To the Class of 1963:

Our RAMPANT lion, a restless, raging symbol of strength of purpose and unity of spirit, has come to represent fundamental things, precious things. These are the things to be remembered and to be cherished.

Behind this lion stands a school—basically an institution of secondary education but certainly a great deal more. To all, it has been a place in which maturity and knowledge have been acquired and practiced. To all, it has been a "laboratory of life," wherein learning has been overshadowed only by living. To many, it will constitute a steppingstone to great and glorious achievement. Is not this to be remembered and cherished?

Behind this lion stand people. These people are the ones to whom all is owed: friends, associates, instructors, counselors, classmates—some teaching, all learning. They must be remembered.

There is more behind this symbol. There is a perpetual flow of youth eternally taking its place in a promising world. These are the people to whom we have been closest, our classmates and, in this instance, the Graduating Class of 1963. Certainly, they must not be forgotten.

Is there much more? The answer lies in the pages of this book. That is the purpose of the RAMPANT: that we be reminded of the past, that it may be cherished.

SENIOR SUPPLEMENT 194
Working individually or together, Senior Class Co-Advisors Mr. and Mrs. Donovan Allen unselfishly give of themselves in the execution of the tasks with which the Class of 1963 has been concerned. As instructors, counselors, and friends, they are exemplary of that which is admired and respected in the teacher. With genuine concern, eagerness to participate, and invaluable guidance, they inject warmth and purpose into the activities of those about them. The Cherry Hill High School Class of 1963, infused with a deep sense of gratitude and devotion, proudly dedicates the 1963 Rampant to Mr. and Mrs. Allen.

DEDICATION
"The direction in which education starts a man will determine his future life."

Plato

Admirably it is the experience and knowledge of our education that will prescribe our fortune; however, what is education, but the teachings of our instructors, the guidance of our counselors. Thus, let this be a testimony of our gratitude to those who have given so freely of themselves, for it is to them that we are indebted — the faculty of Cherry Hill High School.
Confronted by the problems of an expanding community and, subsequently, of the adaptations that must be met by the secondary school system, Dr. Robert E. Hansen has invariably overcome these obstacles by administrative excellence and calculated efficiency. With sincerity of purpose, Dr. Hansen has continually regarded the needs and desires of the student; with dignity, Dr. Hansen has executed the responsibilities of his position.
To the Class of 1963:

The graduation of the Class of 1963 witnesses the departure of the last group to have been students for a six-year period, having initially entered the high school in 1957 in grade seven. Our association has been a long one and it is with a sense of loss that we say farewell.

During your high school career your sound leadership and high level citizenship has been reflected throughout the student body. In your eagerness to serve you have contributed much to the school. It is my hope that you have learned that self realization depends not on material values alone. The rich and fruitful life is marked by service. I am confident that you will pursue your goals with courage and perseverance. We stand ready to help when possible, and wish you well in the journey ahead through the ever-lengthening shadows of life.

"It is for youth to acquire, and for age to apply."
Seneca

The Class of 1963, a body welded by the flux of time, has achieved its prescribed task. Knowledge has been acquired, maturity attained, preparation for the future completed. Four years of intimate association has infused its members with the quality of understanding and the ability to harmonize with one's fellows. Youth has been left behind. With the passage of time the real test is yet to be confronted, the successful utilization of that which the Class of 1963 has acquired.
Considering the many projects and responsibilities encountered in the senior year, the Class of 65 has perhaps never been more ably led. Much of the success must be credited to Advisors Mr. and Mrs. Donovan Allen, who in conjunction with the class officers, molded an efficient administrative unit. Each of the officers had experienced one or more years in a position of similar leadership prior to the senior year. The result was the smooth coordination of all class activities which accounted for the undeniably prosperity of the Class of 1965.
At the beginning of the senior year, each of the ten senior home-rooms elected a class representative. This individual was essentially a communicant between the officers and students, but also functioned in the collection of dues and in the execution of other tasks.

