According to the qualifying students abilities, course work is assigned and adjusted. Math and English are emphasized. Individual growth and strengths are encouraged and developed.
Most of us take for granted that we will understand our coursework because we can understand our teachers' language. They speak in English for that is our native tongue. We may not be able to understand the abstract language of math or the technical terminology of science, but we can still understand the words. Yet, our school has some foreign-born students who have a greater difficulty in their classes. They speak a different language at home and must adjust to a new environment here at East. For this reason, East does a special service for these students, by offering English as A Second Language. This valuable program helps to integrate the students who speak other languages with the main body of East students who only speak English. As communication skills are developed and meshed into English, the students are able to increase their knowledge of the English language. Through English as A Second Language, foreign students can better adjust and function in a more comfortable class setting.

The Reading Department has a two part goal- to improve the student's reading skills while developing their interest in reading. This department believes and encourages reading for enjoyment and personal growth. Students in this department are aided in their reading abilities by areas of word recognition and comprehension.

In addition students are urged to do independent reading. Through small classes, the reading faculty is able to give their students plenty of individual attention. This attention helps the students in their growth and understanding. With skillful dedication, East's Reading specialist create a relaxed and personal atmosphere which enhances the learning experience for their students.
Guidance

Each department at Cherry Hill East serves a vital purpose, but the East guidance department may be one of the most important. Without the help of our concerned counselors, how could college applications and recommendations ever be completed? Who would compile our class ranks or help with scholastic complications? In reality, the guidance department aids East's students in countless ways and is always ready to lend a hand or solve a problem.

The guidance department is particularly helpful and productive due to the dedication and hard work of Mr. James Sabin, Director of Guidance. Mr. Sabin has acted as Director of Guidance for twenty years and was honored as the 1986 "Man of the Year." This prestigious award emanates from Mr. Sabin's involvement with scholarship programs fund-raising and school activities. The entire staff and student body of East recognize and appreciate the devotion and efforts of this exceptional man. Without his help and the assistance of the whole guidance department, East would not maintain its outstanding reputation.

This past June, Mrs. Kay Hunt received the Camden County School Counselors Association's "Counselor of the Year Award", in recognition of her outstanding service and dedication throughout her career at East. Mrs. Hunt's accomplishments are admired and appreciated by both staff and students.

Mrs. Hunt is not the only counselor to have been honored by the Camden County Personnel and Guidance Association. Mrs. Linda Zalusky, another of East's esteemed counselors, received the "Counselor of the Year Award" for 1982-83. She has also won the National Exemplary Award for New Jersey for her project concerned with Video-Vision Careers. This prestigious award was presented to Mrs. Zalusky in 1985.
Biology

The biology department, dedicated to the development and furthering of student interest in the life sciences, offers a number of opportunities for student involvement. The biology department sponsors three clubs: the Biology Careers Club, led by department chairperson, Mr. Stanley Krantz, investigates science-related professions that can be of interest to student members. The Biology Research Club allows interested students to research biology related studies of the student's choice in an independent project in which they will have the chance to work one-to-one with a biology teacher. The Biology Science League offers students the opportunity to academically compete with other state high schools.

Cherry Hill East is proud of its biology faculty and their many achievements. One of the Biology I teachers, Mr. Dale Wiltsee, had been selected by the New Jersey School Boards Association to present his Museum Techniques course at its annual Curriculum Fair in Atlantic City on October 15-17, 1986. Also, the biology department's very own chairperson, Mr. Stanley Krantz, had been honored with the prestigious RCA Outstanding Teacher Award for 1986.
East's Business Education department offers students with a penchant for business a variety of courses. During their four years at East most students will take typing. Its practicality appeals to their sense of value. However, for others who are more dedicated to the business world, East offers a program spanning all four years of high school. Skills such as stenography, keyboarding, accounting, retailing and management prepare these students for life in the wide world of business. Upon graduating, these East young people have the experience and foundation necessary for a future as business professionals.

Recognizing the people who help to make East the Home of Champions, one cannot overlook Joan Bruno. For the second year in a row she has won a national award for her work with the Junior Miss Competition. As one of the four national winners, Miss Bruno was commended for the manner in which she runs this program in all of New Jersey. In addition to being a state chairperson, she is also the coordinator of the entire program here at East. We congratulate Miss Bruno on her double achievement, and say "Keep up the good work and thank you!"
Mr. LaVoie, a popular English teacher, has an unusual hobby that has evolved into an illustrious "moonlighting" career. An avid admirer and collector of trains, Mr. LaVoie has written and published a book concerning the production of Lionel trains. Titled Greenberg's Guide to Lionel-Fundimensions, the book researches the modern production of these trains from 1970 to 1985. In addition to this book, he has served as editor to another guide on trains and serves in the role of demonstrator of layouts three times a year in Philadelphia. Currently, Mr. LaVoie is in the process of writing another book on operating layouts of Lionel Trains.

English
The English Department, the largest one at East, has a highly skilled and dedicated faculty. Since every student who enters East is required to take four years of English, the interaction between teachers and their students within this department is immense. The relationships that develop between the English teachers and their students are special and unique. Everyday, English teachers lead their students on an exploration to delve into the mysteries of literature while also emphasizing the importance of basic grammar, vocabulary, research abilities, as well as writing skills. Through regular classes and additional weekly writing labs, they further guide and encourage the growth of the writing ability of their students. For students who want to work on their English skills even more, the department offers an elective course in which students with the aid of a teacher may work individually in specific areas and interests. In Individualized English, students can improve their literary skills and as a benefit do better in their required class. No student will ever depart from Cherry Hill East without lasting memories of their English experience and the ability to write better than ever before.

In a student’s senior year, the relationship with one’s English teacher can be especially important for the future. When recommendation time swings around, English teachers are normally swamped. Not only will English teachers write college recommendations, they will most likely help their students write their college essays. When those acceptance letters flow in, a grateful applicant must never forget to thank those special and ever-devoted English teachers.

