Cherry Hill Expands

Continuous expansion has marked the growth of Cherry Hill High School and the community it serves. As a direct result of enormous population increases, the township has been transformed from a rural farming area into a major suburban center, and it has assumed a role of increasing importance in Southern New Jersey.

The many businesses and housing developments which have contributed much to Cherry Hill's metamorphosis are well known outside the Delaware Valley. Several have merited national acclaim, and this in turn has brought increased interest and attention to the locality.

With a population of more than 38,000 people in 1964, Cherry Hill is developing culturally, recreationally, and educationally; these advances distinguish it as a truly prosperous and successful community.

The fast pace and stimulating atmosphere of the high school are reflections of this changing environment in Cherry Hill.

Dr. Robert E. Hansen, principal of the High School, has worked diligently to make possible the enormous expansion of Cherry Hill's physical plant and academic programs.
To the Class of 1965:

The world stands before us and awaits one step—one move into its great expanse of experience and opportunity, one move onto the main path of life.

As a chronicle of four years' preparation for that step, the 1965 RAMPANT records many changes in the development of seven hundred people, both individually and as a class. It presents a unique union of the external and internal forces which have molded and broadened us. It challenges all who read it to augment these forces in the continuous striving for a purposeful life.

The RAMPANT symbolizes trust in youth; as this trust is fulfilled, we fulfill the promise of America.
Dedication

The American educational system places great value upon the development of a meaningful faculty-student relationship. A teacher inspires as well as instructs; his goal is the successful development of mature individuals who can assume useful positions in society. The 1965 Rampant is, therefore, proudly dedicated to Mr. Robert Riley who, perhaps more than any other person, has molded and influenced the Class of 1965.
In September, 1961, Mr. Robert Riley first assumed the position of faculty advisor to the class of 1965. From the Freshmen Council to the Senior Senate, he has enlivened every class activity with dedication, enthusiasm, and unfailing confidence in the success of his class.

Mr. Riley's constant interest has made possible the many "firsts" accomplished by his class. His unflagging support has been followed by projects even more creative and useful. His enthusiasm for the Hospitality Dance, Class Banner, the 1965 Booster Club, and numerous other accomplishments reflect his imaginative planning. Each success has been a source of pride for Mr. Riley and each one has contributed to make the Junior-Senior Musical, the 1965 Prom, and the Marseillaise more enjoyable and successful.

Mr. Riley has been a source of inspiration—discussing individual problems with students, working tirelessly to incorporate almost seven hundred people into one unified group. These are the qualities which the Class of 1965 has grown to respect and admire. Acknowledged with appreciation and thanks, they will be forever remembered.

national honor society
The Order of the Lion is an honor reserved for those students attaining the finest scholastic achievement in our school. Membership is highly selective; only the three highest ranking students in each class are chosen. Great pride can be taken in the silver and gold keys which are presented to members as lasting remembrances of their academic excellence.
spanish club

The highlight of the Spanish Club's numerous activities is the fulfilled Spanish Fiesta planned by Mr. J. Russell Knight, and officers Kathleen Salimena, Judith Lis, Veronique Boulad, and Rhoda Posner. Discussion of Spanish customs at meetings is coupled with a trip to the Hispanic Museum and Spanish restaurants in New York.

french club

The words "on parle francais ici" are heard whenever the French Club meets. By means of guest speakers, films, and dramatic presentations, club members become aware of various facets of French culture. A spring soiree, organized by advisor Mr. Gary Milby, and officers Doris Seider, Andrew Fischer, Theda Braddock, and Iris Bonier, climaxes the year.
greek club

Students who participate in the Greek Club learn the Greek alphabet and basic vocabulary so they are able to appreciate excerpts from Greek literature. Guest speakers, with the aid of slides, help to portray an accurate picture of life in Greece. Discussions led by advisor Dr. Jan Fischer and officers Terri Landsburg, Morris Siegel, Christine Marty, Theda Braddock, Toni Dreissachs and Mary Perrot clarify concepts of Greek philosophy.