Executive Committee
Executive Council

Consisting of the runners-up to class office and Rampant Editor-in-Chief Marguerite Marino, the Senior Executive Council served in the capacity of an advisory group. The council was frequently called upon to aid in the organization of various activities.
Membership in the Hall of Fame is one of the most coveted honors of Cherry Hill High School. First conceived by the Class of 1961, the intent of this society is to distinguish the ten most outstanding members of the senior class, in this instance, the Class of 1963. A precise and complex procedure characterizes the selection of constituents of the Hall of Fame: a special committee, consisting of sixteen faculty members and sixteen students, nominate and elect members to this association on the basis of Scholarship, Extracurricular Activities, Athletic activity, Service, Leadership and Character. The Hall of Fame signifies commendations and distinction to those who attain its rank.
The Order of the Lion was initiated with the object of recognizing those students possessing the finest scholastic ability in our school. The distinction of membership is significant; for only the three highest ranking students of each class are inducted. The Order of the Lion key, presented to each member, serves to recognize and commemorate his outstanding scholastic achievement.

On May 22, 1962, ten per cent of the Class of 1963 was inducted into the Robert E. Hansen Chapter of the National Honor Society; in May of 1963, an additional five per cent of this class was admitted into the society, along with ten per cent of the Class of 1964. Thus, the National Honor Society is a perpetual organization, having as its primary objective the recognition of those students who best display the qualities of Scholarship, Character, Leadership and Service. In addition, Advisor Mr. John Collins, in cooperation with the society's officers, President Tracy Leute, Vice President Anthony Petrillo and Secretary-Treasurer Evelyn De Prince, initiated service projects for the benefit of the student body.

Education is an expediency, a process by which its participants are able to mold a worthwhile future. The attainment of this object. The achievement of scholarship and knowledge, development of personality and maturity, and the simulation of curiosity and interest are the ordinates which may one day give the underclassmen of Cherry Hill "where to stand."

"Give me where to stand, and I will move the earth."
Archimedes
Guiding the Class of 1964 in its activities, Advisor Mr. Robert Quay, in conjunction with class officers: President Candace Kerr, Vice President Phyllis Conte, Secretary Betty Havens, and Treasurer Judith Oakley, succeeded in placing the Junior Class in a position of financial security. Following a most productive candy sale, the juniors concerned themselves with the production of a play and the realization of a prom.
JUNIOR CLASS ACTIVITIES

Under the supervision of Mr. Robert Quay, assisted by officers and Executive Committee members, the Class of 1964 conducted a most successful candy sale. Through the whole-hearted cooperation of its members, the class carried the sales well over its quota, more than adequately supplementing its treasury.
"Teahouse of the August Moon", the John Patrick prize winning play, was presented by the Junior Class on March 8 and 9.

A technical as well as a dramatic success, the play provided theatregoers with humorous if not accurate pictures of life in an Okinawan village during the occupation by the U.S. Army immediately following World War II.

Mr. Robert Quay, Junior Class advisor, supervised set construction of which the teahouse is certain to linger in the minds of many as the most notable achievement. An oriental atmosphere pervaded the entire evening. Shoji screens, expert costuming and make-up, and a genuine geisha girl dance contributed to the authenticity of the entire production.

Under the direction of Mrs. Vera Chambers, excellent performances were turned in by the leading players. Ranging from a geisha girl to an Army psychiatrist, the variety in characterization indicates the intricacy of producing the play.

The "Spirit of '65", administered by President Larry Silverman, Vice President Alan Leeds, Treasurer Philip Benson, and Secretary Nancy Carty, received added impetus in its undertakings through the efforts of Advisor Mr. Robert Riley. The sophomores industriously set about acquiring revenue for class functions, while generously raising additional money for the Camden County Day Nursery. Also, the class published the NEWSNOOK, the only newspaper of its kind in the school, and as its primary activity, the class held its dance for the benefit of the student body, "1001 Arabian Nights."

