erratic atmosphere
constantly changing stillness and tranquility settle into the heat of the summer afternoon the brilliance of green fields glimmer in the sun gradually darkening clouds pass over the crystal blue-sky suddenly destructive flashes of lightning the rumble of thunder destroy the silent peacefulness the flailing arms of the storm whisk away all that was calm, safe, and secure violent surf pounds against the white sands of the shore washing away the footprints of life until there is darkness nothing only the space the ability to begin once again to recreate and discover a new world
a new peace
to renew the ever-present cycle of existence
You don't have to be a weatherman to know which way the wind is blowing.

UNDERCURRENTS

Before our eyes
Nature attacked
As Hurricane Andrew Rocked the coasts of Southern states Causing death and destruction
Across the South

Before our eyes
In far off Somalia
A starving child
Anxiously awaits
A morsel of food
As an armed U.S. soldier looks on

Before our eyes
Again in Iraq
Bombs light up the night sky
Missiles destroy Baghdad
As Sadaam Hussein continues to cross
Into the forbidden zone

Before our eyes
With the sun shining brightly above
Our country passes the torch of leadership From one generation to the next
A promise of change

A feeling of hope
A call to each of us
The next generation — to involve ourselves

Cherry Hill West's baseball team has done it again. For the sixth year in a row, the Lions are the Olympic Conference and South Jersey Sectional Champions. More importantly, though the team lengthened its reign as State Champions to four years by winning 27 out of 30 games last year. But there's something different about this team. First of all, this West baseball club was the first to travel out of state to compete against greater competition. Early in the season, the Lions traveled to California where they participated in a highly competitive sixteen-team tournament. There, with only four regular season games under their belts, the boys shocked the nation by winning the Upper Deck Classic, beating nationally ranked opponents such as Westminster Christian of Florida.

After winning in California, how would the team be able to concentrate on its forthcoming competitions? Very easily! West glided through the remainder of the season with ease, losing only two contests during the regular season. When the post-season arrived, the team was more than prepared. Coach Tom Trotman, West's Head Baseball Coach for 23 years, led his team to two easy victories early in the State Tournament. Then came the match-up everyone was waiting for - an East/West showdown for the Group 4 Sectional Title. The game was scoreless until the top of the sixth inning when clutch hitter Walt Clymer banged a single to center, scoring Junior Joel Correia. Then, superstar pitcher, Bo Gray finished off the East team in the final two innings with the help of center fielder, Tom Bianco. Bianco saved the game by making a spectacular diving catch at the wall, preventing what would have accounted for two runs by East and most likely an East victory. West went on to defeat Edison and Elizabeth High Schools in the final two games of the State Tournament. The final win against Elizabeth came in grand fashion as Bo Gray earned the shutout victory, giving him a career high school record of 30-0. So is the West baseball dynasty over? Well, many great stars are lost from last year's team. It will be tough to replace the pitcher-catcher combination of Bo Gray and Dan Farling. Both are members of the Carpenter Cup Team and All South Jersey Team. And the infield will not be quite the same without solid-hitting first baseman John Heller and West's emotional spark plug, Chris Querns. Oh yes, and the great trio of outfielders, Walt Clymer, Tom Bianco, and Kevin Brickner are all gone. But one key person remains year after year. That is Coach Tom Trotman, who led his team to the number 1 ranking in the nation. Trotman has been known to field a winning team in the past and nothing should be different this year.

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

I raised the wall and I will be the one to knock it down.
Reach out for me,
Hold me tight,
Hold that memory.

When one thinks of David Back, the first thing that comes to mind is the way he made everyone feel special. As he walked down the hallway, his voice and his smile were magical. Students and teachers who didn’t even know him recognized his outgoing personality, his light-hearted sense of humor, and his love for life. Not only did Dave love life, but he was dedicated to it. He was the athlete, the musician, and the actor. He used his talents in a vast number of activities, but never spread himself too thin. He remained dedicated until his last day, pushing himself to the limit. He taught us to love each other and to take of each other, to try everything and to do everything to the best of our ability. And with every memory—his car, the little tavern in Virginia; JCC, Kingston, and Wahoos swimming; singing German songs in West Singers his magic still lives and grows stronger in our hearts.

-Sarah Kapust

A special young woman. A leader. A friend. Tricia Couchon was all of these and more. To those who knew her, she was an inspiration. She epitomized the phrase, “the girl with it all”. Academically, she rose to the top of her class, and further involved herself in activities such as class government. However, no activity symbolizes Tricia’s personality more than cheerleading. Her strong spirit and her vigor for life poured out with every word she cheered. Suddenly, though, that life was taken away. Our lives changed and memories of Tricia overflowed. The days she would run breathlessly into gymnastics because she was late. The day we raced from the cafeteria to the Jones’ gym in her car with gymnastics mats hanging out of the trunk. We can’t ever forget the suffocating summer days at cheerleading camp and her way of making us smile despite our aching muscles. Most of all, we will never lose the confidence Tricia instilled in us. She never gave up and constantly pushed us to work to our highest potential. Although her smile may have vanished from our eyes, the memory will last forever.

