Construction Update Impacting the Reading Room, Main Level

Starting Monday, November 9, a new construction project will commence impacting access to the Reading Room, Main Level. CHPL is getting a new roof installed on the building. Please be advised that the Reading Room will not be open to the public during this time. The team will be working as quickly as possible to finish the installation. CHPL staff will work to expedite as much as we can to keep services available to the public. Services that will not be available during this time include access to the Group Study Rooms, access to the Cherry Hill Room, browsing the adult collection and using computers on the Main Level. Please reach out to info@chplnj.org with any questions or concerns.