latin club

At the annual Cena Romana, Latin students relive a day in ancient Rome. Dressed in togas and military uniforms, they enjoy Roman foods and entertainment and increase their knowledge of the Latin language. Officers Lucille Wenth, Allan Thuering, Margaret Beck, and Andrew Fischer coordinate trips and speakers with Miss Kathryn Jenks and Mrs. Julia Hayes, faculty advisors.
russian club

The Russian Club lends an added spark to the cultural aspect of Cherry Hill High School. Members discuss the history and literature of Russia and consider the country's influence upon our culture. Mr. Fred Butter directs the activities.

german club

The officers of the German Club work to provide meaningful projects for members. President Eleanor Loftus and officers Douglas Hoffmaster, Gretchen Trexler, and Richard Schomp plan the yearly German Banquet with Mr. Floyd Wermuth's guidance. Another highlight of the club's activities is a trip to the Pennsylvania Dutch country each spring.
world affairs club

President Robert Raich and other officers Martha Handman and Karen Ahlquist plan varied and interesting activities for the World Affairs Club to help members better understand the world situation. They do this by inviting guest speakers to address the club and by scheduling debates on disarmament. Members are further inspired by the efforts of advisor Miss Suann Pontius.

debating club

The Debating Club provides an outlet for the forensic talents of Cherry Hill's students. With the assistance of Mr. Donald McCallum and officers Jeffrey Shapiro, Donald Mitchell, Paul Olsen, and Michael Turk, the club matches wits with debating teams from neighboring schools and often schedules debates within the club itself. Challenging topics dealing with national problems and foreign affairs provide an impetus for student discussion.

jr. classical league

The purpose of the Junior Classical League is to encourage appreciation of the civilization, language, literature and art of ancient Greece and Rome. The organization also attempts to provide an understanding of the debt our own culture owes to these peoples. Advisor Dr. Fisher and officers Teri Landsburg, Tina Holland, Joy Rosengarden, and Dorothy Sarty accompany the League to museums and have formed a chapter of the national organization of the Junior Classical League.
In the Modern Dance Club, girls interpret through creative movements ideas suggested by the rhythm and mood of music. Aside from directing the club's dancing activities, advisors, Miss Susan Aronson, Mrs. Kate Kuligowski, and Miss Deborah Stern schedule trips where students can view accomplished dancers. Officers Robin Adams, Susan Palmer, Elaine Galasso, and Donna Ponsyne directed the dancers.

The newly formed Chess Club acquaints members with the theory and practice of the game. Advisor Mr. Frederick Butter schedules matches between interested players.

Originally formed for the study of Shakespearean drama, this club has widened its scope to include such authors as James Baldwin, William Golding and Hugh Gilmore, the group augments classroom instruction with various informal discussions.
ars medica

Directed by advisor Mr. Daniel Rowan and officers Mark Cohen, Alan Josselson, Donald Schneller, Robert Boorstein and Michael Cohen, Ars Medica provides lectures and field trips for students planning professions in the medical arts. Eminent guests have included Cherry Hill surgeon, Dr. David Silverman, and Dr. Saul Green of the Sloan-Kettering Institute. The group visited Hahnemann Medical School, and the University of Pennsylvania Dental School, and was also invited to hear a presentation on the latest advances in the treatment of cancer by the South Jersey Medical Society.

engineering club

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Timothy Younger, the Engineering Club is an organization which promotes interest in all phases of engineering. Each year the group plans projects and field trips in conjunction with National Engineering Week.
accounting club

Advisor Mr. Robert Andress and officers Dallas Jordan, Joan Schallhammer, Jeanne Bianucci and Cookie Zellers direct the Accounting Club. Members obtain information dealing with bookkeeping and accounting.

radio club

golian convention

On October 30, 1964, Cherry Hill's juniors and seniors enjoyed and profited from an unprecedented mock political convention. Sponsored by the History Department and directed by Mr. Walter Belfield, Mr. Alexander DiBart, and Mr. Robert Riley, the first National Convention of the Golian Party nominated Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge for president and Governor Patrick Brown for vice-president on the first ballot. After a fiery keynote speech by Douglass Boff, Permanent Chairman Glenn Tecker took the gavel.

