ADVERTISING SECTION 265
For 719 of us, September 1987 marked a wondrous milestone.

We started the new school year with hallowed status.

We were the seniors. An enviable position of rank and privilege, bolstered by a superior feeling of accomplishment.

Whatever social status was derived from this position came with the responsibility of leaving our own legacy on the annals of time. We had a tradition handed down from previous classes and we knew that heritage must be continued.

It has not all been glory. It has been hard work. With determined pride we dedicated ourselves to the principles and ideals that East had set before us. We share the honor of being East history; part of her past and a piece of her future.

We are her children forever. We are East.
To The Class of 1988:

Those of us who have worked with you and have watched you grow and mature during these past four years have derived great satisfaction from your accomplishments. The manner in which you have conducted yourselves as scholars, as athletes, and as students has been a credit to you, your parents, your school and your community. Your class achieved a first for Cherry Hill High School East by having the highest number of Merit Scholarship semifinalists of any high school in the state as well as the highest number of semifinalists in the history of our school. As students before you have left you a rich legacy so too have you done your part to uphold the tradition of excellence that has come to be associated with Cherry Hill High School East over the years.

East is now a part of your past. But as your future unfolds before you, you will never forget that part of your life. The memories are yours to enjoy for a lifetime. Those of us who have shared these past four years with you are honored to be a part of those memories.

On behalf of the entire staff I congratulate you upon your graduation from Cherry Hill High School East. May your future bring happiness, success, and the best that life has to offer.

Sincerely,

Anthony R. Cost
Principal
How to Play the Game

What is life really like in Cherry Hill? It's a fast-paced, competitive world where everyone strives to reach the top. The stakes are high - there is much to lose and much to gain. Just completing the game and graduating is an accomplishment.

Cherry Hill Pursuit

Rules of Play

- Equipment - Money, clothes, cars, charm, and wit.
- Object of Game - To finish "on top."
- Start of Play - Begins in kindergarten. Competition to be the best - smartest, most popular, best-dressed, best grades.
- Continuation of Play - Keeping up those qualities throughout high school and college.
- Winning the Game - Completing your goals.

BUT REMEMBER - It's not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game that counts.
"We the People of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union ..." With these words begin the Constitution, one of the most important documents in American history. All across the nation, proud citizens have been commemorating the bicentennial anniversary of the Constitution.

The students here at Cherry Hill High School East honored the two hundred year old document on September 17, 1987. That morning the school population recited in unison the Pledge of Allegiance as the R. O. T. C. students, in full military attire, participated in a symbolic raising of the American flag, followed by the East marching band’s enthusiastic rendition of our national anthem.

Later in the afternoon, former Chief Justice Warren Burger read to the nation the hallowed words of the Preamble to the Constitution, followed by President Reagan leading the nation in a unison recital of the Pledge to the flag. On this day, we realized that we were a part of an historic moment.

EAST HONORS CONSTITUTION: 200TH YEAR
SEPTEMBER 17, 1987
Each time has its bright trends. Each time is its own. In our time we munched endless packs of M&M's (plain and peanut), sucked on Blow Pops and Astro Pops, nibbled Reese's pieces, Gummy Bears, Twizzlers and drank cans and cans of Diet Sodas. We took our TV munchies, settled down in front of the TV set and mentally helped Vanna White turn the letters on "Wheel of Fortune", calling out the letters to help the contestant.

We were amazed by a computer character by the oddball name of Max Headroom, who stammered and gurgled silly nonsensical and a little alien from another world as a popular TV "star" and friend, "Alf". The best commercials were for lite beer and a swingin' "Mac Tonight" kept us going back to those "golden arches."

as the letters began to fill the blanks.

Straining our memory, we recalled obscure facts for the trivia game show, "Jeopardy." The beloved soaps necessitated rushing home immediately after school for another spellbinding episode of "General Hospital" and "The Guiding Light", which celebrated its 30th year on television in 1987. We laughed and we cried as Maddie and zany Dave of "Moonlighting" fame, argued and bickered throughout their ever changing relationship.

"Miami Vice" remained exciting and the favorite sitcoms. "The Cosby Show" and "Family Ties" continued to tickle our funny bones, probably because we all knew an Alex Keaton.

Tearing our eyes away from the TV screen, we listened to the music of U2 and BON JOVI on our walkmans and CD players. Some of us absorbed the sound waves of MADONNA, RUN DMC and BRUCE SPRINGSTEEN on WCAU 98 and Eagle radio 106. Others remained loyal fans of 93.3 WMMR'S "Morning Zoo" and WYSP'S Howard Stern. Anxiously we camped out in mile-long lines waiting to get lucky for "Grateful Dead" and "Pink Floyd" concert tickets.

No one considered staying home on the weekends. Friday night found Cherry Hill teens at the Cherry Hill Mall to be seen and to see the latest flicks. Cinema trendsetters of the summer of '87 was a bit lackluster, but it was something to do as we went to see "Stakeout", "The Untouchables", "La Bamba", and the latest James Bond adventure with a new 007, Timothy Dalton in "Living Daylights." "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" celebrated its 50th anniversary as a Disney classic. With their visual thirst quenched, East teens frequented the popular eateries. TGI Friday's, Haagen Daz, Casa Lupita and Cherry Hill's old reliable Ponzio's, were always there to satisfy ravenous appetites with burgers, fries, cheese steaks and tacos. Washed it all down with a strawberry shake or diet soda and we were ready to conquer the balance of the night. Hot, summer nights found us heading for the shore points. We always said, "there were as many Cherry Hill kids in Wildwood as there were in Cherry Hill."

Wherever we went we had to look "cool". Girls sported expensive brand name labels such as Guess, Forenza, Esprit, Limited Express and of course, Benetton, the popular and socially acclaimed designer label from Italy. While wearing their trendy oversized sweaters, girls adorned their ear lobes with several sets of tiny earrings and added large hoop earrings and barely concealed their thighs in mini skirts. It was a year that "anything goes." Fashion was what you wanted it to be. Hemlines on skirts ranged from mid-thigh to almost ankle length, from heavy denim to slinky, soft, silky fabrics.

The female sex was not the only one to satisfy its fetish for fashion. Both the guys and the gals discovered their dollars disappeared quickly as they purchased acid washed denim jeans and jackets, college sweatshirts, Swatch watches and leather bomber jackets. Sneakers were high-top Reebocks and Converse, worn unlaced in a myriad of new colors and even some wild patterns.

Several of us clipped the longer hairstyle which recently had been popular and went to a far extreme by shaving the sides of our heads. A few others wore a thin, long braided strip of hair down our back. We began to notice that the kids who used to dye their hair purple and orange were rapidly becoming an endangered species.

We teenagers, on the verge of becoming responsible adults, still had a great fondness for toys. 1986 and 1987 were the years of the teddy bear and 1988 seemed to be ready to continue the love for these cuddly, plush toys. The most popular pastimes involved hackey-sac, skate boards, and a revival of the 40's - soft, pliable, green Gumby. Computers replaced the old typewriters as an important gift. However, the ultimate toy still remained - the car (preferably, a Porsche!)

Although distinct groups and trend setters abounded at East: clean-cut Preppies, sporty Jocks, laid-back Metalheads, Brains and the clique of chic, every East student held and offered some individual tastes and styles. Still, when some preferences became the "musts" of the majority, we gave in to the "peer pressure", created the trends of our times - our statement of teen life, 1988.

The Health Club Look offered us shiny Spandex tights worn with high-cut leg body suits for an aerobics workout with Jane Fonda via videotape. Exercise and fitness were the watch-words of the 80's. We were all on diets (the girls at least) and figure watching was essential for both the girls and the boys. Somethings just never change! Of course, there were those of us girls who traded in the usual gym class attire for the trendy mens boxer shorts. We did not raid Dad's underwear drawer (that would be really "tacky"), but rather shopped selectively for the patterns that fit our fashion need.

Socially, we expressed our love for our friends and schoolmates with mylar balloons for birthdays. Special occasions gave us the opportunity to have special messages delivered to homerooms with candy canes, carnations, chocolate kisses and lollipops. We surprised our friends by decorating their locker doors to resemble elongated gift boxes. We added a colorful bouquet of helium-filled balloons and aptly embarrassed those we professed to love.

We were always absent from school on the day of our 17th birthday. We had to go to Berlin for the coveted driver's license. This was the ultimate gift. Once we had our license (and it didn't matter if we had a car or not), the next priority was the visit to the campus police office for the status symbol parking sticker. This little number gave us the privilege of parking on school grounds, usually in a faculty member's parking space. If we had a car that was a convertible (ah!), it was mandatory to put the top down (as long as it wasn't snowing).

Driving to school gave us the option to make an early morning stop at 7-11 or at "Mickey D's" for a soda, all part of the status symbols that separated us from the bonds of the yellow school bus.

These are the days in the life ... these are the best of both worlds, and we want it all. Why not?
best /best/ adj. excelling all others (as in moral, intellectual, or physical qualities) friend /friend/ n. one who seeks the society or welfare of another whom he holds in affection, respect, or esteem or whose companionship and personality are pleasurable*

These are the separate forms and convenient definitions of perhaps the two most bonded words in the dictionary. When these words are apart, they are simple, divided, and distant; however, when they are together, they are complex, unified, and closely related. A dictionary consists of words, not emotions; a friendship consists of emotions, not words. For this reason, a dictionary cannot define a best friendship - only a best friend can.

best friend /best 'friend/ n. the one person whom you: a) know as well as yourself; b) have an unspoken understanding with; c) often draw the same conclusions as; d) need not censor your thoughts, ideas, and emotions from

Like a dictionary, a best friendship holds more than can ever be imagined. Both are classics that stand the test of time by expanding, growing, and gaining more depth each day. Most importantly, if these necessities are ever abandoned in the course of nature, they can easily be found again, shared again, and appreciated even more.

You just call out my name and you know wherever I am
I'll come running to see you again -
You've got a friend.

As spring marks the birth of new growth, the One Act Competition at East brings forth new talent. Anyone can try out but rather than being scrutinized under the experienced eye of an adult, all hopefuls find themselves judged by their peers. Each grade has its own director, stage manager and technical director, all of whom are students chosen by the drama department head. If you find you can't memorize lines quickly, don't worry. Cold readings, acting as you read lines for a script, are done for the audition. After that, there is no supervision by an adult until the night of the competition.