Advisor
Amid a setting of palm trees and Arabian tents, the Class of 1967 presented "1001 Arabian Nights" as its annual dance. Attended by many students, the dance was well planned by class advisor Mr. Robert Riley, class officers, and committee members. Complete with a band, records, and refreshments, the first sophomore class activity of the school year was considered a success.

Mr. George Williams undertook the direction of the largest class ever to enter Cherry Hill High School. Numbering over five hundred, the Class of 1966 maintained an administration comprised of President Diane Geist, Vice President Wayne Huntsinger, Treasurer Berna Leonard, and Secretary, Brena Borders. Overflowing with enthusiasm and possessing the capabilities of industry and enterprise, the Class of 1966 anticipates a productive and prosperous future.
On the evening of November 4, 1962 the Freshman Class presented its first and primary activity of the year: its dance, "Autumn Leaves." As the product of much hard work and enthusiastic dedication, the dance proved to be a great success. The festivities included a large orchestra, a prize that the excited crowd well deserved.

Diversity of activities and excellence of organization describe the extra-curricular program at Cherry Hill High School. Every conceivable type of pursuit is represented, insuring that each individual has the opportunity to stimulate effectively his personal interests. Massive and varied, the sphere of the non-academic encompasses a large portion of the student body.
STUDENT COUNCIL

Cherry Hill High School's Student Council, a democratic student governing body, examines and acts upon opinions and observations of the general school population as voiced through the home room representatives in the weekly council meetings. As a testimony to the excellence of this organization, it received a "first accommodation," the highest rating possible, in the recent evaluation by the Middle Atlantic Educational Association.

President Lewis Weber, Vice President Stuart Weiner, Secretary Susan Lewis, and Treasurer Jane Lyon. The sale of activity cards, the student council's first major activity, met with resounding success, and the revenue derived from this yearly fall project served to supplement the beneficial General Fund. Council presented three student dances, the Halloween Dance, the Valentine Dance, and the Student Council's dance. The attendance was all successful and widely attended. In addition to its myriad services, the council initiated a novel program, paid assemblies, a project that furnished the student body with informative entertainment. The Student Council may indeed be proud of its current performance and the worthwhile tradition it has established for the future.

Under the guidance of Miss J. Yeager, Miss E. McNulty, and Mrs. M. Warner, the 1963 Lion's Roar continued its function as the school's communicator of events, interests, and opinions. With Sheryl Gordon as Editor-in-Chief, the publication was issued, as is customary, eight times during the school year. Robert Gerber, News Editor, concerned himself with general school news, while Kathleen McKinney, Editorial Chief, kept the student body abreast of current opinion. Features Editor Judith Oakley was responsible for the miscellaneous articles of interest, and Stuart Weiner served as sports commentator. Other posts were filled by Karen Lashman as Alumni Editor, Barbara Emme and Irene Nassau as Business Managers, and Judith Parrish, Raymond Stubblebine and Marlayne Tissot responsible for the copy, photography and exchange, respectively. In addition were the many reporters, typists and business staff workers, who combined to make the Lion's Roar the award-winning paper it deserved to be.

Under the direction of Karen Lashman, Homecoming Chairman, seniors nominated candidates for queen. Presented at the Thanksgiving Pep Rally and Football Game, the girls were also honored at the annual Homecoming Dance.

Citizenship Institute

At the end of their junior year, eight boys were selected as delegates to Boys' State, four girls to Girls' State and two girls to Citizenship Institute. These activities are under the direction of Vice Principal, Mr. Thomas Cannavo. As requirements for delegation, these students necessarily possessed the qualities of leadership, scholarship, and character, and actively participated in school and community affairs. The object of the program is the teaching of government; the students learn and live the rules and practices of good citizenship and government by forming model communities administered by themselves.
On Friday and Saturday evenings, January 25 and 26, 1963, Cherry Hill High School presented its annual Variety Show. Truly a product of school-wide participation, the show combined the efforts and talents of some one hundred and twenty-five students, grades nine through twelve. Imagination, ingenuity, novelty, and variety characterized the production's seventeen acts. Instrumentals, modern jazz, ballads, choreography, and even magic found their way into the design of producer and director William D. Burley. The program bore such interesting attractions as "Accordion Accuracy," "The Coachmen Trio," "An Evening in an Expresso Cabaret," "At the Hammond Organ," "The Bill Bailey's."