Miss Margaret Beck, a devoted English teacher, was recently awarded the National Fellowship for Independent Study in Humanities. The award was given for Miss Beck’s outstanding research on Dante’s Diving Comedy. The fellowship was funded by the Council for Basic Education. Along with Miss Beck’s prestigious award, the Council also provided East with $200 for new library books.
In the tradition of Easts' winning spirit, four students were awarded prizes for their outstanding essays on Americanism last year. The theme was "What the Statue of Liberty Means to Me" and the contest was sponsored by the Fleet Reserve Association. Each grade submitted a certain number of essays and the best were selected to compete in a national contest. East provided three first place national winners. These exceptional students are Lisa Reedich, a sophomore, Greg Heyt, a junior and Kerrylea Etter, a senior.
Foreign Language

The faculty of East's Foreign Language Department teaches many students to appreciate and understand the cultures, traditions, and languages of foreign countries, specifically those from France, Spain, Germany, and Latin America. Impressing the students with foreign literature and art, the students gain valuable knowledge of not only foreign mannerisms but also that of their own native language by comparing and contrasting the different lifestyles and behavioral patterns between the countries. The students retain all of this knowledge that will later influence them in their career choices, as the ability to speak a foreign language basically constitutes a requirement of many jobs. Thus, the incredible responsibility of the faculty of the foreign language department lies with preparing the students for their future careers as well as teaching them how to adapt to foreign languages and cultures.

Mrs. Ann Eck has been working diligently for the last five years toward her doctorate in secondary education. This summer she plans to complete her dissertation on the transfer of writing skills from English to foreign languages.
One of East’s main concerns is the student’s knowledge of Health issues and his stamina resulting from physical conditioning. The core of the Physical Education curriculum offers a variety of packages in which the student is encouraged to choose activities that will enable him to develop his strength and tone his body, in addition to having fun. The students also become knowledgeable in the principles of First Aid, in the effects of alcohol abuse, and in basic health issues. The Physical Education and Health Department allows the student to develop disciplined and well-conditioned bodies while exposing him to different areas in the allied health fields.

Health And Physical Education

Mr. Robert Adelizzi has been the director of East’s Developmental Gym program for some time now, and his caring attitude has helped to rehabilitate many injured or handicapped students. Recently, Mr. Adelizzi was awarded his certification in Biological Sciences when he passed the state exam.

Aside from his academic contributions to our school, which includes teaching Athletic Injury, Mr. Adelizzi is the advisor for the newly formed Sports Medicine Club.

Her words and beliefs are almost as well known as her pleasant smile and indefatigable compassion and understanding. Her motto is “It’s not wrong, it’s not right, it’s just different.”, and the lady is Mrs. Joan Saltzer.

Mrs. Saltzer, who currently teaches health and Family Living, an extremely popular senior elective, describes herself as being tolerant and understanding of others. This is the goal she hopes to achieve with Family Living. Through openness and awareness, Mrs. Saltzer helps her classes to develop the same awareness and tolerance of their own and others’ beliefs.

Perhaps the most special aspect of Mrs. Saltzer’s personality is that her job doesn’t end when she leaves the building. Loving what she does enables her to help students with a variety of problems, both academic and social. Mrs. Saltzer, to many, is more than just a teacher. She is also a friend, on whom we rely.
The faculty of the Industrial Arts Department concerns itself with helping the students prepare themselves to adapt successfully to various vocational fields. Adding to the student's knowledge of industrial tools, materials, processes, and products, the teachers also enhance students' understanding of the industrial system and the means by which man produces his necessities. The students studying within this department learn the basics of small home appliance repair and advance to those courses dealing with power energy. With all of its specially designed courses, the Industrial Vocations Department adds to the flexibility in education offered at East.

Industrial Vocations
Cosines, sines, logarithms, vectors, asymptotes, proofs – taking a math class can be likened to studying a foreign language. Fortunately, the process is made much easier by the teacher’s of East’s mathematic’s department. The major goal is to provide students with the skills they will later need.

With classes ranging from computers, calculus and even remedial math, East students are offered the opportunity to develop abstract thinking as well as acquiring practical knowledge. Although many of us may fail to see how computing the area under a curve could apply to life, we know that some day it all will become perfectly clear.
The Performing Arts Department provides music and drama classes for the East student. Those interested in the various choral and instrumental groups and the drama classes, covering numerous aspects of theater, find a home in this department. During their four years at East students are given the opportunity to expand their creativity, further their techniques, and improve as artists. While some work to gain skills for future careers, others welcome the opportunity to find personal fulfillment as well as relaxation. This department is a valued part of East’s world.

From Q.P.S. and Earth Science to Physics I/II, East's students are offered a world of physical science classes. Maintaining a standard of excellence which measures up to the abilities of its students, the Physical Science Department offers a well-developed program which can challenge students on all ability levels. The courses instill study habits in the students, as well as shape the students' thought patterns. East's science courses prepare their graduates for thinking clearly, college, and careers.

Science
All students take two years of American history. This insures that everyone is touched by the Social Studies Department. In addition, for the more motivated students, there are Western Civilization, law, and psychology classes. Enhancing the understanding of the past, the present, and the future, teachers help students to read, to analyze, and to draw conclusions about the world around them. While studying the events of the past, students see vital links between yesterday, today, and tomorrow. Comprehension and exposure to world culture is molding this generation's attitude towards the future. The Social Studies Department is an important part of this process.
Visual Arts

The Visual Arts Department touches everyone at Cherry Hill East. For those in its classes, it brings culture and beauty to an otherwise mundane day. Those who are not in an art class have at least one friend, in photography, who includes them in the arts by taking 1,001 pictures for class. The creativity of this area moves from painting, sculpture, and pottery to graphics, photography and films; from development of home decorating, culinary skills and fine needlework to art history and mass media. Every aspect and dimension of the arts is covered in these courses, encouraging the students to explore, discover, polish, and round out their education.

Mrs. Barbara Hopp, adviser to the award-winning EIDOLON, has had an article published dealing with the effects of media on high school students. Mrs. Hopp has been teaching a course on Mass Media since she came to East in September of 1980 from 10 years at West High School.

Mrs. Rita Barnes and Ms. Elaine McDonough teach Home Economics courses under the direction of the Art department.
Library Staff

The library and audio-visual department makes up the media center, located in the library wing. This area is the network for informational services as well as providing students with much needed equipment and supplies for special assignments or projects. In addition to use of TV monitors, slides, tapes and print material, many classes are conducted in the library, making it more than just a place to go to read. So, next time you have a research paper on Zulu tribes (due in two days), don't despair! Just walk down to the library wing and watch your problem get solved.