The famous Broadway hit, The Sound of Music, was brought to the stage of Cherry Hill High School on the evenings of April 2, 3 and 9, 10.

Capacity crowds at each performance witnessed the combined talents of the Junior and Senior Classes under the direction of Miss Michele Robin and Mr. Ralph Barclay.

The play tells the story of seven young children and their father, Baron Von Trapp, who are captivated by the warmth, love, and music of their governess, Maria.

Before the footlights and behind the scenes, the students worked diligently, giving freely of time and ability to make this theatrical production of the class of 1965 one worth remembering.

Portraying the eldest daughter of Baron Von Trapp, Carolyn Samuelson as Liesl meets her first love, Rolf, played by Henry Hildebrand.

"Bye-Bye Birdie", the smash Broadway show, was presented to capacity houses by the junior and senior classes of Cherry Hill High School on the evenings of April 10, 11, 17. Acclaimed a huge success by all who saw it, much of the credit was attributed to the direction of Miss Michelle Robin, Mr. Ralph Barley, and Mr. Robert Riley.

When a teenage rock 'n' roll star, Conrad Birdie, is drafted into the army, his agent arranges for him to deliver "One Last Kiss" to a feminine admirer in a small Ohio town. Complications arise; a frustrated secretary and a jealous mama add humor to this parody on Elvis Presley.

Actors and those behind the scenes will long remember months of hard work, frantic last-minute changes, Saturday rehearsals and the cast party.

The range of talent among our own high school students was witnessed at the 1965 Variety Show. Mr. William Burley directed the show, which included modern dancers, folk and jazz artists, comedians and dance bands.
drama club

Instituted to increase an understanding of the historical context of its second successful year in Cherry Hill High School, the Drama Club completed its second successful year in Cherry Hill High School. Through the time and talents of advisor Miss Michele Robin and all club members, three plays were performed for the student body. One production, "The Misadventures of Throckmorton Sound," was written by a member of the English department, Mr. Herbert Fischer. Selected portions of "Anastasia" and "Submerged" were also presented.

Directed by Mr. William Burley, the band participates in numerous other school activities. Among these are the holiday assembly, Variety Show, and the Spring Music Festival. Playing for Commencement culminates their musical activities for the year.

Color guard

Carrying the standards of the United States, the high school, the band, and the Township, the Color Guard adds vivacious spirit to our sporting events. Noted for their precision marching and formations, the girls have been invited to perform at the New York World’s Fair in the New York and National Pavilions.

The spirited performances of the Majorette Squad enliven Cherry High School pep rallies and football games throughout the year. This thirteen member group executes its complex routines to the band’s accompaniment.

ADVISORS: Mrs. Alida Hansen (Art), Miss Barbara Sherlock (Advisor), Mr. Aaron Grossman (Photography), Mr. Robert Riley (Business).

As a permanent record of Cherry Hill High School's activities and achievements, the 1965 RAMPANT incorporates the efforts of many senior class members. This year, the steady pace of production was maintained by a staff of fourteen editors who coordinated the duties of other interested workers. Miss Barbara Sherlock's much-needed and much-appreciated assistance as faculty advisor enabled steady progress to be made whenever deadlines approached, and Editor-in-Chief Sharon Friedberg organized an effective working operation. Throughout the first semester, editors transformed ideas into concrete representations in their various sections; the second semester brought the final deadline and a well-earned feeling of satisfaction. The 1965 RAMPANT now provides a tangible remembrance of life at Cherry Hill High School.

Mrs. Hayes discusses layout with associate editors Michael Turk and Donald Mitchell.

As one of the three CHHS publications, The Lions Roar maintains close communication with the student body. Published ten times a year and recently expanded to six pages, the newspaper reflects the high quality of its staff. Advisor Mrs. Julia Hayes and associate editors Donald Mitchell and Michael Turk have provided direction for over fifty diligent members who work on the reporting, typing, business, illustrations, and layout of the paper.