ORGANIZATIONS

Cherry Hill High School recognizes the necessity for a substantial extra curricular program for the benefit of its students. Consequently, that program encompasses organizations from the myriad and diversified interests displayed by the student body. Clubs for future homemakers, nurses, business leaders and teachers execute their functions; at the same time associations for singers, biologists, artists, and linguists plan activities. Virtually every type of activity is present, but in the event a particular interest is not represented, the request for a new activity is invariably met with consideration.

Although athletics never overshadow the intended function of the high school, that is, secondary education, its presence constitutes an undeniable necessity by which the total development of the student is effected. Expert supervision, incomparable enthusiasm of the participants, and unrestrained support characterize this program at Cherry Hill which accounts for their dynamic nature and influential role in the co-curricular.

FOOTBALL

The "whiz kids," a label appropriately coined by Head Coach Lester Zetty, were molded into a formidable competitor at the hands of Mr. Zetty and his assistants: Mr. Joseph Chilbert, Mr. Alexander Neiman, Mr. Gordon Simpson, and Mr. Alfred Stashe. The coaches introduced an organizational innovation with separation of the team into four distinct offensive and defensive units, which proved effective in the stiff competition encountered this year in the Group Four Conference (Woodrow Wilson, Vineland, Camden, and Atlantic City). The team's unmatched enthusiasm and evenly distributed potential accounted for its successful 1962-1963 season as evidenced by its near-undefeated record and its average of nineteen points per game as compared to its opponents' five.

The 1962 season saw the diligent coaching of Mr. Robert Ainspac and the abundant effort extended by his "harriers" compile the most impressive Cross Country record in the history of the school. The team ended its trials with the accumulation of eight wins and two losses and the acquisition of the Camden County championship. A second place in the South Jersey Group Four Meet and a sixth position in the South Jersey Open Meet further testified to the excellence of the Cherry Hill group. Special credit must be extended to Philip Fiskett who broke several school records in the course of the season.

Third row: D. Hjorth, A. Smith, Mr. Ainspac, R. Hjorth, E. Norris.
Basketball at Cherry Hill attained a singular level of prominence during the 1962-63 season. The inestimable caliber of Coaches Pete Monska and Is Osherow and the prowess and spirit of the fast-moving team provided a truly outstanding ball club. Moving into its first year of Group IV competition, the Lions sustained only one loss in that category which insured them the Group IV crown. The course of the season found Cherry Hill’s handsome record spiced with wins over Camden and Bishop Eustace, the latter unbeaten for thirty-five consecutive games. Entering the state-wide competition, the Lions triumphed over Millville and Camden and captured the South Jersey Championship.

Many games were won by a successful three-point play, by Rick Dean’s drive from the key or on a steal by Charlie Bechtel and a pass down the court to Rick Costello or Bill Lovett for the lay-up. The success of the season can be attributed to the hustle and determination of the entire team. Perfect examples of this were Dean’s drive from the key, the ball hawking of Charlie Bechtel and Bill DiAngelis and the many rebounds pulled down by Rick Dean, Mike Wilkes and Bill Duble.

As a final tribute to Cherry Hill’s vitality, Richard Costello and Richard Dean were selected for membership in the 1963 Group IV All-South Jersey Team. Cherry Hill High School may indeed be proud of its championship team, a team that has brought fame and honor to themselves and to the school.

Ronald Voughs and Thomas May led the Cherry Hill wrestling team into its second year of varsity competition under the auspices of the Delaware Valley Wrestling Conference, an affiliation of eleven secondary schools. The task of molding this young and energetic group ultimately fell to the hands of Coach Alexander Neiman. With the acquisition of valuable experience the boys attained individual merit, and continually unified as a group into a vigorous rival.