After a month of rehearsals, the night has finally come for seeing exactly how good you are. The categories in which the actors and actresses compete are not only Best Actor and Best Actress, but also Best Supporting Actor, Best Supporting Actress, and Best Play. Don't lose hope if you don't get one of these; a scholarship from the talent agency Weiss-Barron is given for the actor and actress who have potential. The Best Director, Best Stage Manager, and Best Technical Director awards are presented, too.

In years past, the One Act awarded Best Play went to Bucks County to compete with other players from different schools. However last year was the first year that our drama department went to the State competition. East dominated and proved once and for all the strength of her actors and actresses. Although these competitions occur in the spring, the season for a new beginning, the One Act Competition is the last hurrah for the drama department and gives us, the audience, a preview of the excitement to come.

Latin Certamen

Venimus! Vidimus! Vicimus! *

By answering a variety of questions on classical history, culture, civilization, mythology, and Latin grammar, East's Latin II Certamen (Competition) team won the New Jersey State Certamen last June for the second consecutive year. They defeated approximately ten other teams in regional competition to be eligible for the State Certamen. Captained by Ted Fischer, the team — Sheila Gujwalk, Jenny Kim, and Madhavi Reddy — are eager to continue their winning tradition. Unfortunately, since they are seniors, this will be their last year with us; but they have set a standard to which our future teams will aspire.

CLASS HISTORY

The recent graduate continued along the hallway, nostalgically noting that this would be the final walk through these halls as a Cherry Hill East student. Glancing at the floor covered with notebooks, Cliff notes, and papers brought to mind memories of the past four years - tests, sporting events, projects, and dances. If only those papers could talk, what would they say . . .

When we first set out with the inherited title of Freshmen (after a brief orientation with several battle-hardened veterans), we were both frightened and excited about the task which awaited us. The security of our recent domination of junior high school was quickly removed, and we were now greeted by the fierce ogres and monsters called Seniors (with seemingly large appetites for Freshmen). We soon set sail, but no map could adequately describe the sea of hallways and staircases that soon encompassed us. As we blindly swirled into the massive, thrashing whirlpool of "C-wing," we realized the journey would require all our resourcefulness, intellect, and patience. Within weeks, we encountered our first obstacle - Spirit Week.

The great titan, Mr. Terranova, had declared that the only way to face the task of Spirit Week was to follow his special command: get involved. With this in mind, we attended the festival of the Spirit Week Dance, where relatively few cannibalistic Seniors lurked. Surviving this initial challenge, we engaged in the Cougar Relays and the Search-for-the-Cougar Contest, but our luck soon soured. We lost both these contests of strength and cleverness, but finally, on the final day of the glorious week, we won Color Day, proving our unity and desire. Spirit Week proved an excellent testing ground for the members of our crew, and we were now ready for the awesome journey ahead.

We traveled quickly, and new events rushed by. Officers were elected to lead our crew, and talented members of our party performed in the fall’s great drama production, Barefoot in the Park. We knew about the re-election of Ronald Reagan, and, of perhaps even greater importance, of the arrival of Bruce Springsteen - Live! Sailing became smoother, and at the great battle known as Homecoming, our troops soundly defeated the purple infidels. We next set out on personal quests of generosity and glory, joining organizations such as F.O.P. and S.A.D.D., and humbly sacrificing ourselves to the radio gods in order to win the Hooters Contest.

Then, appearing as a bolt of lightning from above, while the hallways thundered with the wrath of the educational gods (calling themselves teachers, they established their Mount Olympus between Cafeterias I and II), we received what were to be called “report cards,” which your society could only comprehend as “indictments.” The case prepared against us was fearsome: exhibit A) substitution of Cliff Notes for classics such as A Separate Peace, To Kill a Mockingbird, and The Odyssey. Exhibit B) lateness to gym class, illogical geometric and algebraic proofs, and countless spelling and grammatical errors. It was a time to repent and reconsider the importance of our journey; we now had to muster our strength and continue onward.

After a much-needed winter vacation watching such new movies as Ghostbusters, we faced the new year with brighter hopes. Wishing daily for a snowstorm to give us a day’s rest, we continued onward. Holding the first Valentine’s Day contest ever, we chose three lucky members of our crew to take a friend to one of the area’s finest restaurants, in a vehicle known as a limousine. Following in this tradition of originality, we also prepared and took a formidable test, the H.S.P.T., handed down from the highest and cruelest of educational gods; nearly everyone passed. We were shocked to hear of the tragic MOVE bombing, which soon became international news.

As the first rosy-fingered Dawn of Spring arrived, we elected officers and representatives for the following year. Soon, however, we found ourselves facing the most fearsome, grotesque obstacle we could imagine: the five-headed beast called finals. We prepared for this confrontation, studying reactions to its every possible move, and finally, after a grueling four-day battle, we were beyond its grasp.

We were now called “Sophomores,” granting us new and well-deserved privileges. However, before entering the second quarter of our journey, our leaders afforded us a much-needed two-month rest. Oh how we would longingly remember those peaceful days of sun and relaxation.

(1 found recorded on a tape inside one of the many confiscated walkmen at Cherry Hill East - Carbon dating reveals the possibility of an oral presentation C.E. 1986)

We eagerly awaited Sophomore Year - a chance to remove the stigma of “Freshmen” and make our mark on the school. As Spirit Week approached, we realized that this would be our long-awaited opportunity. Transforming a walk through East to a walk down Sesame Street, we came in second place, losing only to the Seniors (and nearly to Hurricane Gloria); but we had served due notice for the years to come. Realizing that the “Smith System” and “Defensive Driving” had nothing to do with playing shortstop or golf, we quickly learned the proper techniques of driving a car. Charley’s Aunt hit the stage at East, giving some much-needed comic relief from studies and work. Homecoming marked the end of the first marking period, and once again we defeated an upper class, placing second with our float.

Winter passed quickly, as rejuvenated interest in “the Boss,” the “Grateful Dead,” and East’s standout basketball team overshadowed interest in cosines and gerunds. In the world outside of East, all was not so happy and carefree. The tragic Challenger shuttle disaster and the deaths of its seven noble astronauts filled us with a sense of helplessness and sorrow. Half a year after driver’s education, we were administered another harsh lesson when we learned of Pelle Lindbergh’s fatal, alcohol-related driving accident. Finally, as the horrible occurrences came closer and closer to East, we were informed of a scandal within our own halls; a major drug bust at Cherry Hill East made national headlines. Yet the criticism received by the school was quickly overshadowed and buried under a mass of praise for East’s flowering accomplishments.

The arrival of spring brought new hope and spirit, as hundreds of “lucky people” were enchanted by their talented classmates’ performances in Funny Girl. We prepared for the upcoming Cotillion and class rings, and then one by one checked into the glamorous “Hotel Ritz.” After our second bout with finals, we were officially Juniors and could look down at new students from the “upper half” of the school.

The graduate’s eye fell upon more scattered papers among a general collection of interpretations - apparently a frustrated effort to understand, judging from the abundance of cross-outs and crumpled papers.

want to know is where I applied, when senioritis hit me, how it felt to drive to school the first day, and all that kind of stuff. Well, it felt great driving to school the first day, although I felt kinda phony making my kid sister walk to school.
We heard all that talk about senior spirit from the principal, but we were already excited about the upcoming Spirit Week and the possibility of appearing in the Senior Hall of Fame.

Well, Spirit Week came, and we started dressing up like the Beach Boys and all, and we pulled off a victory on our final jump at the Pep Rally, and finally, after two years of coming in second place, we won Spirit Week, and it felt real good inside. Well, you probably think senioritis hit right then and there, but we still had applications to fill out, the lousy S.A.T.'s, and we had to keep up our grades for the first semester.

We were ready to defeat the juniors in Powder Puff, and when the game was finished, we were the first class to ever win two years in a row. Meanwhile, Robert Bork, Alan Ginsberg, Oliver North, and the Stock Market Crash of 1987 made national headlines, while our own fall athletic and academic teams created local news.

I guess you want to hear about senioritis. Well, after we beat West in our annual homecoming game, and our college applications were all mailed, it suddenly hit.
We started looking forward to the summer and next year, and whether we had a major trigonometry test or a reading of Hamlet, the words "blow it off" began to form in our minds. As usual, we led the Delaware Valley in contributions to the Blood Drive, and soon vacation had come and gone. We spent our new-found leisure time watching such movies as Three Men and a Baby, Wall Street, Fatal Attraction, Broadcast News, and Good Morning, Vietnam. To relax, we could listen to Whitney Houston, Bruce Springsteen, or the Dirty Dancing soundtrack.

By February we were spending time at the Magic Kingdom, although I didn't believe in all those furry characters and all. We went to see Oliver in the spring, and we got ready for the Senior Prom. I felt kinda phony in my tuxedo and all, but the evening at the Race Track was really elegant.

Soon, we looked past finals to our upcoming graduation. I thought we looked pretty funny in those gowns and all, but I was really proud to receive my diploma in front of my family and friends. I guess I'll never forget my four years at Cherry Hill East, especially my Senior year. They were truly special, and I'll remember them with love, nostalgia, and much pride.

On February 9, 1988, our school once again proved its commitment to helping the Cherry Hill community when it hosted the annual SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving) Regional Meeting. Representatives from thirty-five high schools throughout the state of New Jersey, the largest conclave ever for this symposium, attended the all day session. Following registration, the SADD representatives met in a general meeting with Mr. Fred Belchikoff, East's coordinator of Student Affairs. A powerful film "Driving Under The Influence" was presented. A State Police officer then addressed the group, outlining the state of New Jersey's new harsh drunk driving laws and policies. A spirited question and answer session covered most of the pertinent areas of concern.

The Regional Meeting then focused its attention on the new Safe-Ride Program recently enacted in Connecticut, which provides students with free, confidential transportation on Friday and Saturday nights.

Breaking up into various workshops, including East's own Respect For Drugs Program, the individual groups dealt with various phases and matters dealing with the program. Following lunch, the group as a whole, met once again for a powerful, captivating session with Steve Booth, a guest speaker who related his own first-hand personal experiences involving a drunk driving accident. Several representatives from Alcoholics Anonymous also addressed the group with related topics.

It was a memorable event for all who attended, for after considering the information offered by the dramatic, exciting speakers, the audience of dedicated students realized that they were the ones contributing to the elimination of a crucial problem of society.