The Crew Who Keep Us Running

A Well-Oiled Machine

Did you ever really look at East? Where do the washed boards come from? Who scrubs the graffiti from the desk tops? Who picks up the candy boxes from the floors? Who picks up mountains of trash daily and keeps our hallways litter free? Obviously it is not the result of little elves, nor is it the result of our own efforts. Most students at East take the building and all of the behind the scenes effort necessary to maintain it, for granted. Our school is full of unsung heroes, people who are as necessary as our teachers, but rarely get any recognition for the job that they do.

Under the direction of assistant principal, Richard Lacovera, these people keep East, the Home of Champions, a clean home. In a school as large as East, maintenance could become overwhelming. To keep East running is a twenty-four hour a day, seven days a week job and Jim Crowley and George Curtis, along with their staff, are invaluable to our school and its well-being. We also cannot forget the constant efforts of Bob Mascio, our school engineer. East is the only school in the district with its very own engineer and we consider ourselves quite lucky to have him.

Have you ever wondered who that nice cheerful man delivering supplies and mail is? The man who is in charge of collecting books and provides classroom supplies and shares his abode with the Lost and Found? Tony Trombetta is always there with a smile and a helping hand. He is an integral part of each day at East as he delivers packages, books, candy orders and dozens of other tasks that keep us functioning.

Lastly, when all is said and done, how many of us would truly miss the cafeteria if it were to disappear? Where would we go between labs and during study halls? And most of all, now admit it, we really would be lost without our french fries, hotdogs, bagels and ice cream. Bernice Gehret is the driving force behind the kitchen we too often gripe about. Feeding 3,000 people is not an easy job, but Mrs. Gehret and her staff do just that and do it well.

So, as we recognize the gears that help East perform smoothly, we want to thank all of our unsung heroes who help East continue to be the well-oiled machine that we have come to call home.

Special Needs

Assisting the Campus Police by keeping the flow of students moving (especially through the infamous C-Wing corridor), verifying passes and dozens of other duties which help East get through the day are our hall monitors CAROL BRENBURGER and RENE DEACON.

In an attempt to cut down on repeated latenesses and other unacceptable student behavior, the administration has instituted our current in-school suspension program. This concept is offering students valuable educational activity and learning in replacement of out-of-school suspension. The students designated for this program receive individual class assignments from respective teachers. They are confined to a specific room for the period of their day, where they are obligated to complete the assigned work. The stress of this new program is to provide better work habits, keep the offending students in school and retain the educational strength which is the reason for our being. Hopefully by making this activity unpleasant, yet educationally sound, it is hoped that our “rule-bending” students will realize that the goal for all must be the best education possible. This program is conducted by faculty member ANDREW DODULIK.

"A student's mind is the seed and a teacher's work, the nourishment that helps it grow..."
The alarm ringing at 6:00 AM is not a welcome sound to a student who studied all night, hoping to pass that test first period. After being revived by a quick shower, deciding what attire to wear and eating the last chocolate Pop-Tart, the dash for the bus is under way.

Unfortunately, school does not provide relaxation since one must survive C-wing intersection (karate lessons are available), attempt to remove books from "tempermental" lockers and arrive in homeroom before 8:00.

After homeroom, the Three-Ring-Circus begins. Students rushing to class, and teachers enforcing crowd control fill the halls to maximum capacity. The day proceeds in this manner except for lunch and study hall, which provide a much needed rest.

The dismissal bell, signifying day’s completion does not necessarily mean the day is over for some students. After school activities such as sports, clubs, and music allow the opportunity to become more involved and the trusty late bus transports students home in time for dinner at McDonalds with friends.

A typical evening in the life of a student consists of homework, watching prime-time soaps, listening to the radio, talking on the phone (while the homework is supposed to be getting done), and finally, sleep.

Eventually, after what seems like an eternity, the highlight of a student’s life arrives: the weekend. For those fortunate enough not to be members of the working world, weekend festivities may include hanging out at the mall or taking in the latest flicks.

The truth is that a student’s life is diverse and complex. Whether studying for an exam, or partying with friends, one thing is sure, an East student’s life is never dull.

Cherry Hill East like any other institution, has its share of unsung heroes. We often overlook the value and importance of the people who get us to school alive and on time each morning. These remarkable heroes are the East bus-drivers. There are no students who have not silently thanked their drivers for depositing them at school on time that morning of the biology mid-term. Though the buses are sometimes crowded, proper rules are enforced and students always feel safe. Most students undoubtedly appreciate the opportunity to step onto a late-bus in the afternoon, rather than trek home, in rain or freezing weather. Our big yellow-busses are an important and appreciated asset to our school.

For those who inhabit the roads adjacent to Cherry Hill East, the East parking lot is a unique entity.

Wall to wall cars line the asphalt and a person may wonder if it is possible to enter or exit without being involved in a thirty car collision. Fortunately, it is very unlikely that a collision will occur and countless automobiles leave East safely every day.

When gazing out at the sea of cars, many types and colors can be identified. Beautifully kept Porches, Mercedes, and Jaguars sit next to "souped up" Mustangs and VWs. Some cars are obviously owned by students, while others appear "on loan" from generous parents. Whatever the make or year of the cars, the important fact stands that Cherry Hill East students are always diverse and individual right down to their transportation.
8:00 A.M. — “I Pledge Allegiance . . . ”

The bell rings while you’re running to homeroom and that means only one thing: it’s 8:00 and you are late. Another consequence is a trip to grade level, a day after being issued three late passes. With this in mind, you rush off to first period, having learned your lesson.

Amidst the mass of bodies that parade through the halls above the newest East students, bright balloons and a balloon toots the nominal sound. Balloons, a bunch sensation. Balloons, a bunch sensation. Bright, colored balloons and a special message can be sent to a friend or teacher or sibling from the occasion to just simple "cheering up" reasons.

In addition to the grade level homerooms assigned each year, there are several special homerooms designed for creativity and skill development. These provide an opportunity to several school groups. They can be connected to these groups, newspaper, yearbook, student council, and others. These groups are unique and provide a constant meeting place to discuss and communicate in the daily business of the day.

East not only has newsworthy activities and meetings, but we have our own news network. This network is broadcast to the student body to keep us well-informed of any and all activities.
8:15 AM The Day Begins

Incoming freshmen are fascinated by the confusion we affectionately call C-Wing intersection. This section of school may be crowded, but it is never dull. Students milling about, teachers trying to keep everyone in motion, and unfortunate “wheelers” of A.V. carts all merge into a sea of humanity.