Aspects, the high school's literary magazine, has now been in existence for three years and is published bi-annually. The magazine is composed of art business, and literary staffs under the management of Sharon Gibson, editor-in-chief, and Debbie Hecker, assistant editor. Jeffrey Shapiro is literary editor. All are under the direction of the advisor, Miss Sherlock.

It is the purpose of this magazine's staff to bring the best literary and artistic work produced by our students to the Student Body of Cherry Hill High School. Selections range from short poems and essays to pencil sketches and abstract paintings.

Editors Debbie Hecker and Jeff Shapiro work to meet an ASPECTS deadline. Many hours are spent reviewing articles for the magazine and selecting the final ones for publication.

Another busy afternoon awaits Sharon Gibson, Editor of ASPECTS, as she enters the Publications Room.
Sharon and Don take a break from working on the magazine layout. As deadlines loom ahead, such after-school sessions are a common scene in the Publications Room.

A contest
Entered
With strength and precision
United by spirit
And fairly won.
These dynamic individuals have provided the leadership which has guided Cherry Hill High School's athletics this year. This leadership, coupled with skilled team members, has resulted in innumerable victories and a year of unprecedented success.
Unmatched enthusiasm and excellent potential made this year's football team the best ever at Cherry Hill. Coached by Mr. Lester Zetty, Mr. Joseph Childbert, Mr. Alex Neiman, Mr. Paul Massey, Mr. Thomas Stricker and Mr. William Artz, a formidable team developed.

Led by a stalwart forward wall and an explosive backfield, Cherry Hill’s gladiators rolled to nine successive victories and their third undefeated and untied season. High-scoring, all Group IV halfback, Leon Butler, All-State fullback and South Jersey “Back of the Year,” Bill Lovett, and All-Suburban quarterback, Frank Briggs were the mainstays of an unstoppable offense. Standouts on the defensive unit—Joe Loooby, Ron Seitz, Dennis Rodio, Rick Emerick and Alan Leeds—gave Cherry Hill an unbeatable combination.

The highlights of the season were the breaking of Woodbury’s win skein at 29, clinching the Group IV championship by edging Atlantic City in a 7-6 squeaker, and winning recognition as the fourth best team in the state.
Tensive apprehension is exhibited by head football coach and Director of Athletics Lester Zetty as he contemplates strategy in the crucial Atlantic City game.

Cross Country

IN MEMORY OF ARVALDIS MIEZES

We acknowledge our debt to Arvaldis who taught us that the virtues of dependability, loyalty, desire, humility, and perseverance count more in the long run of life than finishing first. In memory of Arvaldis, a trophy will be presented to the runner who best demonstrates these ideals each year. This year, the team selected Captain Steve Rosbert as recipient.

Cross Country combines individual stamina and running ability with teamwork and careful planning. Pitting runners against the clock, teammates and opponents in a two and one half mile race, the Cherry Hill Cross Country team this year finished with a 5-5 record.

Captain Steve Rosbert and coach Mr. Robert Ainspac have predicted that next year's harriers will constitute another successful team.

Dave Rugen picks up four team points with a perfectly executed lever on the parallel bars.

This year, for the first time, CHHS is participating in interscholastic gymnastic competition. High standing in the Group 4 finals is assured by the precision drill of the squad, coached by Mr. Francis Meehan. The determination of the team and its continual practice has resulted in high scoring against such powerhouses as Neshaminy and Riverside and the defeat of other strong schools.

Unquestionably the most powerful team in South Jersey, the Cherry Hill Aquanauts have swum to 47 consecutive wins. This team, coached by Mr. George Shea, holds over 30 state records plus nine of the Kennedy Memorial Games. Individual stars on this year’s team were Barry Adamson, Cliff Lyons, Tim Root, Bill Semple, Geoff Baker, and Joel Medgebow. Highlights of the season included capturing the South Jersey Open, and overwhelming all but four of the larger New Jersey teams to finish fifth in the New Jersey State Inter-scholastic Athletic League Championships.

They, along with three other returning letterman, will undoubtedly dominate the Group IV circuit.

Rebounding from a most successful season, the golf team is sparked by the determination of seniors Barry Adamson, Bennett Gilbert, and Rick Rudow and is assured of a victorious year. Promising juniors Bob Gibson, Bob Hoffman, and newcomer Austin Kennedy add talent which should produce a championship team.