Ranking Scholars

WHAT IS A RANKING SCHOLAR?
A) One who graduates in the Top One Percent of the class.
B) One whose grade point average ranges from 3.7 to 4.0.
C) One of the seven students to graduate with honors.
D) One who knows the agony of an “all-nighter” and the true meaning of hard work.
E) All of the above.

(You don’t have to be a scholar to figure that one out!) These students are the true representation of East’s continuing academic excellence, bringing accolades to themselves, their class and their school.
Governor’s school takes over where Cherry Hill East ends. Cramming a year’s worth of learning into a mere summer, Governor’s school allows the junior with a particular interest in the arts, sciences, and public issues to expand their current knowledge and skills. Offered in various colleges across the state, Governor’s school truly represents East’s and New Jersey’s effort to provide the very best education for its students.
Few people really think of politics beyond the annual school elections. However, Boys' and Girls' State afford to politically conscious students a chance to see how the government works. Lasting one week, students set up their own government based on that of the United States. The students are divided into several sections. Each section must vote for candidates for mayor, governor and other such offices. Once this has been done, a mock meeting is called where issues such as budget and town projects are debated. After attending Boys' and Girls' State, students have a better understanding of the process of electing officials and the internal workings of the government.

Each October, nearly every junior takes the PSAT's, or "Practice" SAT's. For the majority of the students, these tests are what they proclaim to be: a practice test meant to help students determine which academic areas they must improve upon before taking the actual SAT's. However, for some, this exam maliciously doubles as a nerve-wracking test to qualify as a National Merit Scholar.

To achieve this coveted title, a student's score must be among the top 0.5% in the state of New Jersey. This score is obtained by doubling the verbal score and adding the math score, ending up with a number referred to as the "index." For an individual school to have more than ten semi-finalists is indeed a rarity, but this year, the Class of 1988 more than doubled that goal, producing twenty-two, the highest total in the state. In addition to this incredible total, over fifty students were awarded Letters of Commendation, signifying that they placed in the top five percent of the country. These momentous achievements further support the claim that the Class of '88 is a special class, indeed, allowing them to add to their rapidly expanding, awesome legacy.

In the summer before his senior year, Daniel Hutter participated in the New Jersey Scholars Program at the Lawrenceville School in Lawrenceville, N.J. Dan was one of 42 students throughout New Jersey to be selected to participate in the program. After a thorough review of his scholastic achievements and at the completion of a rigorous interview, Dan was chosen to represent East. He was later selected after composing two essays and participating in an intensive group interview to be a semi-finalist and ultimately a New Jersey Scholar. For five weeks, Dan studied various aspects of the Middle Ages.

RUTGER’S SUMMER DEAN SCHOLAR

Rutgers Summer Dean Scholar Program provides the time for an advanced preview of what college courses are like. Students with distinguished academic records apply, and, if accepted, full tuition is paid. Taking place on the campus in Camden, the program allows the student to choose his or her courses. The course material, usually taught over a semester, is taught in only four weeks. Two four-week sessions take place over the summer. The program is only for serious students who wish to use the summer to add to their education. College credit is given for satisfactory completion of the program.

Recently, Philadelphia Magazine published an article which criticized the poor state of the nation’s educational system, and then pointed out several schools serving as marvelous exceptions; not surprisingly, Cherry Hill East was named. A variety of educational experts and college admissions officers comprised the panel which determined these schools, and they revealed, “Cherry Hill East is often regarded as the best high school in South Jersey, public or private.”

The experts discussed every aspect of the school, commending its diversity and its ability to allow individual students to feel important among such a large population, declaring “Cherry Hill East has a surprisingly personal atmosphere, not to mention a lifetime supply of pride.” They continued their praise, commending the experience and expertise of the faculty and Mr. Cost, the number of Advanced Placement and Honors Programs, and East’s unique compositional lab program.

Finally, as if they themselves had been in the auditorium hearing those immortal words, “Get involved,” they lavished extensive praise upon East’s variety of activities. They mentioned that “over 2000 students participate in the incredible variety of options,” including athletic and academic teams, its service organizations, the “spectacular theater program, and the strength of a fine Art program.”

Cherry Hill East has always assumed a remarkably high standard of excellence, and it has always sought to allow its students to reach their maximum potential in every aspect of life. These students have always realized their tremendous potential in belonging to such a school, and it brings them additional pride to read that now the entire Delaware Valley realizes it as well.
The first mention of the Junior Miss Contest brings images of pretty girls to mind. The typical beauty pageant, right? WRONG! Although the senior girls who try out for this contest are among the prettiest at East, beauty alone cannot win.

Five basic categories help determine the winner. First, school grades and SAT scores must be exceptional for scholastic aptitude is a top priority. The contestants must learn a dance routine which measures physical fitness, stamina and coordination. In what many mistakenly term "the evening gown" category, the contestants walk before the judges, who score them for poise, appearance and posture.

The talent competition brings attention to the creative abilities of the girls. Singing, dancing, acting, musical talents are just a few of the areas where the contestants display these creative skills. Both technical execution and talent must go hand in hand in this important area of judging.

Although these four categories corner the largest percentage of points in the overall score, emphasis is placed on a personal interview with the judges. Contestants must first pass this test in order to proceed with the other categories. Not only must the aspiring young Junior Miss present herself well in speaking, but she must be able to express her ideas and thoughts on current issues. Many candidates are eliminated in this area, but it is only the first step in finding East's perfect Junior Miss.

East has had many Junior Miss winners over the years and several have gone on to win the New Jersey state title, but nothing is as thrilling as that moment when your name is mentioned as Junior Miss.
We will always remember coming together as one
At the Magic Kingdom in late February.
Laughing, we soaked up the Florida sun
Throughout endless rides - some mild, some scary.

Donald and Mickey seemed extremely pleased
In presenting all their furry cohorts.
Some, like Mickey, even returned with us to East -
Not in person, but on countless shirts, hats, and shorts
Existing friendships remained foremost in mind.
Yet as a class we became a family, strong and tight.

When it came time to pack and leave Disneyland behind,
Old friends and new reflected upon these past days and nights.
Rememberances of this trip will continue undelayed
Long after memories of tests have disappeared.
Definitely, the special moments like these have made '88 such a special, memorable year.
Dear Members of the Class of 1988,

It seems like only yesterday that I wrote to you welcoming you to Cherry Hill East. This time my task is more difficult; I must write a message of farewell.

During the past four years we have shared many experiences. We have laughed together, cried together, and through it all we have grown up together. You have made a positive impact on my life and I hope that I have made a contribution to yours.

The frosh Luau, the sophomore Cotillion, our class trips to Action Park, Great Adventure, and Disney World, that spectacular Junior Prom in the Phoenix Room at Garden State Park, beating the seniors at Powder Puff Football, winning Spirit Week as seniors and boasting about 22 merit scholarship semi-finalists are just a few of the memories we have shared.

I sincerely hope that wherever you go after high school, you will benefit from the preparation you received at Cherry Hill East. The excellent staff, varied curriculum, fine facilities and talented student body will be a part of you for the rest of your lives; just as you will become a permanent part of the family that is East. Remember that I am always available to you if you need me and I look forward to seeing and hearing from you often in the years to come.

As you begin the exciting and challenging journey into adulthood, please take with you my very best wishes as expressed in the following blessing from Numbers 6:24-26.

The Lord bless you and keep you
The Lord lift up His countenance upon you
And give you peace.
The Lord make His face to shine upon you
And be gracious unto you.

Mr. T.

Dear Class of '88 -

Remember the good times!
- building new friendships
- building Homecoming Floats (Now, who has a flatbed?)
- dressing up for the proms (Did you see my limo driver?)
- dressing down for the relay races (You want me to eat what?!)
- Spirit week and dances (tape, staples, nails, boards, temporæ, temporæ, temporæ)
- Welcome to Orlando! (Grumpy, Happy, Doc and the boys)
- The Blood Drive (Next time use one with a point)
- Our pride and joy (officers, chairpeople, workers, athletes and scholars)
- the adults who cared enough to give the time

Surprisingly, the years have rushed by. You are now young adults on the verge of entering an increasingly sophisticated world. Don't be afraid, take up the challenge, have no regrets - make it a better world.

Sincerely,

Leonard Terranova

The gowns, the tuxedos, the corsages, the boutonnieres, the limousines, the photographs, and, of course, the dancing music combined to create an evening of unforgettable elegance ... Endless hours spent searching for the perfect dress to complement the perfect date. Excitement intensified as tickets were purchased and invitations were sent. Finally, the night of sophistication, glamour, love, laughter, and romance arrived. The night provided memories to cherish, memories to relive. It was Prom night!

The Road Not Taken

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

-Robert Frost
The educational success of a high school is achieved and measured by a series of causes and results. Cherry Hill East's diversity of courses, academic background of teachers, and the administrative skill with which it runs have led to incomparable results. The presentation of over ten distinct departments and four different ability levels enables each student to receive an individualized education. The dedication and motivation of the teachers makes this education not only an enjoyable four years of learning, but also a powerful preparation for the years ahead. If its faculty's success is to be measured by tangible, numerical accomplishments, East is proud to be recognized for having graduated the highest number of National Merit Scholars in the state of New Jersey this past year, as well as being highly represented in contests ranging from math and English to industrial and fine arts. However, it is the manner in which anyone can get an equal education that has led to the Cherry Hill East faculty's most remarkable result: the preparation of its students for life in any field they choose. As graduates, we are indebted forever.
Anthony R. Cost

The immense responsibility of administering to this school of nearly 2800 students and 200 staff members, rests primarily in the capable hands of Anthony R. Cost. The student body is well aware that he handles this job masterfully. He has been at Cherry Hill East since 1967 (except for the two years that he served as the Principal of Beck Middle School), and has taught Biology, served as coordinator of Student Activities and as an assistant Principal. Entering his ninth year as Principal of East, Mr. Cost's many responsibilities include overseeing curriculum and instruction, co-curricular activities and personnel. The final word will always rest on the shoulders of Mr. Cost.

However, even Mr. Cost needs rest and relaxation. He enjoys bowling, walking, TV sports activities and time spent with his wife and two daughters. Mr. Cost and his family have traveled to many exotic lands and he is most interesting as he relates some of his experiences.