When the student emerges on the other side of the intersection, he proceeds to visit his home away from home” - the locker. Each locker has a personality unto itself. Many are adorned with pictures, mirrors, stickers, and a bunch of old test papers.

The journey to the locker completed; the student moves hurriedly to class. Oh no! It’s day 3 and the smile fades. Lab!
Having a BEST FRIEND is a special privilege that many of us can experience if we are willing to work for it. Although the good times and the bad times may come and go, our best friends remain with us always. We may not remember our test grades, roommates, or teachers, but we will cherish our best friends forever.
Once long ago we entered East and someone said today is your lab day. For 85 minutes you will listen to your teacher. You will not go to lunch, you will miss one elective class a week. Lab provides an extra period to do in-depth scientific work or in-class writing. We scoff at the idea of missing lunch but when all is said and done, the experience is invaluable.

Lunch is the oasis in our day when we can relax, socialize and know that we will not be faced with a pop quiz. Actually, lunch is the time when the "grapevine" is in full swing and we learn about the upcoming pop quiz. Grab a pretzel, snatch some fries, down a Hi-C, get caught up on the latest gossip and proceed to the next class very well informed. That's what lunch is all about.

1. This casual dress is polished off by the classic denim jacket and jeans accompanied by the flannel and concert shirts. Sunglasses and long hair complete this laid-back image.

2. Bobbed hair and scholarly glasses enhance the hand-knitted, wool sweater and button-down blouse; penny loafers and bobby socks top it all off.

3. An argyle sweater, oxford, and corduroy pants furnish an All-American look as shown in GQ. His clean-cut appearance is highlighted by a friendly smile.

4. This sport attire includes a loose T-shirt, comfortable sweatpants, and assorted equipment. Always on the go, she can make her outfit work for any activity.

So A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man is due tomorrow and you haven't read past page 7, or Hamlet has you completely baffled... well there are always Cliff's Notes. Their bumble-bee covers are hard to miss, so be careful about bringing them to English class. The bane of English teachers' existences, could it be possible that they never use them? Remember the little warning at the beginning of the books, "Read the real book first, then use Cliff's." They really are a big help!

A Time To Be Scholarly

It's 6th period and you're about to take the big Physics test. You've been studying all day for this and now you just want to get it over with. If you look at another formula or square root, your brain will explode. So you sit down and the teacher passes out the test. This is it. All you need to do is ace this test, (Yeah, right!), and then you will be happy and so will your parents. "OK class ... you may begin!"
Senior Shots
2:25 PM ... After School
At Freshman orientation we are told not to waste our years at East going home to watch the soaps. Although many people at East do leave at 2:30 to go watch who’s cheating who, many more of us stay and do get involved.

As we travel on our journey through East’s halls we see the accomplishments of those who have gone before us. These halls seem to tell us to do something more than study. They tell us to get involved and leave our mark on our home away from home. To anyone who has ever stayed up all night preparing for the Spring Musical, FOP Christmas Party, or an Eudolon deadline the value of getting involved will remain forever.

What is almost as vital to a student's existence as McDonalds? No, Not Roy Rogers, it's M&Ms! These little multi-colored beauties are perhaps more important at East than Cliff Notes and only cost 50¢. These suppliers of nourishment and smiles are sold by clubs and organizations and have sent innumerable students to Florida or paid for many debts. All profits go to respective clubs and happy students seem to follow these "walking vending machines" known as candy sellers.

M&Ms are especially appreciated on lab days by those students who didn't take a lunch. Where else could a junior with six majors find such delicious pick-me-ups? Blow Pops have become the biggest test necessity ever and every classroom has its emphatic munchers. Though teachers aren't always thrilled by the candy store atmosphere, they realize that M&Ms have a certain allure that ravished students can't seem to resist.

So, next time the sweet tooth strikes, help is nearby. Just look for the student with the bag marked "Candy Fund-Raiser" and hand him 50¢. Relief is that easy.

For the past four years, we have been filling in these pieces of our lives. From the first day of school to Spirit Weeks, to the murals which brighten our halls to the plays we've performed, to the homework lugged home - the pieces have surely fallen into place. We have shared so many things that they are now tightly interlocked. The bonds can never be broken as they build to complete the memories of our Student Life.
Recognized by East in 1984, PAVAS is a national society honoring juniors and seniors who have contributed their precocious talents to the arts. These talents focus primarily on the industrial, creative, culinary, and visual arts, in addition to the performing arts, including drama, dance, film and stage productions.

In the spring, the members of the society display their talents during the annual PAVAS Festival. In the courtyard, the artists construct booths to show their pieces for East's viewing pleasure. In the auditorium, the performers present a variety of specialized assemblies each period of the day.

After the Festival ends, the work of the artists and performers continues. Their efforts are further shown on exhibit and in other assemblies for everyone at East to enjoy. PAVAS, acknowledging East's finest in the arts, contributes significantly to the entertainment and culture at East.
The Debate and Mock Trial teams are two of the most demanding and challenging club activities at East. Both require intense preparation, research and analytical thinking. In addition, extraneous speaking skills are developed. Both teams are highly competitive and diversified for their topics can range from the trade policy of the United States to the rights of the individual. These young people are well-trained by adviser, Robert Nation and if you are going to tackle one of these youngsters in an argument, you best have your facts straight!

What does the 5th of May signify? This is an official Spanish Holiday and the club provides an authentic feast for the entire student body. Tacos, Spanish desserts and sodas are sold and all profits go to the Spanish Club's treasury. The Cinco de Mayo festival is always a memorable event.

The Junior Classical League (Latin Club) participates in a wide range of activities. In September, the members attended a regional meeting of Latin Clubs. All of the members dressed up to take part in a Roman fashion show. In addition to cultural activities, the Latin Club competes in various sporting events.

The Language Clubs

Whether your language is Spanish, French or Latin, East has a club for you. The language clubs are among the most enjoyable and productive in the school. Most of their activities provide an opportunity to practice the respective language and to enhance the understanding of foreign culture. Events include dinners, parties, trips and foreign films. In addition, the language clubs have their own sports league and compete against each other in softball, bowling and volleyball.

EIDOLON starts the first day of the school year with formation of ideas that develop into pages of planned designs that become layouts that slowly develop into a pictorial story of what East is and what we are.