The 1963 season found the Cherry Hill Lions prime contenders for first place honors in the South Jersey Swimming League. A company of four seniors, nineteen juniors, five sophomores, and thirteen freshmen constituted a well-balanced competitor boasting formidable experience and vigorous potential. Coach George Rhea, along with co-captains James Naughton and Vincent Howard, sparked the team to superlative performances in the interschool competition. Among the records broken were the 100 freestyle by Tom Cassidy and the medley relay. Consequently, in the course of the current season, Cherry Hill swimmers amassed a series of broken records while cultivating an active, unbreakable spirit.

The 1962 season found the track team initiated to the stiff competition presented by the Group 4 Conference. Nevertheless, Coaches Joseph Chilbert and Robert Ferris actively molded a group capable of superlative performance. Power and potential seemed to characterize each division. The “thin clads” offered many returning lettermen, among whom were milers Herbert Smith, Philip Fiskett, Joseph Davis, Kenneth Giebel, and Harry Pugliese; Thomas Mazakas compounded a record that testified to his role as the team’s most valuable sprinter. Walter Applegate starred in pole vaulting, while the weights featured Warren Andress, John Dinsmore, William Lovett, and Carter Newton. Roger Horniff and Adrian Sweeney represented the group in the hurdles. The 1963 season will present these same Lions as an unbeatable track team.

GOLF

A relatively new sport at Cherry Hill, golf was begun in the spring of 1961 by Mr. Hayes with Woodcrest Country Club as the home course. The 1962 season found captain Rick Thomas with a record of six victories, seven defeats, and one tie. As a member of the South Jersey Inter-Scholastic League, the Cherry Hill team is eligible to participate in two state tournaments.

The Lions, in their third year of varsity competition, secured a 16-4 record under the supervision of Coach Michael Briglia. This successful response was due largely to the maintenance of a competent pitching division. Gerald McNee frequented the mound nine times, amassing seven wins. The remaining assignments were fulfilled by Edward Bickel, Charles Hall, and Richard Dean. Fred Chmielewski, Martin Weber, and Richard Dean co-ordinated efforts in the infield while Edward Butler, Thomas May, and Robert Pickett complemented outfield play. Furnished with exceptional batting power, the Lions remained a disquieting force with which to contend.
Facing the best competition in the Camden County area during the 1962-63 season, the Girls' athletic teams did exceedingly well. Miss Bell, Miss Elder, Mrs. Whitaker, Miss Capano, and Miss Brown comprised a competent coaching staff—a staff skilled in the teaching of both athletic ability and sportsmanship.

Time is a sort of river of passing events, and strong is its current; no sooner is a thing brought to sight than it is swept by another that takes its place, and this too will be swept away.

The Class of 1963 is no longer; it is merely a warm membrane of those who once formed it. The purposes it has fulfilled, the goals it has achieved will likewise be attained by succeeding classes. Nevertheless, the Class of 1963 may be proud of its history and confident of the tradition of which it was a part.
Advisors to the 1963 Rampant: Mr. Donovan Allen, Mrs. Barbara Allen, Mrs. Alida Hansen, Miss Barbara Sherlock.

The most substantial project ever to be undertaken by the Class of 1963, the Rampant was the product of continuous industry and constant activity. Realizing the scope of its dimensions, the Rampant staff editors commenced work on the enterprise in the summer of 1962 and persisted in their labors up to the deadlines of early 1963. Two individuals in particular must be commended for their part in the completion of this task—Editor-in-Chief Marguerite Marino, who labored untiringly in this accomplishment, and Senior Advisor Mrs. Barbara Allen, who remained ever present to administrate and inspire. There were others who must be considered in connection with this venture: Literary Editor Louis Rambl, Literary Advisor Miss Barbara Sherlock, Photography Editor Joseph Strada, Business Manager Carol Johnston, Business Advisor Mr. Donovan Allen, Art Editors Roberta Hansen and Evelyn DePrince, Art Advisor Mrs. Alida Hansen—the list could continue indefinitely. The fruit of their labors and the pride of their accomplishment lies in the quality and delight of these pages, the pages of the 1963 Rampant.