Mr. Cost takes great pride in the success which he has helped Cherry Hill East attain. He fully agrees with the recent acclaim showered upon our school, and you can quote him as saying, "I happen to agree with the article in Philadelphia Magazine - I think this is the best high school in South Jersey!"

Leonard A. Terranova

Leonard A. Terranova, a twenty-one year veteran vice-Principal is the adviser to the Class of 1988. This year’s senior class is one of the largest groups to graduate in many years, numbering well over 700 students and Mr. Terranova takes care of them all. His office always has people in it and everyone is always welcome to stop by and chat. He is also in charge of the vast transportation network needed to bus the East students, not only to school and back home, but to arrange for the late-bus schedules needed due to the amount of students involved in after-school activities. "Mr. T" as he is affectionately called, also is responsible for the scheduling of the final exams. He also serves as the business manager for the elaborate and much-acclaimed Spring musical presentations by the East theatrical students. Mr. Terranova is an avid sports fan and is quite knowledgeable in professional sports facts.

James J. Gallagher

James J. Gallagher is our personable Junior Class vice-Principal and adviser. He has served East as a vice-Principal for eight years, having taught in the science department prior to his present appointment. Mr. Gallagher has the awesome task of arranging the class schedules, the people to teach the courses and the student numbers that plug into the courses. If he didn’t have enough to do, he was given the responsibility of overseeing the student parking situation. Mr. Gallagher is very visible throughout the hallways, always manages a bright greeting and is one of our more popular administrators.
Edward H. Collins
As Sophomore Class Principal and administrative supervisor of English, Foreign Languages and the Visual Arts departments, Mr. Collins carries great responsibility at Cherry Hill East. He also directs the interim progress reports and the grade reporting sheets, allowing much involvement with the student body. Our personable Mr. Collins has a relaxed, friendly manner and is always available for a needed conference or social visit.

Charles Fleischman
Mr. Fleischman, the Freshman Class Principal, has been at Cherry Hill East for eighteen years. For ten years, he was the Chairman of the Social Studies department. As a former coach of Cherry Hill East football, wrestling and girls’ softball teams, he is well-prepared for his additional responsibilities of supervising and scheduling all of East’s athletic programs. This is his first year in the position of assistant principal.

Richard N. Lacovara
Mr. Lacovara, a valuable, experienced twenty-one year veteran in education, controls East’s budgets and purchases and supervises the entire physical plant of East. He is involved with the student body with regard to locker assignments, parking stickers and countless details of personnel. Because of the nature of his duties, Mr. Lacovara does not have to deal with student disciplinary actions, which is the least favorite task of administering principals.

Anthony Malatesta
Mr. Malatesta, Senior Class adviser has been an English teacher at East for fifteen years. The Class of 1988 is the first class which he has personally advised, although he has been a big help in many ways to many past classes and groups. Hard-working, dedicated to his class, Mr. Malatesta is a friend and special person to all his involved students.

Fred Belchikoff
No matter where or when you first heard his name, no student attends East without knowing Mr. Fred Belchikoff. Also teaching in the math department, Mr. Belchikoff is best recognized as the Coordinator for Student Activities, a position he has held for three years. Not only does Mr. Belchikoff keep close contact with the students through F.O.P., S.A.D.D., the blood drive and student government but also with parents, faculty and administration. He gets to know the students in the classroom and outside whether it is through a club or through the freshman girls basketball team, which he coaches. For anyone else the pressure could be too much, but as Mr. Belchikoff says, “if I didn’t enjoy it, I wouldn’t be here.” East is grateful for the time, effort and dedication of “Mr. B.”
There are a handful of hardworking men and women who are responsible for keeping the school machine running. With a population of three thousand, Cherry Hill East depends on the Office Personnel to maintain accurate records of student attendance and grades as well as distribute important messages to faculty members. They not only keep our school informed, but through their expertise, run East with incomparable efficiency.
Most students here at Cherry Hill East complain about their "difficult schedules." They must stay at school until 2:30 and then go home to write a paper, study for a test, or translate a story. Only rarely do they consider what life is like for their teachers. Not only do these men and women have to stay until 2:30, and often later, but they also have to grade not one but one hundred papers or tests.

Considering the amount of work teachers must complete each day, it is a wonder that anyone at all enters the profession. Yet Cherry Hill East has a large staff of highly trained, dedicated professionals who have donated much of their lives to teaching young, unformed minds. This section honors those teachers who have been at East the longest — the veterans of the long battle against ignorance.

Eugene Magill

Mr. Eugene Magill has taught at Cherry Hill East for thirteen years, during which time he has conducted the Orchestra and the String Workshop. His extracurricular activities include the Marching Band and the Electronic Music Club.
With the number of courses in Cherry Hill East, it is little wonder that students have no time to figure out such issues as the college boards, recommendations, class ranks, and schedule changes. This is where the Cherry Hill East Guidance Department, directed by Mr. James Sabin, takes over, alleviating these external pressures. Entrance to college is nearly impossible without these dedicated counselors. They are essential not only to the students' high school education, but also to the continuation of their higher education as well.

Guidance
Biology

The Biology Department offers students the important opportunity to study and comprehend life's mysteries. While explaining the existence of life, ranging from cells to people, it provides the practical knowledge that can be utilized in daily life. Offering such diverse courses as Cellular Physiology, Field Biology and Analysis of Athletic Injury, this department prepares its students with宽 ranging academic interests for either further study on college level or merely to insire a well-rounded comprehensive education.
The Business Education program at Cherry Hill East allows students to train for selected careers. Courses such as Typing, Stenography, Keyboarding, Accounting, and Retailing give students opportunities to learn what a career in the business world entails and to increase their skills in these areas. Business Education is certainly one of the most important aspects of East, for it allows students to plan for the future.
Mathematics: when it's easy, you sit back and relax, staring peacefully out the window. But when it's tough, you struggle and squirm in your seat, trying to keep up with those apparently hostile figures on the chalkboard. Relax... Cherry Hill — East's diverse Mathematics Department, from Algebra I to Calculus to PASCAL, is here to help you control these figures and learn to utilize them. Whatever course you choose will provide a better understanding of the wide world of mathematics.
The Child Study Team, an important branch of Pupil Services, consults with students, their teachers, parents, and other staff members in order to analyze a student's academic needs. They then utilize these findings to establish an individual educational plan, free from social pressures, at the student's appropriate ability level. This dedicated team is essential in helping those students who desire an enjoyable, productive education.

The Special Education Team enables students of all ability levels to receive the attention required for improving or maintaining their academic achievements. These special educators monitor and evaluate their students' progress and then help these students reach their maximum academic potential.
Industrial Vocations

The faculty of the Industrial Arts Department prepares students for various vocational fields. While enhancing the students' practical knowledge of industrial tools, processes, materials, and products, it also expands upon the broader topic of the industrial system. Ranging in complexity from the basics of small home repair to advanced power and energy, the diverse Industrial Arts Department serves as a practical, useful supplement to East's college-preparatory courses.
English

The English Department is not only the largest, but also the most diverse department at East. Offering courses that range from Public Speaking and Great Books to Creative Writing and Individualized English, these faculty members enable students of all ability levels to improve their skills in self-expression. The curriculum of vocabulary, literature and grammar taught in English I, II, III, and IV provides and broadens techniques such as oral and theatrical expression. Furthermore, for those students who have recently moved to the United States, English as a Second Language (ESL) accelerates their learning of the English language and adds to their knowledge. By offering diverse classes which supply life-long skills, the English Department exerts a lasting influence on every Cherry Hill East student.
Physical Education

Those of ancient Greece believed in "a healthy mind within a healthy body." The Physical Education department works to attain that goal. Students play active sports, take health-related courses and are exposed to classes such as Physical Conditioning, First Aid, Driver's Education, Family Living and Drug Abuse. Physical Education at East is more than Gym class, it is a total physical fitness package.
Music

The Music Department offers a wide assortment of courses for the musically talented student. Ranging from such varied courses as chansons and vocal workshop to music theory and symphonic band, it serves as a much needed outlet for many of these students. It encourages the pursuit of creativity, the advancement of techniques, and sometimes, it even provides a moment's relaxation. This department is an integral part of the lives of many at Cherry Hill East.
Parlez vous Français? ¿Habla Espanol? A student could go on forever if he could speak all the languages taught here at East. Our diversified foreign language department offers French, Spanish, German, and Latin. Each program not only teaches the student how to speak another language but also provides the student with knowledge of the customs and culture of foreign lands. Furthermore, the department organizes trips to foreign countries, and other cultural activities. East's foreign language program gives the student the chance to see, speak, and hear different aspects of our world.
Library and Audio Visual

From the Prehistoric to Greek rhetoric, from Macbeth to MacArthur, from Citizen Kane to The Day The Earth Stood Still, the Library-Media complex provides students and staff with the most up-to-date learning materials. The books, periodicals, tapes and print materials cover every subject area needed. The film library offers us documentaries, feature films and college presentations. Television monitors, tapeplayers, film strip projectors are all available for us; however, the library and audio-visual center's most valuable resource is its experienced and dedicated staff. They are famous for transforming last minute research papers from monstrous entities to possible essays, for obtaining seemingly non-existant facts and materials. They help us laminate a history map, find that special book to read and even manage to hear student whispers at distances that defy any "bug" of modern science. One of the most useful skills any student can develop is to take advantage of this exacting and special learning facility.
All students must take two years of American History, and with increased enrollment in such courses as psychology, law, and western civilization, the social studies department is touching more and more students' lives. It retains the awesome responsibility of analyzing the past and present, linking them to the world today, and using them to guide students in their future decisions. This responsibility is not taken lightly, as the Social Studies Department continues to prepare students for entrance into the world around them.
The renowned chemist, Linus Pauling, once said, "Science is the search for truth," and the Cherry Hill East Physical Science Department has taken this search to the highest degree. With a variety of courses, ranging from Chemistry to Q.P.S. to Earth Science, students are offered an array of information at all levels of ability. The courses also develop important logic skills used not only in other classes, but, more importantly, in the decisions of everyday life.
People depend on vision more than the other senses. Without sight, we would not know the color of the sky, the faces of our friends, or appreciate the unspoken words expressed in a simple picture. In East's Visual Arts Department, the faculty shows the wonders of this marvelous gift. Creativity is a synonym for this department. Courses range from pottery and sculpture to photography and film. If you are interested in a career in home decorating or culinary cuisine, or perhaps if mass media or art history appeal, there are teachers willing to help you take that first step. Guided by a talented faculty, every course offered develops skills to help its students see more clearly.
“We care enough to sign our name!”
The Start Of An East Day . . .