It takes dedication and countless hours, many times mixed with frustration. We worry about pictures that are horizontal for vertical spaces, copy that doesn't fit, rosters that are incomplete, deadlines that have to be met and if there will be enough money to pay for it all. But dedication to a belief and hard work (a lot of fun too), pay off and the book is completed.

On that last deadline date, a heavy burden is lifted from tired shoulders and pride takes over. We laugh, cheer and feel good about what we accomplished. We realize that we represent you and your journal for posterity. That's a pretty sobering thought. You have entrusted us with this job. AND WE DID IT!
In keeping with the tradition: EIDOLON 1986 - 1st place winner of the American Scholastic Associated Press Award.
Students Against Drunk Driving, better known as S.A.D.D., is perhaps the most influential organization at East. It began only a few years ago, and has grown and developed tremendously. Today, with its twenty co-chairpersons leading a large number of members, S.A.D.D. definitely gets its message across - "Don't mix drinking and driving!" These people have clearly dedicated themselves to informing their peers as to the seriousness of drunk driving. If there's one word that comes to mind when thinking of this organization, it is commitment. S.A.D.D.'s commitment to creating awareness and its concern for everyone is well worth our thanks. Publicity is the key word to this group. Whether it be through sweatshirts, pins, posters, or "This Turkey Drove Drunk" fliers in the parking lot, the S.A.D.D. chapter of 1987 has had a profound influence on all of us.

The most impressive S.A.D.D. event took place on February 10th when East hosted students from all over New Jersey and Pennsylvania for a seminar on drinking and driving. This event was part of S.A.D.D. awareness week which brought Ron Jaworski to East to talk to our students on this very important issue. The seminar consisted of guest speakers as well as several workshops aimed at illustrating how each school deals with the problem of drunk driving. The program was a huge success, and all S.A.D.D. members are to be congratulated for their terrific job throughout the year.

Under the new leadership of Mr. Tony Sipp, the EASTSIDE staff has met and exceeded even last year's standards. Although there are only thirty staff members, EASTSIDE provides opportunities for writers, photographers, and artists all over the school. The paper is issued once a month. However, the staff is constantly developing new ideas and working to surpass everyone's expectations.

This year's staff is anxious to test its creativity. Thus far, it has created an editorial section, a sounding board, and has used companion pieces to make EASTSIDE a more colorful piece of journalism.

All this brain-storming culminates each month in a late-night visit to the printer in Medford. But when reading an issue of EASTSIDE, one must remember—although the paper is only issued every four weeks, the minds of these journalists never cease to produce new ideas.

Approximately forty student models pose in a range of casual to formal wear. (It's interesting to note that last spring the majority of models were male!) Students who aren't participating as models work in various other capacities as the demand warrants. The final show lasts about an hour and a half, witnessed by 200-300 enthusiastic adoring fans.

DECA, the largest youth group in the nation, is a co-curricular club which is an important aspect of the Marketing Education program. Other DECA (Distributive Education Club of America) activities include running the school store and competing at local, state and national levels in specific interest areas such as art, fashion, food, advertising and finance. Also included in the Marketing Education curriculum is on-the-job training, a true to life experience for which the students receive a course grade.

Mr. Charles Martine and Mr. Anthony Fiocco, Cherry Hill East's Marketing Coordinators attempt to place students in jobs which reflect their special interests and specialties.

Our DECA program is highly active and demanding with its success factor running very high as students are given the opportunity to "practice" for their futures.

A taste of Communism will be shared with a small fraction of East students this summer, the Cherry Hill East Wind Ensemble. Though the school as a whole vaguely knows about this group, Wind Ensemble stands proudly in the public eye, and the long hours of practice and vigorous effort are rewarded. At competitions, their professional attitudes shine and judges score accordingly.

Over the past five years, this talented group has combined their efforts, acquiring a national reputation. This acknowledgement has led to the planned trip to Russia after the 1987 graduation. The Wind Ensemble's reputation emanates from past years of competitions and invitations to play. Perhaps the first significant performance, taking part in the Newport CAWS Festival, set the course for years ahead. After receiving a perfect score there in 1982, an invitation was issued to return in 1985 for a second showing. They impressed the judges once more with selections including "The Shostakovich Symphony No. 5" and "Incantation and Dance" by John Barnes Chance. The Newport Festivals became a major reason for their being chosen to represent the United States in Russia. In addition to Newport, Wind Ensemble has performed at Trenton State College in the New Jersey Concert Festival for the last four years, coming in first place every time, with the highest score of thirty High School bands that took part in the competitions. In 1986, the Wind Ensemble was invited to Temple University for a lecture and performance because of their reputation as "... one of the most outstanding Wind Ensembles at the High School level...

A prestigious nomination for the John Philip Sousa Award fulfilled this title easily. A final triumph for the group was a superior rating at the New York Festival at the end of the 1986 school year.

A few weeks before summer of 1986, Mr. Yurko announced the trip. The invitation for cultural exchange with Russia was no longer a rumor. This program with Russia is in its first year and the C.H.E. Wind Ensemble was selected along with one other group from Texas. This honor, after being accepted by the school board, will become a reality if foreign relations permit. The tour will include visiting and playing in the cities of Moscow, Tallinn, and Leningrad, as well as making stops at various museums and landmarks, and discovering what it is like to ride in a sleeper train. The combined talents of a Russian band and its conductor with the Cherry Hill East Wind Ensemble and Mr. Yurko will present an unforgettable concert to end the trip on a high note.

East Singers

Because it is comprised of the most maturely developed voices, East Singers has become the 'honors' curricular choir of Cherry Hill East. Mrs. Barbara Solly, who is the current director of music for the township of Cherry Hill, began this group sixteen years ago, until Martha Fletcher took charge of it in 1978. Under the guidance of Mrs. Fletcher, East Singers traveled to Orlando, Florida in the spring of 1986 for the All-American Choral Competition, where it performed and won first place in the mixed choir (SATB) category. Moreover, East Singers in past years has sung with the Haddonfield Symphony and the South Jersey Wind Symphony, along with performing at Temple Emanuella every year in the month of February.

This year East Singers is under the direction of Mrs. Marilyn Grisham, whose first year in conducting the group will hopefully reward her as much as her presence does to East's music department.

Four years ago the Marching Cougars Band was simply a pep band for the team's football games. Now, under the leadership of Robert Goldman, the band has entered its second year of competitive marching. This year the group received several awards including the "Best Drum Major Award" for Group IV in the Chapter Championships and an invitation to participate as a finalist in the Atlantic Coast Conference Championship Competition.