The establishment of the Class of 1963 at Dallastown High School was an unheralded but significant addition to a school only recently initiated to the rigors of secondary education. On the first day in September 1957, approximately 500 students began their first day of high school. That the class did not meet as freshmen, but rather in their junior year, cannot be considered unique in itself; this is attributed to the appointment of Mr. Clower's freshmen advisor, Mr. Joseph O'Donnell, and class officers Victor Tambone, Gary Thomas, Lourdes Streem, and Charles Brehl. This was all good for the directors of the most enjoyable dance. At the untimely departure of Mr. O'Donnell, however, the activity faltered until Miss Jeanie Clower assumed the position of Freshman Class Advisor. With this appointment came a renewed surge of class participation, and the class among other things, joined whole-heartedly in the Student Council's unsuccessful but worthwhile campaign to raise money for Foreign Exchange.

The Autumn Ball was the highlight of the freshman year. Advisor, Mr. Joseph O'Donnell, and class officers Victor Tambone, Gary Thomas, Lourdes Streem, and Charles Brehl directed operations leading to the realization of a well-organized and enjoyable dance. At the untimely departure of Mr. O'Donnell, however, the activity faltered until Miss Jeanie Clower assumed the position of Freshman Class Advisor. With this appointment came a renewed surge of class participation, and the class among other things, joined whole-heartedly in the Student Council's unsuccessful but worthwhile campaign to raise money for Foreign Exchange.
A STEP CLOSER.

The transition from the status of freshman to that of sophomore was a smooth one. The ranks of '63 now formed in the anticipation of a productive year, but once again, the class was plagued by the loss of its advisor. Late in the fall, Mrs. Clowar, a teacher and friend endeared by virtually every individual in association with her, was forced to relinquish her teaching post because of serious illness. The Sophomore Class hereby welcomed its new advisor, Mrs. Barbara Allen, who along with class officers, Victor Tambone, Gail Laux, Esther Stomel and Tracy Leute began preparations for the Sophomore Christmas Ball.

However, an unfortunate series of events, including a record snowfall, prevented the emergence of the dance until the middle of January when it was dubbed the Mid-Winter Ball. Unable to employ a Christmas decor, a Central Park theme was quickly improvised in its place at a loss of time, work, and money. Although not a financial success, the dance proved to be a beautiful affair—one of the most celebrated of the year.

Activity next turned in the direction of a quest for revenue. The task of supplementing the class treasury took the form of a frantic but rewarding Easter candy sale. With an adequate treasury and high expectations for the future, the sophomores concluded the year.

JUNIORS AT LAST . . .

The advent of the junior year brought with it a sense of responsibility never before encountered by the Class of '63, for as upperclassmen, new and important projects awaited execution. With class officers Victor Tambone, Louis Rambler, Esther Stomel and Tracy Leute inaugurated, excited activity commenced.

A full-scale magazine drive constituted the first project of the year, one from which additional class funds were to be secured. No sooner had this project been undertaken than another money-making venture was conceived, a candy sale. This venture was instituted by a new faculty member, and co-advisor of the class, Mr. Donovan Allen. The Junior Class, with adequate funds, was now ready to embark upon its first theatrical enterprise.
Judy Stiles and Vic Tambone put the finishing touches on the set.

Plans for the Junior Play were initiated well before Christmas vacation. Upon return, casting for "Ten Little Indians" had already started, and rehearsal was soon in progress under the direction of Mrs. Vera Chambers and Student Director Susan Gitomer. Positions for significant senior posts were awarded late in the junior year. The RAMPANT staff was elected and Marguerite Marino was named Editor-in-Chief of the yearbook. Meanwhile, selections for LION'S ROAR editors were made, but both students moved that summer; Sheryl Gordon was later chosen Editor-in-Chief of that publication.
Dr. and Mrs. Hansen bid a warm welcome to students and guests.