The alarm goes off at 6:30, but you fall back asleep for another 15 minutes, until your mother yells for you to get up. You stumble into the shower quickly, get dressed, and run for the bus, aware of your lateness. This is the start of a typical day for a Cherry Hill East student . . .

The Big Yellow Taxi

As freshmen, sophomores, and juniors, we all depended upon the yellow school bus. We waited at the corner through all types of inclement weather - rain, sleet, or snow. We had to deal with the bus's lack of dependability. Sometimes it would arrive early, and we would find ourselves futilely running after it; sometimes it was late, and we would find ourselves waiting countless, freezing minutes. But all this was expected - it was part of being an underclassman.

By our Senior year, we had turned seventeen and learned to drive. We had only a few months of driving experience when September 9th arrived. This was the day we were waiting for - not because it was the first day of school, but because we were Seniors and now could drive to school. We drove to school by ourselves or with a few friends, and we arrived just in time for homeroom, waving to our newest friends, the Campus Police. We rejoiced over the extra half-hour of sleep, and we didn't have to endure the hassles of those big yellow buses. But we knew that for some of us, our joy would soon end.

On Sunday, September 20th, during the Senior picnic, the parking sticker list was posted. About 250 elated students saw their name on the list. However, for every happy Senior, there were two who were dejected. Approximately 450 of us didn't get stickers and envied those who had been treated well by fate. Our dreams had been crushed, and we would have to find an alternative way to get to school. Some of us would find rides with our luckier friends who did get that coveted parking sticker. Others would have no choice: it would be back to the old, yellow school bus.

A Day In The Life
The Serious Side Of East Life

No one can ever forget that day. You know exactly which day I’m talking about. At least once every year, every student experiences a day when it seems as though all faculty members have conspired to pick one day on which you have four tests. Yes, technically that can’t happen. Day One is only for History and Science, you tell your Spanish teacher. She promptly replies that she is giving you a quiz. More like a test, you say to yourself. Even after four years, you don’t think you’ll understand how a “quiz” can take up a whole period and be worth only ten points less than your last test.

Even without days like those, it seems as though only you have as much homework as you do. You arrive home, and beginning the assignments, you realize that you needed only one or two facts from one book. What makes things worse is bringing the wrong book home and without that book, you have absolutely no idea how to do the homework.

Many students complain that East is too difficult. Add the pressure and exhaustion from after school activities, everything seemed more grueling. Several college friends say that after graduating, college life, academic and otherwise, is much easier. The students who think thoroughly realize we have been well-prepared.

Next time you take all four of those tests in one day, remember that East is preparing you not only for college or on the job, but also for the challenge in life to come. No, I can’t say that the last statement will help you to study or even pass the test, but realize that East is filled with teachers who will be there to help you. In college, you just won’t find that same concern. Good luck!
Cafe East

Feeding nearly three thousand students daily, five days a week, one hundred eighty days a year (that's a half-million potential meals!) is no task for the meek. With courtesy, patience, and never-ending smiles, Mrs. Gehret's staff at East handles the job daily. Never taken for granted, these tireless producers of French fries, chocolate milk, and hoagies are an essential component of Cherry Hill East, providing the students with the much-needed energy to get through each day of school.
So This Is Study Hall?!

Some students just sit around and socialize. Others roam the halls or become aides. Still others actually study. People have different ideas about what should occur in Study Hall. Generally, it is a free period for relaxing or catching up on homework. Whether held in the cafeteria or in the gym, it gives students the chance to “kick back” and conserve energy for the rest of the day.
At 2:25, the bell rings, and suddenly, the halls are bombarded with students—some heading to their lockers, others to their bus, and many to an after school activity. Going for help with a subject, practice for a sport, a music or drama rehearsal, a club meeting, painting signs, or just hanging out in Cafeteria I, East is never empty after school. As Freshman, we were told the key to getting the most from East is involvement. For many, this means contributing from 30 minutes to 10 hours on a project of one sort or another. There are activities year round like the F.O.P. Christmas Party or the Spring Musical; anyone willing to help is welcome. Accomplishments such as these prove that our school is more than just a place for study. After school activities demonstrate that East stands for dedication, cooperation, good times, and friends.
Finally SENIORS. Four years of high school, and finally SENIORS. Ah, the freedom. The driver's license which all of us have waited so long for is attained, the parking sticker is slapped on the windshield, and there are breakfasts at Denny's and McDonald's. C-wing is no longer a problem—or anywhere else in East for that matter—after all, we are SENIORS. There are college applications and grades to worry about for the first semester but after that, Easy Street. We can finally bask in the luxury of going to school with no pressure. There are parties on weekends, trips to the shore; we just hang around and live it up, being lazy and having fun—because we know that we will soon again be freshmen.
Thousands of years of evolution and technological advancement have produced a sociological wonder: the mall. Here, students can get their hair done, sit on Santa's lap, eat Chinese food, and shop all without stepping outside.

Of course, Cherry Hill East has its large, well-respected "Working Class," those students who bring money into their families' homes or their own wallets, as they prepare for a world beyond school.

Students at East can eat a variety of food, ranging from pizza to sushi, from spare ribs to gyros's-all within the confines of "international" Cherry Hill.

Where can you meet friends, study together, read up on the latest news, make photo copies, or maybe even do research? At the libraries!

From backyard basketball to football at the Vet, sports affect everyone in one form or another. Whether watching or participating, students learn many valuable lessons, morals, and swear words from this form of popular entertainment.
For many of us, life outside of East revolves on the weekend, around a job. If it is possible, we work at places where our friends congregate, so that some social touches can take place. The local pizza place, ice cream parlor or fast food spot gives one the opportunity to be in two situations at one time. A neat feat!

But, for most of us outside life begins Friday night when we toss aside books and "go out on the town." This usually means shopping at the mall (girl-watching can in this instance be considered "shopping"), piggling out, going to the movies, partying and, in short, spending good times with friends.

Then, as it always does, Sunday night creeps up rather quickly. Many of us then find it necessary to stay up late, doing the homework that was put off until the last minute, writing the term paper that is due the next day, or reading the book you haven't-read-yet-but-are-going-to-have-a-test-on-Monday. Was the weekend really worth this last-minute supreme effort? Yes, of course, without a doubt!

"Yo, what's up? How was your weekend?"
"It was fabulous! I met the most gorgeous babe at a huge jammer — he was totally hot!"
"Really? That's sooo cool!"
"Yeah, he was awesome, dressed incredibly. You should have seen him; he would have blown your mind."
"I'm sure. You don't know how lucky you are. I went out with that geek in our English class this weekend. I almost died!"
"You mean that dweeb that sits by the window?"
"Yeah, him. Can you believe it? I actually went out with that dork."
"NO WAY!!!"
"Yes way. And it was horrible. I mean he took me bowling. Come on — seriously — me bowling?! It was totally gnarly. I was home by 11 o'clock!"
"What a major shame. Maybe this new guy will have a really mega friend for you. We could all go out next weekend. I heard Stacy's having a few people over."
"That would be rad!"
"Yeah, look at that dude over there. He looks like a total stud, really cool. But I heard he's totally cocky."
"Yeah, I believe it. Just look at him. But he is very hot. Anyway, I gotta go. Talk to you later. Bye!"
Imagine having the opportunity to spend an entire year in a foreign country, speaking its language, learning its customs and making life-long friends with its people. Cherry Hill East has provided this unique experience for several students from around the globe as part of our foreign exchange program. From nations as diverse as Ecuador, Israel, Italy, Spain, Norway and Japan, these exchange students lived with host families and experienced everyday America first-hand. Although their knowledge of English and America’s customs were varied, they all had the desire to live and learn as a typical teenager. By attending classes everyday, they were exposed to new forms of education and social activities. However, the exchange students’ experiences were not limited to Cherry Hill. They had the opportunity to broaden their views of America by traveling and seeing the sights of Philadelphia, New York, Washington, D.C., Florida and even California. In addition to studying and learning about American culture, having fun was an important aspect of their stay. Whether it was attending a box lacrosse game or seeing YES in concert, this fun-loving group lived to the fullest all the aspects of high schools.

Probably the most memorable part of their year at East was all of the new and lasting friendships that were formed. This affable group of students quickly developed strong relationships with the East students and the other exchange students. Through classes, parties and other social gatherings, they met many types of people that represent the mixture of cultures that make Americans. By the end of the school year, these students had gained tremendous amounts of knowledge, developed life-long friendships and increased their own independence and self-confidence. It had been a rewarding experience for everyone, the type that everyone dreams about, but only a few are ever fortunate enough to experience. When asked for a quote, the responses came in their native language: Vi glommer er aldrig (Swedish), Nosotros nunca les vamos a olvidar (Spanish), Wir werden euch nie vergessen (German) and Vi vil aldrig glemme dene (Norwegian), which translates to “We’ll never forget you!” Ciao!
Think You Know All The Answers?

So, you want to know the reason for all the excited students in Mrs. Saltzer's Family Living course? Well, here's EVERYTHING YOU WANTED TO KNOW ABOUT FAMILY LIVING BUT WERE AFRAID TO ASK.

Q What exactly is the Family Living Course, and how is it taught here at East?

A Family Living, taught by Mrs. Joan Saltzer, actually teaches in school all those things "you can't learn in school," ranging over the entire life cycle, from birth to death. It covers today's essential social and moral issues in a serious, yet relaxed fashion, allowing students to participate freely and in an uninhibited manner. There are no tests or homework (other than "to have a safe weekend"), and the students' grades are simply based on class participation.

Q To whom is this course available, and when can they take it?

A Family Living is a one semester course available to all seniors, and it substitutes for those students' gym and health classes.

Q Other than lack of tests and homework, how else is Family Living distinguished from "typical" classes?

A First, there have been many important guest speakers who have enlightened the students about today's moral and social problems. They have included religious leaders such as a rabbi, minister, and a priest, as well as a diversity of speakers about social issues, ranging from pro-life to pro-choice to planned parenthood advocates. Additionally, and providing an important link between East's past, its present, and its future, past students appear before the class to discuss important issues that they have encountered in the "outside world." Second, there is a role-playing unit in which each student becomes "married," "has a baby," and learns the roles of both the male and female parent. These interesting, thought-provoking means of education further not only the student's interest in the course, but enables them to become an active participant in the class.