The band deserves accolades for enduring cold and rainy football games, long practices, and grueling parades. All the hard work was paid off in May with an exciting trip to Montreal.

An exact replica of Gilligan’s Island, a reproduction of the Atlantic City boardwalk, a very authentic looking haunted mansion, complete with ominous tombstones and a wonderful rendition of Barnum and Bailey’s Circus - where else could you find such wonderful attractions but at Cherry Hill East, during action-packed SPIRIT WEEK.
How To Get Bitten By A Cougar And Love It!

SPIRIT WEEK 1986 began Sunday, the 21st of September with the Cougar relays, including speed dressing, pushing eggs into one's mouth and a free-for-all apple bob.

At the conclusion of these strenuous activities, the senior class took the lead.
Monday brought the long awaited Tug-of-War and the bicycle race. (We couldn’t figure out if the bikes were too small or our legs too long), but as expected, the senior class conquered the bike situation and tagged to victory in the boys Tug-of-War competition. The junior girls defeated their opponents, racking up the class of ’88’s first score.

The next morning, the entire student body began their voting for the class King and Queen. The contestants were: Eric Savitch and Ellen Fenigstein for the senior class, Terry Pearl and Chris Blair represented the juniors, Jeff Fenigstein and Marci Shapiro ran for the sophomore class and Ernie Borrelli and Lara Kaplan battled for the freshmen.

The seniors won hands down and were awarded a big 500 points.
Tuesday's event was the famous pie-eating contest. These contests were held during lunch periods with the seniors taking a messy 3 to 1 victory over the scrappy freshmen.

The competition continued into Wednesday with enthusiasm peaking. Students searched all over the school looking for the coveted hidden cougar cards which carry a value ranging from 5 to 250 points. The ultimate find is the gold cougar, which always seems to elude finding. The class of '88 discovered the most amount of cougars and the tension heightened.

Wednesday's events started with the popular cake decorating contest. Each class designs a designated number of cakes which are judged by an exclusive panel of professional cake decorating "experts." The class of '87 took the awards with their four foot tall palm tree!

The milk drinking opened Thursday's activities. In this sophisticated event a guy from each class drinks milk from a baby bottle while seated on a female classmate's lap. The winners this year were divided almost equally among all four classes.
On Thursday evening, the most extensive and creative event took place; the hall decorating competition. These creative endeavors ranged from the senior's "S.S. Minnow" to the freshmen class' facsimile of an Atlantic City Casino. All were brilliantly designed, making the judging a most difficult task. After much deliberation, 1st place went to the Seniors.
SPIRIT WEEK 1986 concluded with the student body, clad in red and white stuffing into the gym for a Pep Rally to honor the Fall sports teams. During the rally, the seniors clinched the jump-rope contest which put them over the top to capture the lead and emerge victorious as the winners.

Though each class strives to win we must remember that the true meaning of Spirit Week always shines through. Pride and Spirit for Cherry Hill East, that’s what it is really all about.

In the words of Mr. Cost, “Whether seniors or freshmen, we are all Cherry Hill High School East.” This is the unity of pride and image that makes us what we are, a truly winning school.
The autumn breeze burned the eyes as the players exchanged determined glares. Jaws clenched and muscles tensed as the competitors stood face to face, waiting to release their pent up fury. It was October 18, 1986, and the year's Powder Puff football game was about to begin.

The senior and junior classes' most menacing football players go head to head in this annual show of female spirit. Don't think the guys weren't in on the action too ... Who do you think were our cheerleaders and fearless coaches? The men of East un-daubingly tried to cheer and coach their teams to victory.

As juniors, the Class of '87 was successful in the Powder Puff competition, winning 14-6. Unfortunately their senior attempt was not quite as glorious. The hex remains ... no junior class has yet returned to the Powder Puff fields as seniors, and left victorious. The juniors won 6-0, will they break the curse and win as seniors as well? Each player, victorious or defeated, deserves a hand for a battle well fought! None of us will ever forget . . . .

POWDER PUFF FOOTBALL
"There are no such things as vampires!" you say, and that "Such an idea is bloody batty!"

Oh is it? ... Well I'm sorry, my dear chap, but I beg to differ. Where were you during the fall of 1986? Did you not hear Miss Lucy's blood curdling screams of terror echoing through East's halls? Or Renfield babbling incessantly about the Master (Dracula)? Perhaps you were safely tucked away on October 24 and 25, and November 1. There are witnesses, you see, Professor Van Helsing, Mrs. Seward, and Jonathan Harker, Miss Wells and Butterworth, Collins and Mina. Explain the six vampire wives! We must not forget the hundreds who came especially to see the Count. Not one was disappointed as Dracula appeared with a puff of smoke and an air of mystery. As the plot brought out the secret of Lucy's illness, East's drama department chilled our blood! What would the Count say about that?

So, just remember on that dark, dreary night — when you hear a wolf howl, and see a white face with red eyes staring down at you ... yes, my friends ... vampires do exist!

"Homecoming is so much fun, so exciting... but for me it is really sad... I've spent so much time here and really love East, this game, the students... and now I've got to leave for winter hibernation, and they won't even let me bring my banjo..."

"There's a lot of pressure on the team. With everyone watching and expecting us to beat our archrival West... We've practiced long and hard and it's great to see it all pay off."

"It is so much fun being a part of this excitement! I love being in the limelight and seeing all the former students return for this great game. I like knowing that I've contributed to the spirit of East."
Homecoming is the most exciting and best attended football game of the year. The fact that East plays archrival West in this classic event is far from secondary. Homecoming is always on Thanksgiving morning and seems to be the perfect way to start the long holiday weekend.

The preparations go on for weeks with the float assemblies, practices, signs and banners being readied while emotions and spirits run high. It is not just a school event. It seems that Cherry Hill comes out to watch and cheer. But most important is that our graduates come home, back to friends, families and the excitement of bands and floats and the pride of once again being an active part of East.

Who are these people who contribute to the activities going on this day? East's Yearbook took a closer look and profiled the many people who make Homecoming the special, exciting event that it is.
"Homecoming is an opportunity for alumni to join with present students and keep the traditions of East alive... an opportunity for the students to show their pride in their individual class and in their school in a spirit of friendly competition both on and off the athletic field."