Posters and banners filled the cafeteria as the ninth graders prepared to make their first big decision as the Class of 1996. Finally, the votes were tallied and Jonathan Rosen and Jessica Franklin became the governor and lieutenant governor of the class. With advisor Mr. Roman and a cabinet of about 45 eager freshmen, the class prepared for a spectacular year. By November, the government had raised nearly $2000 through their sale of candy and holiday merchandise. Soon after, the first issue of the “Frosh of the Press” newsletter was distributed to the class. The new government continued to work enthusiastically toward their next three years at West.

The class of 1994, led by Majid Mohiuuddin, governor, and Aaron Lazar, lieutenant governor, had a full schedule this year. With the help of advisor Mrs. Church, they began the year running the refreshment stands at the football games; then they held bake sales; later, they helped the local community by volunteering at the Special Olympics at Deptford. This year’s junior class also initiated a cooperative project with Camden High School students. A $25,000 grant, “Serve America” was awarded and plans were effected to rehab unoccupied houses, renovate parts of the “Mi Casita” day-care center, and provide free child care on Saturday mornings to single parents. They ended the year with an amazing prom at the Garden State Race Track and started plans for next year.

sometimes the ball just does not follow the intended path a small dimpled ball leaves the ground then soars through the air and lands maybe a bit short or a bit wide-repairable with the next shot a bit shorter or a bit wider-frustrating and the putting provides the greatest climax or letdown when the ball falls in that hole after a couple of shots or more than a couple next season the ball will follow the intended path

CINDERELLA
Once upon a time . . .
lived a maiden, honest and beautiful princess of the cinder-pile she worked day and night to please her stepmother and stepsisters Frump, Matilda, and Griselda then came the day of the royal ball and Cinderella dreamed of attending her fairy-godmother appeared she turned a pumpkin into a coach mice into horses and rags into a gown then to the ball she went where she danced with the prince until the clock struck 12 and she turned and ran leaving behind a glass slipper the prince searched and searched and finally found

Al Szolack, former Washington General and cocaine addict, was invited to West by an administration that thought West students needed a confidence booster.

"Big Al" visited West on October 20 and 21 to speak to all grades. He used his experience as a former addict to help convince others not to do drugs or to stop if they are.

Teacher, Advisor, Friend

... Mr. Munyan has been all of these and more to the Class of 1993. Memories of Mr. Munyan — in the classroom, in the hallway, in class government — remind us of the devotion and caring which prove his love for his students. He touches our hearts with his warmth, his humor, and his friendship. These qualities provide his greatest asset — his ability to motivate students. He encourages us to take advantage of the many opportunities that West offers, both in and out of the classroom. He teaches us to believe in our dreams and shows us that the only boundaries we face are the ones that we create ourselves. Through unflagging enthusiasm, energy, and most of all, kindness, Mr. Munyan has made an impact on the Class of 1993. Thank you, Mr. Munyan... for everything.
The Class of '93 brought a dramatic change to the West campus through its gift to the school — the Class of 1993 Park. Determined to add beauty to our school environment, Mr. Munyan and the class government were the driving forces behind the change. Park production began in the fall of our junior year, under the direction of student Bruce Barker. Nearly all of the seniors helped in their own way. Some purchased park deeds, which raised needed funds; others helped with the actual construction. The men of the government assisted in building the steps and walkways, while the women of government, known as the "Manure Maidens," arranged the mulch and created the rock garden. In the spring of our junior year, the whole class joined together to lay down the sod. Excitement filled the school as all of our hard work finally paid off. The Class of 1993 Park is now a part of West for all to appreciate and enjoy.

For some of us, December 22, 1988 will be a day we shall never forget. As the world dealt with the absurdity of terrorism, we dealt with the loss of someone we loved. Pan Am 103 exploded into flames over Lockerbie, Scotland, and our souls shattered into pieces. Sarah was gone, along with an irreplaceable piece of every one of us. As time eases the pain, we still remember her and the valuable lessons she has taught us: Life, love, and friendship are precious and fragile. Sarah, we will always love you ...
Amy Widerman

On December 12, 1991, Nate died of cancer. When I heard the news I felt numb. Even though, I knew that he would die one day, I never expected it to happen so soon. How could I prepare myself for the death of my friend? I don’t think of Nate as dead because I remember him often. For me, he’ll always be alive in my heart.

Chad Corson

I celebrate your life, my sweet, in every nuance of its expression, both mortal and eternal. Your dance of Life has become your song of Life and, though differently expressed, its rhythm finds me knowing that I need only open different eyes to see the same creation. Child of passion and compassion, dealing with uncertainty no more, you are freedom’s child now as you tried to be then. You know that Love is infinite and eternal, just as is Life. Walk with me, Sweetheart, whenever and wherever we both decide, for Heaven and Earth can always find each other. And when I awaken to find that my own dance has turned to song, I will know that in our harmony, there is joy, in our discord, laughter, and in our silence, peace. And we will share an even difficult time in yet a different way.

The Storm of the Century

Hurricane winds and he a region whitewashed by wind sleet snow homes pounded by ice
falling from a darkened sky whirlwinds of white powder circled the street lights as the storm attacked us destroying the excitement of the eager performers of West Side Story
streets of ice
caused the never ending school cancellations
so for days and days students remained hidden in homes
snuggled in the warmth of their beds
loving the endless time
alone
but in the end (more or less out of boredom)
longed for the return to school