Q What are the lasting effects of Family Living?

A The lasting effects of Family Living can never be measured, for the information it provides will influence its students' lives forever. Furthermore, the students never "finish" the course, for Mrs. Saltzer will serve as a permanent counselor to any of her students for as long as they wish to stay in touch. Family Living is the type of course that no one cuts, and no one daydreams in. Its students are aware of its lasting importance, and enjoy its fun-filled, enriching classes.
Like the Forum of Roman times, the library is a center for the various cultural, educational and social interests which tie the East student to the curriculum. Here, students gain insight into further learning through the vast magazines, novels and reference materials available. Many times, lively (but quiet and orderly) discussions take place with accessible means to prove a viewpoint.

Yet, what truly attracts most students is the opportunity to meet or be alone in a quiet environment, free from the clattering atmosphere of the cafeterias. Here, surrounded by the culture and knowledge of both print and non-print materials, students can easily concentrate on simple pleasure, enrichment or hard study.

The library, while an important source of brainpower to most, is also an important social center for the needs of the day.

MR. EAST

HERE HE IS - THE 1988 MR. EAST!

Amid cheers, whistles, screams and stamping feet, Brian McCloskey was crowned winner of the first annual Mr. East contest. To the resounding music of "Nobody Does It Better," sung by our Junior Miss Miriam Zibbell, Brian received the coveted crown and title. Draped in the traditional red velvet cape, he paraded the runway carrying the winner's bouquet of red long-stemmed roses.

On February 26th, the first of what promises to be a popular East event, took place. The contest was open to all East male students, but only fourteen seniors seemed to have had the courage to enter the competition. Divided into five major categories: Casual wear, Talent, Swimsuit, Personality and Formal Attire, the "Mr. Beefcakes" contestants asserted their individuality. Vying for points from a panel of esteemed judges and the voting audience, the pageant hopefuls ran the gamut in Casual wear from army fatigues to a Strawberry Shortcake bedsheet. The Talent division found even more versatility as they sang, danced, recited, rapped and even acted.

Intermission allowed the spirited audience to recover from the array of biceps, triceps and skin revealed by the Swimsuit category.

In the final judging, the hopefuls dressed to impress and impress they did. From classic black to all-white to silver and tails, the tuxedo division proved beyond a doubt that East men have class! Their poise, self-confidence, wit and charm were strained as a sampling of questions were randomly pulled from the proverbial black top hat. Given only a minute to collect their thoughts and respond to questions that ranged from "Would you rather be a fruit or a vegetable?", "Who would you rather date, Miss Piggy or Minnie Mouse?" or "If you could be a kitchen utensil, which one would you be?" These questions tested the seriousness of purpose and the quick thinking of our aspiring winners.

After the last question was answered, it took ten minutes for the winner to be announced. The "computers were down" and the suspense seemed agonizing. Finally, as the spotlight swept the stage - the announcement came: Tim Mertsock, third; DJ Chausky, second; Eric Weikert, first runner-up; and (gasp) BRIAN (acronym clap) MC CLOSKEY (yell, whistle) - Mr. EAST!

CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS
Student life at Cherry Hill High School East is more than just academics, activities, music, and sports. It is different people with different interests. That is why there are over 1500 students involved in at least one of the 54 clubs that exist in our school. Clubs are a way of meeting new people and learning more about a subject that may be of interest to you. Whether it is through trips, guest speakers, or just meetings after school, students become better acquainted with that particular topic and with each other, and, often, two or three clubs will meet for an activity such as a volleyball or basketball game. Some clubs also compete on a local, state, or national level — like our chess team, who took the national title this year. Clubs also allow East students to meet other students from neighboring schools; for instance, East's SADD chapter holds a drinking and driving seminar for students from all over New Jersey every year. Clubs allow students to expand their interests, learn, and meet people. They are an important facet of a student's life.

Celebrating its twentieth issue, Demogorgon is East's award-winning literary magazine. It compiles short stories and poems written by the students, who not only write the literature, but illustrate and design the accompanying artwork as well. Mr. Cook and Mr. LaVoie advise Demogorgon participants, and it can be easily seen through one look at this year's edition why Cherry Hill East takes such great pride in its famous literary magazine.

Cherry Hill East has always been more than a place where students sit in classes, learning mere facts and figures. Through the Respect For Drugs program, the members learn the essential skills of teaching and helping others, while providing an invaluable service to the entire district of Cherry Hill. Mrs. Melicent Brans, the experienced supervisor of the program, starts the students off by dividing them into teams. These teams then work to develop their own individual teaching methods and patterns, utilizing such communicative techniques as skits, posters, charts and sweat-shirts. One of the most important aspects of the course is the visits to Cherry Hill’s elementary schools to teach and reinforce the dangers of misuse and abuse of drugs. Through this valuable course, Cherry Hill East not only works with their own peer groups but establishes a strong foundation for the moral well-being of future students.

East offers a multitude of language courses and there is a club for almost each one. Whether it’s Spanish, French, or Latin, our school has a club for you. Language clubs are a way of enhancing foreign cultures and customs. There is a broad range of activities—from a simple volleyball game to dinners, parties, trips, films, and shows. Once every month, students are transported to another culture. Through language clubs, East combines learning and fun as well as opening our eyes to the world around us.

Once every month or so, someone in your homeroom stands up and announces the upcoming school events. How does that knowledgeable person get all that information? That person is a Student Congress Representative. Every grade elects the students who they believe are the most capable of keeping the student body informed. However, these Reps do not merely limit themselves to just reporting school events and functions. They attend, participate and coordinate many of East's activities. These people have undertaken a large responsibility and, looking around our school, it can be easily seen that they are doing one incredible job!

Once again, Cherry Hill High School East can boast of another achievement. On April 27, 1987, the chess team went to Pulaski, Virginia for the National High School Chess Championship. Two days later, they returned with the title and, more importantly, sent our school name across the nation. Our reigning chess team exemplifies East's excellence in myriad talents. This accomplishment serves as a model of perseverance, determination, and pride-qualities for which East has long stood.
DEBATE TEAM

One of the most competitive clubs at East, the Debate Team requires thinking fast on your feet. Stressing excellent speaking skills and requiring intense preparation, its members must be knowledgeable in many subject areas with topics that range from the U.S. government foreign policy to rights of the individual. As our skilled debaters develop into formidable opponents, they have catapulted East into many championships with rival schools.

MOCK TRIAL

Mock Trial is one of the statewide activities in which East is involved, comprising a network of competitions sponsored by the New Jersey State Bar Association. Students must audition and practice through workbooks and instructional videotapes provided by the NJSBA. The 1988 topic of discussion involves an employment discrimination case dealing with the controversial topic of AIDS. The Mock Trial requires research, analytical thinking and extraneous speaking skills which most certainly place it in a category of being a challenging and time-consuming activity.

There is a well-known room located in the far corner of Cafeteria I. A former "air retention", or storage room, this is now the place for purchasing candy early in the morning or late in the afternoon. Later in the year, much closer to the end of school, more and more people learn about the real purpose of this room, probably from a conversation like this:

"Hey, Bob! I gotta turn in my info for the yearbook and also buy one. Do you know where I'm supposed to go?"

"Uh, yeah. You know that room where they always sell candy? Right in there."

For a handful of students, this storage room is the Yearbook Office. It has a small broken clock radio and no windows. Fortunately, this doesn't hinder the staff from working. Like East's newspaper, EIDOLON has deadlines to meet. Usual indications of that time are hairpulling, frantic typing, and much yelling. Hurrying to some unknown destination, the Literary Editors try to gather the details about some performance for an article the Music Editors needed yesterday. Senior and Faculty Editors sift through near-

ACTIVITIES
Spirit Week is the first major event of the school year. It may bring home the fact that summer is gone, but it creates the right start for the new academic year. You don't have to be involved to feel the spirit of the East Cougar. Just take a look around and see that Spirit everywhere.

Every year the competition among grades shows early on the promised victory of the Seniors. However, this year, the winner could have been anyone. In one of the closest contests ever at East, the Seniors were challenged the most by the Freshmen.

Everything began on a Friday night with the traditional pie eating contest held at the first East dance. In addition to being awarded points for the pie eating, the class with the greatest number present received points. Show up they did, at least that was the way it was for the Freshmen and Seniors. The results of the pie eating: as expected Seniors were first, unexpected Sophomores were second, Freshmen third, and at a dismal start, Juniors last.

On Sunday, came the Cougar Relays. This was the chance for anyone to help out whether by cheering or actually participating. Those upperclassmen who tried to escape by coming late were disappointed. First, Freshmen and Sophomores ran... against each other with the Sophomores as the clear winner. Next came the big one: Juniors vs. Seniors. It was too close, much too close. Seniors gained a big lead with the Three Legged Soccer Kick, but Juniors made up the time and then some at the Orange Pass. As the runners headed towards the track, the Juniors had a very clear lead, but it was not enough. In the Apple Sauce Contest, the Seniors finished a full one minute and nine seconds. They began to rejoice, but wait ... a total of four penalties were placed on the Seniors. The Juniors still had hope and onward they went slipping apple sauce through a straw. Did they finish in time? Were the penalties enough to earn the Juniors 700 more points? Alas, no. The Seniors edged out the Juniors by eight seconds.

The Olympic Conference All Sports Award was given to the team with the most points. The Sophomores were the clear winners, followed by the Seniors and Juniors. The end of Spirit Week was approaching quickly and all students were wondering who would be the winner. Up to this point, Juniors were in fourth place with Sophomores slightly ahead. The biggest surprise was the news that the Seniors and Freshmen were tied for first. This was turning out to be much harder than the Seniors anticipated.

The signs of Spirit Week were more obvious as cakes were displayed and booths were set. In case memory fails, the themes of each class: Seniors with a Beach Boys’ California theme, Juniors with Fred Flintstone and Bedrock, Sophomores decided to go with Reagan and Freshmen with The Movies. For booths there were points given in two categories; one for overall effect and another for most money raised. Seniors came in first for fund raising, but Juniors were able to capture Most Creative. The spread of points between each class was so thin that only those who decided to keep a careful record knew each class standing. The last event during the Pep Rally would determine the winner.