The last major event of the year, the Junior Prom, took place in Cherry Court at the Cherry Hill Mall, the first such prom in the history of the school.

Louis Rambler, Chairman of the Prom, organized various committees under the leadership of Harris Silverman, Alison Woodruff, Evelyn DePrince, Ronald Voughs, Barbara Stroup, Sue Johnson, Kathy Hooper, and Judy Stiles. Through these committees and professional aid from the Mall, the theme "Rhapsody in Blue" was carried out in exquisite detail and beauty while Queen Charlotte Steinbach and her Court were chosen to reign over the ball. Certainly, this event must be considered one of the most notable achievements of the junior year.

President Louis Rambler, Vice President Esther Stomel, Secretary Barbara Wurst and Treasurer Tracy Leute administered the Class of 1963 as it began its final year of high school, while co-advisors Mr. and Mrs. Donovan Allen returned with their necessary counseling.

The initial activity of the year was directed toward the publication of the 1963 RAMPANT, a massive financial project, demanding a great deal of time and effort from Marguerite Marino's yearbook staff. Nevertheless, with cooperation in the sale of advertisements and yearbooks and the actual formation of the book itself, the project met with completion in March.

Thus the Class of 1963 prepared for its final year of high school. It was to make the transition with a distinctive record and with confidence for the future.
YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU

The Seniors next turned to the production of a play. Even before the Class of 1963 entered Cherry Hill as seniors, preparations for the Senior Play were undertaken. In late August, selections for an appropriate play were being considered, and "You Can't Take It With You," a Pulitzer prize-winner by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, was eventually chosen. By the end of September an able cast had begun rehearsal under the direction of Mrs. Vera Chambers and student-director Susan Gitomer. Finally, on Friday and Saturday, December 7 and 8, the Class of 1963 presented its second theatrical enterprise before two capacity audiences.

Throughout the entire first semester, Editor-in-chief Marguerite Marino and associates worked diligently and feverishly in anticipation of forthcoming deadlines. Finally, on February 15, Rampant editors transferred the finished product to the printer for publication. The yearbook represented the largest and most elaborate presentation of its kind at Cherry Hill High School. A feeling of relief was superseded only by a sense of satisfaction and accomplishment.

Several of the clean-up's participants took their work a bit too seriously.

With the approach of Christmas Vacation, the industrious seniors sought a new means by which their vast energies could be channeled in the pursuit of some constructive enterprise. As a result, the class organized its first "cleanup," a project spearheaded by Ronald Voughs, Esther Stomel, and Elizabeth Wilson. On December 21, the seniors made a "clean sweep" of the high school.

THE FINAL STEP

Towards a goal — the 1963 Rampant.

Work on the Rampant soon brought about a marked change in the yearbook staff.
The advent of second semester brought college acceptances and plans for graduation. "Senioritis" hit, as expected, in late February, only to be replaced by customary enthusiasm for Senior Week including prom, picnic, baccalaureate and graduation.

Senior week, with its assurances of both festivity and solemnity, came rapidly upon the seniors. On May 31, the Class of 1963 presented its Prom at the Cherry Hill Inn. On June 6, the class gathered for its Senior Picnic, the last informal assembly of that group. Baccalaureate took place on Sunday, June 9, and the following day at Delaware Valley Gardens, approximately three hundred and fifty students comprising the Class of 1963 graduated from Cherry Hill High School.

The foregoing pages have set forth the story of a class: the introduction of a group of some three hundred freshman into a new community; the ultimate transformation into an intimate and productive association; and finally, the passage of the class from adolescence to adulthood, from immaturity to maturity. It has been the story of their accomplishments and their success. It has been the story of the future.
The Alma Mater

High up on my hill stands a school I call my own.

How I love to see her face, Though I never may roam.

Rain'd people's memory and while cradle's its self.

So shelter your love and loyalty to your Alma Mater.