The girls had an undefeated and untied season and were ably led by co-captains Tara Kost and Joyce Wilson. The team members received individual trophies at an assembly in their honor, and CHHS boasts a large trophy as well. Varsity coach Sue Bell expresses great hope for next year's team, for only three players will be graduating: seniors Tara Kost, Joyce Wilson, and Janet Halbe.

Both the junior varsity and freshman squads had successful seasons, the junior varsity remaining undefeated. Coaches Peg Conroy and Mary Petrik were pleased with the girls' performances, and it is expected that many of these players will be seen on the varsity team next year.

For the first time in the history of Cherry Hill High School, the 1965 Girls Swim Team was undefeated. The girls downed their powerful arch-rival Moorestown, ending their 98 meet winning streak which extended over a period of twelve years. Lynn McNitti in her first year as head coach and assistant coach Nancy Park contributed immeasurably to the team's success. Headed by co-captains Lyn Goldner and Sue Howard, the Varsity team included seniors Sue Holden, Diane Young, Sue Howard, Lyn Goldner and diver Clair Dockaster who has not been defeated in league competition.

The Student Council of Cherry Hill High School, serving as a liaison between the student body and the administration, provides the school with an effective student government. Homeroom representatives keep the students aware of the group’s many functions and activities by relating to homeroom students ideas discussed at weekly meetings.

Mr. Warren Jordan directs the organization and assists offices Glenn Zeitz, Paul Feldman, Meredith Peel, and Susan Young with their leadership duties. Freshmen Orientation, a successful program held for the first time this year, acquainted the incoming students with their new school. Another new project for the Council was a needy clothes drive for children in a rural village of Greece. Other activities of Student Council include annual dances, highlighted by the glimmering Christmas Ball; fund drives; and the sale of activity cards in the fall.

The Sophomore Class—under the leadership of its officers, executive council, and faculty advisor, Mrs. Linda Clisham—proved through various successful functions during the year that they are ready to assume their roles as upperclassmen. The slogan, “Go Get 'Em,” set the tone for a busy year highlighted by “The Midas Touch,” a memorable sophomore dance and a fund-raising candy sale.

Inspired by the fanciful tale of the king with the golden touch, the sophomore dance climaxed its festivities with the crowning of its own ruler, Ronald Franklin. Also reigning over the affair were Daniel Miller, Allan Sharp, Richard Semailes, and Jon Garber. Crowds danced to the music of the Westwoods and enjoyed "free gold" candy at the refreshment table. The drawbridge entrance, regal throne and waving flags atop turrets all served to enhance the "King Midas Touch" theme.
Advised by Mr. Charles Conte, the Class of ’68 has launched its high school career with a number of successful fund raising activities. In addition to the annual freshman dance, the group has sponsored a Lion’s Day and a record sale. This year the freshmen were first in a school-wide candy sale which yielded a profit for the class.

Much effort has been expended to welcome the freshmen to Cherry Hill High School. The Class of 1968 was designed to acquaint the freshmen with the complexities of high school life. The seniors officiated as hosts to the freshmen at the Hospitality Dance. Displaying their appreciation for the entire student body to attend its first social event, the Gridiron Dance.

Success characterizes the graduating class of 1965. Despite their great number and diversity, the seniors have worked together as one unit, and individual talents have made possible the unique accomplishments of the class as a whole. Such an interaction of ideas and efforts is reflected in the many "firsts" for which '65 is known.

Class cabinet members, Richard Frary, Lawrence Silverman, James Hirsh, and Susan Moore directed freshman year activities with advisor Mr. Robert Riley. While becoming accustomed to the academic programs in the high school, the class initiated some of its own projects. Newsnook '65, the first class newspaper and the only one in the history of CHHS, was put to press in the fall, after which came Operation Lion's Face. By designing paper lions' faces which were sold throughout the school, the class donated money to the administration for planting cherry trees on the school grounds. The year 1961 also marked the birth of a class slogan, as "Look alive '65" became familiar words to members of the class. With such innovations, the freshmen established a reputation of spirit and service which continued throughout four years at the high school. "Indian Summer," the annual Freshman Dance, was also among the activities of the year, and provided an enjoyable evening for everyone who attended.