The Jump Rope Contest was the last hope; the hope that the Juniors could win or at least improve their previous last place position; the hope that the Sophomores could at least beat the Juniors; the hope that for the first time at East the Freshmen could win; the hope that the Seniors would not lose. For those who were really into the contest, the introductions to the players on East’s teams seemed interminably long. The Freshmen got up early in their excitement, but finally they jumped - 12 times. Several more introductions for a sport, or was it for the cheerleaders? Many don’t remember; they were wrapped up in the contest. Next, the Sophomores took center and after only 7 jumps, wild cheers erupted from Freshmen and disappointed sighs from the Sophomore spectators. More introductions, a display of some gymnastics, and then the Juniors are on. If anyone had been watching carefully, he would notice extremely confident signals exchanged among the Juniors. Perhaps they seemed just a little too confident. They had all the right to be confident. Earlier in the Rally, Mr. Belchikoff mentioned that the school record was 22 held by the seniors two years ago. No one really expected to break it. At least no one thought they could except the jumping Juniors. “Louie, Louie” began to play and students started to count “1, 2, 3, …” Did the Juniors break the record? Break it they did, by two more jumps and yes, it did seem possible that they could have done more but the rope just wasn’t long enough for them to fit more in. Juniors stood and cheered as realization dawned on the other classes of exactly how close the contest was. Pressure was on the seniors. The music began, “1, 2, 3, …” How many jumps did they get? I don’t remember. I do know they got past 12 because even before the jumpers fully finished, the Seniors who were sitting rose and cheered. It was confirmed. Seniors won.

Were the other classes disappointed? No! Juniors were happy because they came in a very respectable second. Freshmen were happy because they were third. The Sophomores? Well, perhaps they weren’t quite content with being last, but they knew, like the Graduating Class of 1988 knew, that they would win one day. The Seniors got a better contest than they anticipated, but it made victory sweeter and created a moment more memorable. Congratulations Class of ’88!!

Powder Puff Football

No, it isn't a make-up contest. This is the annual football game played between the juniors and seniors. Why "Powder Puff?" Because females play and males cheer! Here at East for one Sunday each fall the pigskin clearly belongs to the girls.

Practice was no less grueling than those Coach Wood supervises. The girls who make the team put amazing amounts of time and energy into their practices. Coaches drilled, scolded, and coaxed their teams. Friends provided moral support.

Finally, the brilliant autumn Sunday dawned. The juniors had won for three years and wanted to continue the streak. The seniors, no less intent on a victory, wanted to retain their record as winners.

Within seconds the seniors dazzled the spectators with their speed and coordination. The juniors were fazed but still confident that the opposition was all show. Avid fans soon realized that this match wasn't going to be an easy victory for either team.

The play forced both teams to their limits. When it was over, the seniors were victorious. For the juniors, disappointment but the goal of a comeback victory in '89. Great play and the thought that they are the only team ever to win two years in a row filled the seniors with pride. The class of '88 started another trend with their Powder Puff win!
BALLOON-A-GRAMS

The popularity of the BALLOON-A-GRAM is evident as you see the brightly colored helium filled balloons resting across the ceilings of many classrooms, attached to lockers, and bouncing along the corridors and stairways of East.

So when you are stuck on what to give your best friends for their birthdays and really want to embarrass them for an entire day, then the BALLOON-A-GRAM is ideal for you. For a nominal fee, a bunch of tied helium balloons can be delivered to that someone during homeroom period, complete with a short, cheery message. Without a doubt, the absolute, personal gift for friends, lab partners, favorite teachers and even for a
THE SPIRIT OF AMERICA

A MUSICAL TRIBUTE TO THE BI-CENTENNIAL OF THE CONSTITUTION

On the nights of November 19, 20, and 21, the audience in Cherry Hill East’s auditorium was whirled into a spell-binding time warp. Transported back in time to 1787, for three captivating hours East’s fall production, THE SPIRIT OF AMERICA captured the culture and the history and the excitement that developed through America’s music. Important historical figures such as Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson and George Washington graced the stage. An enthralling finale included the East Marching Band which inspired the theatre audience to hold onto those last fleeting moments and helped everyone leave the building very proud to be an American.

East’s drama productions and musical presentations are among the most anticipated highlights of the school year. This 1987 production combined the right combination of dedicated students, directors and musicians, all set to present the best show possible. And they did!

The teenager came into my office. She seemed like a good kid, probably in high school. Attended Cherry Hill East. I can tell these things.

She was shy and almost walked out. Then, getting over her fear, she came to my desk. I leaned toward her and heard her whisper, “Homecoming.” I knew now why she came to my detective agency. See, she had to find exactly what “Homecoming” was. Sure, everyone knew about the East vs. West football game, held on Thanksgiving, but she searched for something more, the part that not all people see. I took the job, hoping I wouldn’t disappoint her.

I started early Thanksgiving morning on my undercover work. Dressed in a red and white sweatshirt and jeans, I headed to West stadium. I had parked two blocks away, but as soon as I stepped out, I could hear cheers and whistles. I glanced at my watch and knew it was much too early for the game. Time to start investigating.

There were several cars around the track. All were convertibles and very stylish, but what they blocked held my interest. Homecoming floats. The first, the Freshman float, had “The Kit Kat Klub” painted on the background. Their theme was the Roaring Twenties. Next, the Sophomores decorated theirs in the style of the Psychedelic Sixties. That sure brought back memories. Following was the Junior float focusing on the Far Future, featuring the Jetsons, and lastly, the Seniors with the Prehistoric Past. No one needed to inform me that all the kids put in hours of work. They had drawn, painted, hammered, written, sung and danced just to win first place. Seniors may have won, but in my eyes, they were all winners.
As the marching band came onto the field, I could tell the game would be starting within a few minutes. Their uniforms sparkled in the bright morning sun. With precise synchronization, they marched onto the field as they played, followed by the rifles and flag twirlers. The small crowd which had already gathered, clapped loudly as the band performed a medley of songs. Finally, the time had come, and the now-filled stands rose as the National Anthem was played. The game began.

I watched the first few minutes of the game, but found my attention focusing on the people in the stands, not the game. Their faces told all. Smiles stretched on every face. Fathers, mothers, children screamed and groaned with each yard gained or lost. However, nothing matched the pride which shone on their faces as East made another touchdown.

At halftime, I mingled with the crowd and found myself drifting toward the sidelines. The cheerleaders danced and yelled with an enthusiasm this detective has never seen. I turned around and saw that many of the fans were college freshmen. Distinguishing themselves from their former classmates, each wore an oversized sweatshirt with logo of their new school emblazoned across the front.

Of course, it didn’t escape my eye that some of the high school kids tried to look like college kids, but no one can fake the excited shouts and squeals when one meets an already graduated friend. Exchanging news, happiness radiated from the faces of both the returning student and his avid listener.

CONTINUES ON PG. 187
Finding my place in the stands once again, I saw the Homecoming parade circling the track. Between each float, in the convertibles, were the Homecoming Queens. Miriam Zibell, East’s Junior Miss, led the entourage. I took note of each representative. Jennifer Dunfee, Alison Moss and Linda Mone had been elected by the Freshmen, Sophomores and Juniors. The Seniors couldn’t seem to decide and had five representatives: Elisa Pollack, Amy Reinstein, Julie Schwalo, Tobi Seltzer and Naomi Spirn.

Halftime was over and many of the families came back to their seats with hot dogs and sodas in their hands. The more I watched the game, the more absorbed I became. Before I realized it, the game was over, East shutting out West.

I stayed until the stadium was empty. Homecoming excited everyone and all eagerly went home to start roasting the turkey. I wanted to retain the feeling that still lingered over the stands long after everyone had gone. I carefully wrote the details on my notepad.

The kid came back to my office on Monday with a look of hope and anticipation etched clearly on her face. She asked if I found what she was looking for. I gave her the facts, just the facts and I thought I didn’t quite have the story she wanted. Then it came to me while I was talking. Homecoming has a spirit which comes from the people who were on the field, on the float and in the stands. The Homecoming spirit was competition and camaraderie, the individual and the team, the young and the old but overall it was the sense of community which pervaded from early morning into the afternoon.

I looked up after I made my little speech and saw the smile. I got what she wanted: the side of Homecoming which people don’t realize they make and are part of. She left. I knew she was as happy with my solution to the Homecoming case as I was. I can tell these things.
Holiday F.O.P./Rotary Party

Every December Cherry Hill East students produce a tremendous gala affair in conjunction with the F.O.P. and Rotary Club of Cherry Hill - the annual Christmas Party, established for the benefit of handicapped children in the Cherry Hill area.

Mr. Fred Belchikoff is the faculty director with over 200 dedicated, hard-working East people assisting. These students work after school for weeks, making holiday decorations, wrapping gifts and planning the extra holiday surprises which bring the holiday cheer and spirit to all. It is an extremely rewarding experience for all participants, which can usually be measured by the size of the smiles on both the East students and the children.
As December rolls around, strange creatures clad in red roam the halls, classrooms, and cafeterias of East. Who are these strange creatures, you might ask? They are the blood drops, the symbols of our annual blood drive. East has become famous for its blood drive and is now considered the leading contributor in the Delaware Valley. There is a reason for this success, and it lies in the students’ enthusiasm for the program. As the drive draws nearer, posters are hung and assemblies are held to answer any questions, doubts, or fears students may have. Students encourage each other to donate blood, and those who are not eligible offer their services. Together, East students dedicate time and their arms for a moment of friendship and sharing in the effort to save lives.

Blood Drive
A stream of light pierced the darkness. In the center of the ray stood a lone figure, his back turned to the audience - a shadow in the light. Suddenly, stage lights flooded the room, revealing a mass of screaming, cheering fans. The music began to play. The star turned to face the audience and began to sing.

Or did he really? After all, this was no other than Cherry Hill High School East's Second Annual Lip Sync Night, our very own "Puttin' On the Hits." On January 15, East students became instant rock stars - parading on stage, mouthing the music, and struttin' their stuff. Acts were judged on originality, appearance, audience appeal, and lip sync. Coming in first place was "The Wanderers," followed by "2 Plus 3," "Thunder and Lightening," and "One Man Act." For the audience, however, it was no contest; all the performers were winners.
OLIVER!
The Making Of A Musical

Mr. Nation, the original, the one and only, acclaimed director and producer of the OLIVER Musical.

Jason Rossman, Stage Manager checking out final details.