"This is my last year of homecoming, but I'm really proud that I've been picked to represent my school... When I see this game next year, I'll have graduated, but East will always be first in my heart."
"Being elected Homecoming Queen is an honor I will always cherish. This has been one of the most exciting and memorable days of my life. I will be back next year as a graduate...I just can't believe it's almost over!"

Queen

"Homecoming is our last performance...no more late night practices, no more long busrides, no more being called "bandies", but this is also our last chance to bombard Mr. G. with confetti and cereal. Sure, we'll miss it all, but we've got the memories."

It is true that we of East are very proud of our award-winning reputation, but even more important is our reputation as a giving school. Once again, our students demonstrated this caring generosity through two incredibly successful blood drives that were held in January and May. Students and staff gave their time and much-needed blood to help fill the depleted quotas.

The two blood drives were sponsored by the American Red Cross with over 300 pints collected at each session. Students worked as chairmen and volunteers to organize the procedures with over fifty students assisting the Red Cross personnel.

With doughnuts and juice as energy boosters, our people lined up in the library and filled bottle after bottle with much needed blood. A deep sense of care coupled with a strong desire to help was the only reason needed for these dedicated donors.

U.N. Session Held At East

Experience, or in this case simulated experience is the best teacher. The Model U.N. is proof that the best way to learn is through doing. Over 200 students are given the opportunity to represent countries in human rights and international terrorism, as they plan and execute their own U.N. session. Paralleling the proceedings of an actual meeting, proposals are debated and voted upon. Participants are given the rare opportunity to discuss and argue differing ideological viewpoints. Through this unique activity, students learn about the U.N. and how it affects their world.
Step Behind The Scenes

as we track

Man of LaMancha

through early stages of production

Choreographing a musical production requires a unique attention to detail. It is more than blocking a show, working the dance routines, rehearsing the music. It is auditions and crew calls, lighting design and costume fittings, stage sets and props, photos and publicity, musical scores and dozens of countless details which culminate in a successful spring musical production.

Over three hundred students involved themselves in the Broadway smash hit, Man of LaMancha. After nearly ten weeks of grinding rehearsals, the curtain went up Friday, March 27th, overwhelming the opening night audience with talent, enthusiasm and confidence from the East drama students.

The story takes place in a 16th century dungeon during the terrible days of the Spanish Inquisition. Don Miguel de Cervantes has been arrested for crimes against the church and state. He and his man-servant, Sancho Panza are thrown below to a room overflowing with murderers and thieves. To survive amongst them, he acts out his story, using the other prisoners as characters in his imagination - a play-within-a-play. The material of this type of production presents unique challenges to those students working all facets of production.

The technical crew, led by Mr. Thomas Weaver, has constructed the largest set ever at East, with a fourteen foot tower, a 27 foot staircase, a raked stage (slanted toward the audience on an angle), multi-levels and platforms.

Mr. Bruce Yurko conducted the Pit Orchestra with a difficult musical score of unusual rhythm, requiring great endurance and stamina from the highly talented musicians. Audiences found the musical presentation to be "unbelievably exciting." Mr. Robert Nation, as director, moved the cast flawlessly through the saga of Don Quixote, as the student thespians met the challenge of playing characters who play characters. Miss Linda Denne choreographed the show with former vocal instructor, Mrs. Martha Fletcher developing the vocal strength.

Putting a show of this calibre together took the combined efforts of a dual cast of over 80 students, a stage crew of 150 and a pit orchestra of forty who offered endless hours, limitless dedication and talent - both from the students and their teacher/directors whose love and patience are the ultimate ingredient necessary to produce the show we will never forget!

National Scholastic Art Award Finalists

East placed 17 winners in the Tri-State Regional Exhibition of the 60th Annual Scholastic Art Awards Competition. The art awards program took place in Philadelphia in January 1987 at the Philadelphia College of Art.

Following the exhibition of regional winners at the College, the pieces move on to New York City for national judging. Honors are awarded in 15 fine art classifications which range in all media; two and three dimensional design, drawing, painting, printmaking and photography.

Starting in mid-March and continuing through July, a team of distinguished artists and art educators jury the finalist pieces following recommendations by the National Advisory Committee of art educators. This process of elimination will continue until on the national level, the top student achievement in the creative arts is selected.

National honors will include tuition scholarships granted by art schools and colleges, gold medals, certificates and special recognition awards by national co-sponsors. The final pieces will be exhibited at the National High School Exhibition of the IBM Gallery of Science and Art in New York City.

There is, in addition, a separate exhibition for the national photography winners which is under the auspices of the Scholastic committee and Kodak photography awards. Senior Christine Dolan is the first East student to place as a finalist in the Kodak judging with her entry, winning the Best of Show Award, the Kodak Medallion of Excellence. The photography judging will not be completed until September of 1987, which unfortunately will be too late to announce the time, place and winner for this edition of Eidolon.
FOCUS ON SPORTS
Robert Adelizzi, the present part time trainer at Cherry Hill East has been aiding our athletes for more than ten years. He has been a certified athletic trainer in the state of New Jersey since 1974. One of the first high school trainers to work in this state, he studied at Penn State and took his graduate work at Temple University. Mr. Adelizzi earned a dual M.Ed. in Physical Education/Health and Biology.

As a result of East hiring a full time trainer, Mr. Adelizzi is no longer burdened with the additional tasks of this position. However, he still carries out the duties of rehabilitation and teaching Physical Education for students who are handicapped, traumatized or suffering from sports related injuries.

In addition to this responsibility, he also teaches a semester course, Analysis of Athletic Injury. This course has been offered since 1976 and Mr. Adelizzi was the first in the state of New Jersey to teach this subject matter. There are two classes every semester with an average of thirty students. Mr. Adelizzi is also the adviser of the newly formed Sports Medicine club, founded by Ira LaVoe and Sonny Goel for those students interested in sports medicine related careers.

According to Mr. Adelizzi, "my job takes up many hours, but it is enjoyable and very rewarding."

Tony Decker, the present trainer is the first full time trainer in the school's history. Mr. Decker did his undergraduate work in sports medicine at East Stroudsburg College and completed his graduate work at the University of Virginia. While attending both schools, he worked as a student sports trainer. He now devotes time to those students interested in athletic training and teaches them as an integral part of his daily program.