The "spirit of '65," directed by the new class cabinet, Lawrence Silverman, Alan Leeds, Philip Benson, and Nancy Carty, continued the precedents of the freshman year. Newsnook '65 and Operations Lions' Face were resumed with increased support.
Conscious of the needs of the community, the sophomores held a charity drive to aid the Camden County Day Nursery, while the social highlight of the activities was the class dance, “1001 Arabian Nights,” complete with magic carpet and casbah. As the year ended, ’65 was the proud originator of a class Senate and class banner.

Upperclassmen at last! The events of the junior year once again exemplified the talent and enthusiasm of class members. Working with the Executive Cabinet, Richard Frary, Phillip Benson, Steven Pierce, Nancy Carty, Lawrence Silverman, and Loretta Walters, juniors sold ’65 buttons and conducted the most successful candy sale yet held at CHHS. The class play was jointly sponsored by the Senior and the Junior classes, and many juniors worked behind and in front of the curtain to make “Bye Bye Birdie” a school hit. At the Cherry Hill Mall, the class of ’65 nostalgically closed the year with “Moonlight and Roses,” the Junior Prom.

As seniors, members of the class displayed increased support and interest in school activities. Another ’65 first materialized into the Hospitality Dance, which was planned by the seniors to welcome the incoming freshman class. At the same time, class Executive Cabinet members Thomas Rodgers, Jay Mace, Dorothy Longo, William Sragow, Richard Frary, Lawrence Silverman, and Susan DuBell helped to organize the 1964 mock Golion Convention and worked with the History Department to make possible school-wide “registration and voting” before the Presidential Election. Crisp autumn weather provided perfect conditions for the informal class picnic at Strawbridge Lake as well as for football games. Ten seniors held starting positions on the 1964 championship team, which became the pride of the class. A new Booster Club cheered the team to victory with original yells and old-fashioned enthusiasm; its signs and hats were distinguishable at every game. Through the entire first and second semesters, editors, advisors, and staff members of the 1965 RAMPANT worked diligently and at times frantically to meet their deadlines. When the last pages were completed, the general feeling of relief was superseded only by a deep sense of satisfaction for a tremendous accomplishment. Winter months brought the annual Hall of Fame assembly, at which fifteen seniors became members of the honorary organization, and also saw the beginning of rehearsals for the Junior-Senior Musical, “The Sound of Music.” Its four performances in the spring reflected the multi-faceted efforts of class members to produce another fine play. As the end of the school year approached, seniors began to prepare for the final events of their high school careers. On May 28, the class held its beautiful senior prom at the Ivystone Inn and soon after began graduation preparations. With dignity and ceremony, commencement formally climaxed four years of activity, education, friendship, and achievement which Cherry Hill High School and the class of 1965 will forever remember.
The Hall of Fame, originated by the Class of 1961, remains as a tradition to honor those students who have made noteworthy contributions to Cherry Hill High School's academic and extra-curricular life. Fifteen members of the Class of 1965 have been selected for their excellence in scholastic work, athletics and willingness to serve. The "all-around" qualities of these seniors have won them the respect and admiration of both faculty members and fellow classmates, and the honor which is bestowed upon them will assure them deserved recognition from future Cherry Hill High School students.
Comprised of representatives from each homeroom, the Senior Senate serves as a liaison between the members of the class and the governing body. The Executive Cabinet, which includes class officers and past presidents, has worked with class advisor Mr. Robert Riley and the senators in completing the many projects of the Senior year. The success of this arrangement has resulted in the organization of similar groups in subsequent classes.

"...may I graduate well and earn honors in Life."

Congratulations to you and to each of your classmates for whom June 21, 1965 is a very special occasion.

We wish you success and happiness in the years ahead.

As you seek new goals and conquer the problems you will face perhaps you may benefit in sharing a motto which has helped guide us since 1873:

"WE WILL FIND A WAY OR MAKE ONE."