T ALENT. This word best describes the students who combined their efforts to produce Oliver!, the 1988 spring musical. ACTION. Sounds of saws and hammers, crew calls and auditions filtered through the closed doors of the auditorium. WORK. Dance routines, music rehearsals, memorizing lines - all were attended to with enthusiasm and dedication, and eventually, the pieces began to fall into place.

By March 18, 1988, the 120 students of Oliver! comprising one of East’s largest casts ever, were ready. They had their own unique personality - a distinct originality. For the first time, the leading role, that of Oliver Twist, was triple cast, and the show involved girls acting as boys; furthermore, a large number of actors were actually elementary school students, revealing “people to watch” in East’s future.

However, they could not quite begin before reflecting upon and thanking the distinguished teachers and directors who had brought them so far, so quickly. Mr. Thomas Weaver and the technical crew constructed breathtaking sets, including an expansive Londen Bridge. Mr. Bruce Yurko conducted the Pit Orchestra’s difficult music score, requiring great skill from each musician. Mrs. Wilson, East’s choral instructor, developed the cast’s vocal strength, while Miss Robertson planned the choreography. And of course, the entire cast could thank Mr. Robert Nation, the director, who had combined all the efforts into this monumental production.

The lights dimmed, and the auditorium grew quiet. Backstage a flurry of excitement and anticipation spread rapidly, a mixture of tension, nervousness, tears, laughter, and hugs. Finally, the curtain rose, and the thunderous applause of the audience rushed forth. For the next three hours, the stage became a launching-pad of expression, emotion, and talent. It was worth every single moment of hard work.

EAST GOES EAST
Wind Ensemble Tours Soviet Union

The last week of June 1987 found our Cherry Hill East Wind Ensemble leaving Kennedy airport in New York by jumbo jet bound for the Soviet Union. The excitement ran high and the honor overwhelming when Mr. Bruce Yurko, director of the Wind Ensemble received notice that they were selected to represent the United States as part of the cultural exchange program under the auspices of the Creative Arts Workshop.

As a result of President Reagan and Premier Gorbachev's summit conference, a cultural exchange program was designated between the two governments. The Wind Ensemble was selected because of their superior ratings from competitive performances held by the Creative Arts Workshop. With a perfect score from the Newport Creative Arts Workshop festival in 1982, the Wind Ensemble was invited to return in 1985. Once again they gave a very impressive performance which resulted in the invitation to tour three cities in Russia. In addition to Newport, the Wind Ensemble performed at Trenton State College for the past four years, placing first each time as they bested thirty other high school musical groups in the competition.

The tour was of a two week duration which took the Ensemble to Moscow, Tallin and Gorky Park. Each location offered the opportunity to perform in concert and a highlight of the tour was a performance with the Tallin Conservatory Wind Ensemble. The group worked hard with rehearsals, practices and performance time, but they managed to spend a good bit of time seeing the surrounding countryside and taking dozens of pictures to fill albums with the memories that will last a lifetime.

East Singers has, for the past seventeen years represented the creme de la creme of the choral department. This particular group has been marked by achievements with a high degree of excellence. Not to by outdone, Chansons has also proven themselves to be an 'honors' curricular choir. Comprised solely of female voices, they travel throughout the community showcasing their talent. Vocal Workshop is East's introductory choir where students learn the fundamentals of singing. Belles of East and Madrigals are East's widely acclaimed extracurricular choirs who also travel throughout South Jersey.

This year, East welcomed Mrs. Lisa Wilson as our new choral director. She, herself, has a long list of achievements including performing at Alice Tully Hall in New York's Lincoln Center. We are greatly honored by her presence and hope that she finds her students' performances as rewarding as we find her direction.

Practice, Patience, Performance

Cherry Hill East students have a reputation of not only participating in a diversity of activities, but of excelling at them. One such activity is music. The high caliber of East's musicians and singers has earned them both accolades and admiration. Each individual performer is essential to the group, but it is the collective whole that makes the music shine.

East's famous musicians have a unique character. They fill the halls of East with their music, affectionately calling D-wing "home." The students can be seen throughout the school selling M&M's, carrying their instruments, or humming songs. They can create envy in the most studious and worldly of classmates when they have a music lesson out of English class or a performance to give in Russia. Their outstanding virtue, however, is their dedication. It is not unusual for these committed performers to stay after school until 5:00 P.M. for rehearsal, only to go home to learn and practice additional pieces. These students devote great amounts of time and energy to their respective groups, all hoping to achieve perfection, and when the concert finally has been given so beautifully, then each know they were an integral, important member.

Perhaps the most rewarding experience of being a member of the performing arts is the development of friendships with fellow artists. The feeling of striving toward a common goal of excellence and perfection makes the long hours of practice worthwhile. And the companionship does not stop with the students; it is extended to teachers and directors as well. They share the same desire to strive for the best and achieve success. Without the directors, the talent would not reach its full capacity.

The musicians and singers at Cherry Hill East are a unique group. Their talents are as diverse as their personalities. Despite individual differences, they are held together by friendship, perseverance, and the desire to illuminate East with the gift of music.

With another excellent year under their belt, our girls' soccer team has made everyone here at East very proud of them. One of their several accomplishments was winning the Olympic Conference American Division championship for the third year in a row. They defended their title against Washington Township during a game in which Andrea Rubio was a pivotal team member, scoring four goals. The team also reached the State and the Coaches' Tournament semi-finals. The soccer team's feats were reflected in its outstanding record; they were undefeated in their division, except for a scoreless tie versus Edgewood. Their achievements did not go unnoticed—East's girls' soccer team was rated Number One in South Jersey and seated first in Division Four of the state tournament.
The Cougar varsity soccer team ended the season with an outstanding record of 21-4-1. East was the South Jersey Group 4 champion and went to the State Finals for Group 4. They also clinched the Olympic Conference title with their final season game against Cherry Hill West.

EAST
vs.
NAVY

For only one special event will you ever see all the East varsity soccer players in school wearing their suits, sweaters and shoes. This marks their annual migration to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland.

After a three hour bus ride, the soccer players reached the campus Friday afternoon. As an early preparation for the game, they competed amongst each other in a field goal kicking contest.

The game was played Saturday afternoon on the Navy soccer field, a stone's throw away from the bay. The scheduled game was between East's varsity and the Navy Plebes. It has been rumored, though, that certain Navy upperclassmen are brought down from the J.V. team in order to assure their victory. In 1986 East lost 3-0 to the Plebes.

Each year's contest has been an extremely physical game and this year was no exception. Not only was the soccer players' strength tested, but their endurance was also put to the test. The team usually plays four twenty minute periods, but against Navy the game consisted of two forty-five minute halves.

One well placed shot to the lower corner was the only ball able to get by goalkeeper, Mike Branch, but this was enough to give Navy a 1-0 victory over the Cougar varsity. Eric Thomas, Evan Rekast, Bill Curley and Mark Pelouze played outstanding defensively, fending off the Navy offense. Dan Palazzo, Todd Kinney and Dan Beaney were engaged in hand to hand combat in their attempt to control the midfield. Chris Errazuriz, Andy Sever, Jim Murphy and Mike Joseph put an enormous amount of pressure on the Navy goalie in the last few minutes, but he was able miraculously to come out unscathed.

The rest of the team, and all the spectators were extremely supportive during the entire game. One senior soccer player's advice to next year's team on how to beat Navy is, "Only 'hard work' can 'get the job done.'"
The Boys' Gymnastics team ended an outstanding season by becoming the South Jersey State Sectional Team Champions. Individual team members honored were: Dan Goldstein and Marc Waldman, finalists in state individual meet. Richard Highland made 1st team South Jersey, Scott Drucker made 2nd team South Jersey. Ari Goldstein, Dave Cliff, Scott Drucker, Richard Highland, Evan Aronow, Alex Franco, Dan Goldstein, Marc Waldman all qualified to participate in the state individual gymnastics meet.

Their hopes of winning the playoffs had been cruelly ended the previous week in a bitterly cold, heartbreaking loss to Washington Township. With this in mind, it would have been understandable if this Cherry Hill East football team simply looked past its annual Homecoming game against Cherry Hill West to next year's seasons at both the high school and college levels. But that was not their style.

Utilizing both the stifling defense and the powerful offense that characterized the team all season, East punished West by a score of 34-0 to finish out the season with an 8-2 record. They were led defensively by Howard Maycon, who blocked two punts, recovered a fumble, and was involved in three sacks, Bill Fisher and Mike Zelinsky with one sack each, Greg Casamento, who recovered Maycon's first blocked punt, Ken Stackhouse, who recovered a fumble, and Steve Malloy, who returned an interception twenty-three yards for a touchdown.

Offensively, East scored twenty-one points in the first quarter, capitalizing on a Brian Kurlej forty-five yard touchdown following Maycon's fumble recovery, Glen Foley's seven yard run following Maycon's first blocked punt, and Malloy's interception and touchdown return. In the third period, Foley threw a forty-one yard touchdown to Steve Lobel, and in the fourth period, Derek Gold leaped over the goal line, following Maycon's second blocked punt.

Recruiters from many major colleges were present, and they surely went home impressed. It was the third consecutive shutout in the Homecoming series for the Cougars, who lead the series 17-2, and the thirty-four point margin was the widest margin of victory every recorded in the series history. "It was," as Coach Bo Wood declared, "a good send-off to a great season."

Sports Trainers

Faculty athletic trainer, Tony Decker, and the five student trainers, Matt Neiberg, Kerrie Kaufman, Brian Thorpe, Kim Reed, and Dave Edmondson, have a busy schedule during the school year, performing many jobs for the various sports played at Cherry Hill East. One important duty of the student trainers is to tape athletes in order to prevent injuries from occurring or reoccurring. In the trainers’ room, hurt players can be found working to rehabilitate their injuries under the supervision of the trainers. Stretching and conditioning programs are also taught to the athletes on East teams so that they can perform better in competition and stay healthier. The sports trainers are an integral part of the East athletic program, and the jobs they do are greatly appreciated by all the athletes at East.

OUR THOUGHT FOR KRISTA DI GIALLORENZO

Kindergarten was the start of school, it didn't seem that long ago.

Remembering the things you've done we hate to see you grow.

It's part of life to see you change, it's something we both realize.

So long as you enjoy your life and always have happiness in your eyes,

The time has come for a new plateau, we wish you great success,

Always keep this loving thought in mind, you will always be our happiness.