Why did Cherry Hill East take on a full time trainer after eighteen years without one? When Mr. Cost was asked this question, he stated, "There was a need for more than just after school services." The school converted the once bleak weight room into a complete, sophisticated rehabilitation/prevention center. So far, it has been well-received, for the need was there.

Presently, in addition to a full time trainer, there are eight student trainers who help Mr. Decker and in re-

East Under The Lights

The essence of getting rough, hitting hard, scrambling for the elusive pigskin and a pile of bodies is enough to excite players and fans alike when it comes to the sport of football. However, when this action takes place under the lights, a magic spell seems electrifying and all encompassing. As the glaring lights burst through the night sky, each play seems to send shock waves through the stands.

The added dimension of football under the lights seems to motivate and drive the players to the peak of their ability. They surge forward with a new energy and an enthusiasm that keeps the fans on their feet. Screams of delight come from the fans as each play is executed on the field.

A hard-hitting line, that long pass, the run for extra yardage and the touchdown take on new meaning as the glaring lights illuminate the field. With every first down, the stands echo thunderously.

Adding to the thrill of having our East team in total control, the Marching Band in all its splendor with twirlers and flags and rifles all create a special excitement that captures a moment forever.

This is what was experienced by the East players and fans alike for a few games this past season. It even seems to bring out the fans in record numbers for everyone seems to enjoy the thrill that only a night football game can bring.

Even a cold hot dog and a flat soda seem to taste so much better under the lights. But the best taste of all is the victory that we of East tasted on this wonderful Fall night when the stars were not only in the sky but on the gridiron as well.

At present, we shall have to enjoy this magic on away fields, but day or night, the Cherry Hill East Cougars are some winning team!

Boys Vault To State Finals

This year's boys' gymnastics team has produced outstanding results. Many of the team's members broke individual as well as school records. Brian Cullemacine, a senior, reached the State Finals performing exceptionally on the high bars. Sophomore, Scott Drucker, set a personal best by breaking the school record on the parallel bars. Furthermore, Alexander Franco reached the individual state final and performed outstandingly well. Richard Hyland also qualified for the individual state finals as well. Sophomore, Evan Richman, who was injured for most of the year, earned a position for himself on the Junior National Gymnastics team. Overall, the boys' gymnastics team, led by captains Kenneth Serviss, Spencer Turer and Michael Czuzak, ended with a superb season.

Boys Dominate Court

Last Spring, under the expert tutelage of coaches Ralph Ipri and David Cole, the East Boys Tennis Team dazzled the opposition and clinched The Olympic American Tennis Conference.

Special recognition was given to Andrew Jaffe and Marc Weintraub for making All South Jersey! To add to the accolades, the entire starting Varsity team made the Group IV First Team. The starting Varsity included Mark Levenberg, Frank Scarlett, Marc Weintraub, Andrew Jaffe, John Shipley and Jon Langer.

To keep in shape and on top of the situation, the team holds intramural matches every month when they are not playing in Conference matches.

Coach Heisman Reaches 200th Win!

This year marked a certain milestone for the soccer program at East. Towards the end of the season, coach, Ed Heisman, captured his 200th win at the helm of the Varsity soccer team. Although the boys finished a close second to Cherry Hill West in the Olympic Conference, they still compiled a very impressive record this year. Most of the team will without question be back next year. On that note, we can all look anxiously forward to an impressive season next fall. Good luck to all!

HOME COMING CLASSIC

The Cougars Vs. The Lions

November 27, 1986. Thanksgiving Day. A cold clear day after a day of rain. It is the day to sit in the damp cold on wood-splintered benches and be a part of the most exciting sporting event of the year. It is the Cherry Hill Turkey Bowl. It is the day when the two "sister" schools fight it all out on the gridiron.

The stands are a sea of expectant faces. Red and white and purple and white colors are dazzling. On this day, we are not Cherry Hill, we are East and West. The classic brings out not only football enthusiasts, but also the former classmates, teachers and friends. The moods are exhilarating. This is their day!

East wins the toss and to the delight of their fans, elects to receive. The noisy, excited crowd is on their feet as West kicks a beauty. The ball tumbles through the air with the approval of the spectators and is caught by the Cougars on their own ten yard line.

As the Cougars make their way up the field, it is obvious to the team as well as the fans that the muddy field is going to be a major factor in the outcome of the game. Running would not be a pleasant chore for the halfbacks. With these field conditions, successful passing would be the key to victory. With this realization in mind, the Cougars took to the air. Senior quarterback Cliff Foley threw remarkable pass after pass to be caught and moved by wide receiver Eric Radhill. (Foley would complete before the end of the game, 10 of 22 for 120 yard gain in spite of a slippery ball and unsure footing.) Despite the Foley-Radhill passing efforts, the Cougars were unable to get the ball into the end zone for the coveted touchdown. They had to settle for a field goal by senior Mike Medinger which gave East a 3 - 0 edge. Senior Brett Sherman capped a 60 yard drive in 10 plays and drove home that elusive touchdown. Medinger added the conversion point and the East Cougars had a comfortable 10 - 0 cushion with almost 10 minutes left in the first half.

The East defense also had their day. They had four takeaways in the form of one fumble recovery and three interceptions by seniors Rich Di Veniero, Dave Pisckie and Dave Zmijewski. The Cougars defense held the West Lion's offense to a total of only 118 yards.

The second half also belonged to the Cougars. As running back Brian Reinert sloshed 72 yards down the field, splashing into the end zone with a mud-caked ball held high, the stands roared with the thrill of victory. Medinger spiked through the uprights with the final point and the game belonged to the Cougars 17 - 0.

Cherry Hill High School East would end their season with a 7 and 2 record and their 16th win out of 18 Thanksgiving Day games. This win over Cherry Hill West also gave the Cougars third place in the Suburban Cup standings.

Despite the enthusiasm this classic generates, this may possibly be the last game played on Thanksgiving Day. The state has passed a ruling that would make the football season start a week earlier ending on the Saturday before Thanksgiving in 1987. There is a remote possibility that this ruling may take two years to enforce and if that is the case, we will have this exciting appetizer to our turkey day dinner, a little longer.

Hopefully, the powers that be will realize that this is the official "Homecoming" for hundreds of Cherry Hill alumni and that there is much more to lose here besides a football game.

*CAPTAINS
Time it was and what a time it was.
It was a time of innocence,
A time of confidences.
Long ago it must be,
I have a photograph,
Preserve your memories,
They're all that's left you.
